ADVERSE VOTE FAILS TO FORCE M'DONALD OUT

CENSURE LOOMS AT SESSION TOMORROW

London, March 11 (A.P.).—Prime Minister MacDonald's second Labor government met its first defeat in the House of Commons tonight. The margin of defeat was 8 votes, 1 less than the margin by which it triumphed over the combined opposition forces on February 27.

It had been evident for a week that the Liberals were lining up their strength and stiffening the party discipline in preparation for an attack against Labor's controversial coal mines bill and unemployment program.

Today they joined the Conservatives and successfully pushed through an amendment to the coal bill by 282 votes to 274.

Immediately after the announcement of the result, Mr. MacDonald made it plain that he had no intention of resigning until he was beaten on a major issue. He said he intended to go on with the coal bill because the amendment carried by the opposition made no essential change in the main structure of the measure.

Unruffled by Defeat.

Former Prime Minister Baldwin, leader of the Conservatives, provoked an indignant denial from him by asking whether he intended to go on with it.

"I am amazed at the question," Mr. MacDonald declared, "Mr. Baldwin will have an opportunity two days from now to move his party's vote of censure. I will be glad to accommodate him if he will make his vote of censure general, and we will accept the decision."

The Prime Minister showed no signs of discomfiture after the defeat and asked the house to continue with its work. Debate upon another amendment then proceeded.

In fact, by challenging Mr. Baldwin to make his vote of censure general on Thursday, he neatly turned the tables on the opposition, and tonight it was said to be uncertain whether the Conservative leader would push the censure motion he announced several days ago he would propose.

Split in Cabinet.

The motion, threatened by Mr. Baldwin and Winston Churchill on March 5, condemned what it described as the "evasive and drifting policy" of the Labor government. It deplored the current trade depression and the increase in the number of unemployed workers.

This will furnish the Liberals and the Conservatives, if they bring it to a vote, an opportunity of attacking Labor at one of its weakest points. The handling of the unemployment situation by J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal, has been vehemently criticized not only by Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Churchill, but by Labor's own left wing as well.

There is even a split in the cabinet. Sir Oswald Mosley and other young members of the party, having assailed Mr. Thomas for his "timidity," much as Lloyd George did yesterday, have evolved proposals of their own for

$750,000 PAINTINGS STOLEN IN LONDON

SCOTLAND YARD ACTIVE

London, March 11 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—One of the most sensational robberies in recent years became known tonight when it was announced that eighteen paintings by many old masters, valued roughly at $750,000, had been ripped from their frames in the Carlton House Galleries on Regent street in the West End.

The stolen paintings included canvases by such celebrated artists as Rembrandt, Gainsborough, Holbien and Van Dyck. Among them is the "Duke of York," attributed to Gainsborough and said to be worth about $50,000.

The loss of the paintings was discovered this morning by members of the art gallery staff. Preliminary investigation indicated that the paintings must have been stolen between 7 o'clock last night and 10 o'clock this morning.

Scotland Yard was notified immediately and a large squad of detectives was assigned to the case. Full descriptions of the missing pictures, most of which were portraits, were issued tonight to such quarters as the thieves may attempt to offer their loot.

The police said the robbery was committed by a large and expertly

CONGRESS DUE TO RESUME ITS SITTING TODAY

HOUSE HAS VARIED PROGRAM TO FACE

Nye to Ask Reconsideration of Sugar Vote; Outcome Called Doubtful.

(Associated Press.)

Having suspended work for two days out of respect for the late William Howard Taft, Congress will swing back into action today with the familiar tariff bill in its final revision stages before the Senate and a miscellaneous legislative program facing the House.

Meeting an hour earlier than its neighboring chamber and still pursuing its eleven-hour day, the Senate probably will be called upon first to lay aside the tariff bill temporarily to permit passage of the $171,000,000 first deficiency appropriation bill reported yesterday from committee.

Motor Bus Bill Due.

While a batch of secondary measures will be before the House, it is likely that the Parker bill, providing for regulations of interstate motor bus travel by the Interstate Commerce Commission will be brought up for initial debate.

Prohibition advocates will continue their testimony before the House judiciary committee with five more days to present their case, while the Senate lobby committee will question Claudius Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee, about his former activities on behalf of Muscle Shoals legislation.

The new majority that has sprung up in the Senate to gain an increase in the sugar tariff and a duty on cement, now on the free list, will face a new test in the demand of the old coalition of Democrats and Republican Independents for another roll call on these rates.

Nye Seeks Reconsideration.

Senator Nye (Republican Independent) North Dakota, has asked reconsideration of the sugar vote and the group behind him is confident of a majority to gain a separate ballot. Mr. Nye was uncertain last night whether the reconsideration proposal would come up today and all sides still were doubtful as to the outcome of revived contest.

In a statement issued yesterday through the Democratic national committee, Senator Nye said he had voted for the sugar increase because he believed it had merit and would afford aid to agriculture.

"But when, through the vote on cement, I observed the evidence of the sugar-cement-lumber-oil combination," he added, "it was clear that I had indirectly been a party to the success of that combination, a combination that would slap $10 of new burden upon the farmers for every dollar it placed in his pocket."

Would Change Sugar Vote.

Mr. Nye said he would "happily vote against a higher sugar duty sooner than be in any degree responsible for the success of so unholy an alliance as is winning victories for such unworthy, undeserving and costly tariffs as are now in the making."

"To reconsider the vote on sugar and cement and defeat the duties provided for them," he asserted, "is

SUN BREAKS THROUGH GLOOM AS TAFT IS LOWERED TO REST WHILE NATION SHOWS LOVE

BODY SEEN GARBED IN GOWN OF OFFICE

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

His flag-draped casket, opened so that mourners might see his face, lay in state under the great dome of the Capitol, while 7,500 persons shuffled past to pay him tribute.

They came into the rotunda damp from the rain, and passing through, went out into the rain again.

All Ages and Stations.

There were persons of all ages and stations; rich and poor, elegant and shabby, white and colored—a procession, in short, such as the great-hearted Taft would have loved.

There were children so young that they had to be carried. Held aloft by their parents, they were told to look down on the serene face of the American who had been both President and Chief Justice.

And there were others so old that only a great admiration could have led them to brave the trip and the rain.

Carl H. Braatz There.

There was Carl Herman Braatz, for example. He is 83 years old and, with flowing hair and beard, looks for all the world like a patriarch in a passion play. In the Christmas season he is employed as a Santa Claus in the Woodward & Lothrop store.

Behind him came J. Fred Kelly, a famous Washington character, now in his seventies. A native here, he has seen three Presidents lying in state under the big dome—Garfield, McKinley and Harding.

On March 4, 1909, he stood in a blizzard to see William Howard Taft ride down the avenue for his inauguration as President, and four years later he saw him Capitol-bound again to turn the office over to another.

As the crowd streamed into the rotunda yesterday, it was divided so

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

In the company of the military and the Nation's high officials with whom he served, William Howard Taft went majestically to his place in the Nation's shrine of illustrious dead yesterday.

Out there on the eastern slope of the hallowed ground that is Arlington, the tanned canopy will give way soon to an enduring and appropriate monument and the artificial grass will be supplanted by natural evergreen, and people in all walks of life and of many nationalities will come daily, stand there perhaps reverently or maybe in less severe mood, but inspired nevertheless to become great themselves.

The sightseeing buses, those modern vendors of history, will daily place their loads of tourists and school teachers there and the latter will go back home to plant the seed of ambition in some young restless soul. And what a lesson Mr. Taft's life should afford.

Sun Appears at Last.

The all-day long ceremonies that attended him yesterday before he reached journey's end in the late afternoon were a picture of him, his accomplishments in life and the happy, lovable nature of the man. Save for the somberness which the steady rain gave, there was a characteristic brightness attending him, first from his Wyoming avenue home in the morning to the Capitol, then back up to the city's heights at All Souls' Church and at the cemetery.

And then at the grave at the last moment the clouds, as though suddenly realizing they were entirely out of place, rolled back and a bright setting sun shone through. This just as the Rev. Ulysses G. B. Pierce intoned Tennyson's philosophy in his "Crossing the Bar."

"And may there be no moaning of the bar,
"When I put out to sea."

There was a lack of funeral somberness in the dress of the high of-

HOOVER CONSIDERING SANFORD SUCCESSOR

BAKER VISITS CAPITAL

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover will give immediate consideration to the selection of a successor to the late Justice Sanford, of the Supreme Court, and intends to announce his choice within 30 days.

Friends of more than ten men already mentioned for the vacancy on the highest tribunal are prepared to go to the White House to press their cause, but the President expects to confer first with Chief Justice Hughes and Attorney General Mitchell.

Some complaint was voiced during the recent debate over the confirmation of Chief Justice Hughes that Mr. Hoover had failed to heed the constitutional provision that he name Government officers with the "advice and consent" of the Senate. It is not unlikely that the President will consult, too, with Senate leaders on the new jurist.

The name of Judge Arba S. Van Valkenburgh, of Kansas City, Mo., was added yesterday to the list of those mentioned as possible successors to Justice Sanford.

Senator Patterson (Republican), of Missouri, plans to urge the President today to appoint Judge Van Valkenburgh, and Senators Overman and Simmons (Democrats), of North Carolina, also are expected to see the Chief Executive in the interests of Judge John J. Parker, of Charlotte, N. C.

Judge Van Valkenburgh is the fifth circuit judge mentioned for the post left vacant by Justice Sanford's sudden death, the others in addition to Judge Parker being Judge William S. Kenyon, of Fort Dodge, Iowa; Judge

Lindbergh Mother May Lose Position

Detroit, Mich., March 11 (A.P.).—Following the lead of the city council, which recently ordered about 1,700 aliens employed in various city departments discharged, the board of education is considering dismissing 786 teachers who are aliens or non-residents of Detroit.

Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, mother of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, is one of those who would be discharged if the resolution before the board of education is passed.

Mrs. Lindbergh, who teaches chemistry at Cass Technical High School, has been an employe of the board seven years. She lives at Grosse Pointe, a suburb. Most of the non-resident employes, Frank Cody, superintendent of schools, indicated, live in communities which are part of the metropolitan area of Detroit.

Mrs. Hoover wore heavy black as did Mrs. Taft and Mrs. Helen Taft Manning, the dead statesman's only daughter, but among the men, of the official party and of those members of the family, there was a noticeable absence of formal or even dark clothes.

And the services at the church and at the grave were drawn from such philosophers as Tennyson and Wordsworth with also that Scriptural philosophy contained in the sixth chapter of Micah:

"What doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

The enameled white pews of the church, defining its whole color scheme, were in sharp contrast to the sheeted rain outside. They rather blended with the high banks of lilies, roses, sweet peas and evergreen wreaths that spoke of new life, not of the dead.

Over all, there was the pomp of the military, now engaged in a most solemn task but a pomp nevertheless, with its dun colored chargers of the cavalry, the artillery guns, and the marching doughboys, sailors and marines. And Mr. Taft's requiem was that of the unsaddened soldier, the bugle, the rifles and the cannon.

Odd Weather Coincidence.

The note for the entire services seemed, indeed, to be taken from the fact that at no time was there crepe on the door of the Taft home.

The weather in which Mr. Taft was borne away was singularly reminiscent of that which attended him more than two decades ago when, with his features radiating the success that had come to him, he rode up Pennsylvania avenue to the White House in snow several feet deep. It rained nearly all yesterday, letting up for only a few minutes at the time and then only to leave those thousands who stood on the streets with a chilling cold.

The rain that began early in the day, was, indeed, to bathe the cortege everywhere it went. It beat the soldiers in the face as they marched at the half step from the Wyoming avenue home to the Capitol, and the strains of Chopin's dirge blended with the rain and whistling wind strips as they moved slowly over the route from the Capitol to the church.

Escort Shiver at Pauses.

It beat down upon them as they stood for blocks along Sixteenth street as the services were being held, sometimes at parade rest and again at rigid attention. As President and Mrs. Hoover left the church to take up their place behind the pallbearers in the procession that was to move to the cemetery, these men were shivering and their bayonets and sabers that are usually rigid phalanxes of glittering steel were rattling as so much tin.

Thousands of persons were drenched to the skin. It was, indeed, as if the procession moved slowly through two umbrella covered lanes, from which peered fathers and mothers and little children out of school. These latter had been told by their teachers all about Mr. Taft, how he was both President and Chief Justice of the United States and above all what a lovable man he was. So they turned from their play in numbers unusually large and focused the sharp lusters that are their eyes on every car that passed.

This last day of Mr. Taft's was what he would have, amid chuckles, described as a most busy one.

Hoovers Watch Cortege.

The soldiers came after him with their horse-drawn caisson about the time governmental Washington goes to work, about the time, in fact, that he, before his breakdown would have taken up his long walk to the Capitol. He had been in the keeping of his family for two days, but now it was as if the soldiers had come to conscript him. And one can almost see him laughing and cheerfully agreeing to go.

But it was such a long, slow ride all the way down this descent from the heights of the city, toward the river, to Pennsylvania avenue and past the White House. Here there was a touch that he would have appreciated, this man whom 72 years of life did not make cynical.

Mr. Hoover and Mrs. Hoover, came out and stood on the front portico, just stood there silently as the flag-draped casket was trundled by. And right here it might be mentioned that they had a green wreath placed over the oil portrait of Mr. Taft that hangs in the rotunda.

Bier Is Placed in Capitol.

At the Capitol the procession came to end of its first lap. Noncommissioned officers of the Marines, the Navy and the Army lifted the casket from the caisson and bore it to that wide hollow in that great mass of Capitol masonry under the dome. And here, with the soldiery standing guard, Mr. Taft was turned over to the populace for more than an hour, and they came to claim him, as they did Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley, Harding, Dewey and the Unknown Soldier, who also served them.

And standing guard with the soldiery, though inconspicuously, was Mr. Taft's elder son, Robert A., whose heart must have welled over as he reflected upon the place his father had carved in the affairs of time and men.

No small part of the country must have followed the procession as it moved from the Capitol back out Sixteenth street and to the church, because by now it was afternoon, and a radio truck moved slowly along picking up the muffled drums and the funeral music and spreading it to all the four corners of the country.

Similarly, the radio described the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Hoover at the church at a quarter to 2 o'clock; in fact, it described the funeral throughout the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover entered the church inconspicuously from the Harvard street entrance. No flourishes of the bugles heralded them. This honor was Mr. Taft's for the day.

Thousands Brave Rain.

The procession was well up Sixteenth street when the President and Mrs. Hoover, accompanied by Secretaries Akerson and Newton and the military and naval aids, left the White House, but by moving swiftly up Fourteenth street to Harvard, they were in their seats several minutes before the services began.

Thousands stood around the red-brick, colonial-like structure with its lofty, tower-like spire, but a well patrolled lane was kept open for the steady stream of dignitaries. Vice President Curtis and Mrs. Gann arrived shortly after the presidential party and were seated in the pew with Mr. and Mrs. Hoover. In another aisle sat members of the Cabinet, Speaker and Mrs. Longworth and the delegations from the House and the Senate.

One by one they filed in, the members of the District judiciary, of the American Bar Association, and massed in the rear of the edifice, awaiting to serve as honorary pallbearers, were Mr. Taft's associates of the bench, led by the man who succeeded him, Charles Evans Hughes, and walking beside Mr. Hughes the bent figure of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, just as he walked beside Mr. Taft at so many state funerals.

Church Service Simple.

An organist and two violinists played "Larghetto," by Malling; "Music of the Spheres," by Rubenstein; "Vision," by Reinberger; Schubert's "Andante" and Tchaikowsky's "Andante Cantabile."

And just as the soft melody of this last died in the recesses of the edifice, the lifting flourishes of the Marine Band were heard outside and the sharp bark of military orders sounded up and down the street, and then the soul-comforting melody, "Lead Kindly Light," interspersed with the sharp peeling of the Paul Revere bell.

Mr. Taft had arrived at the church, to be with his former official associates and his fellow communicants who were gathered there, and who sat mostly in the gallery in order that their pews might be occupied by Mr. Taft's official associates.

Dr. Pierce preceded the flag draped casket down the aisle chanting "I am the resurrection." A dry flag had been placed on the casket as it entered the church. Now it was wheeled down the aisle to take its place against the flower bank.

Dr. Pierce prayed as those present stood and then the two church organs and the chimes took up, "Lead Kindly Light," as if in echo from the band outside. The reading of Scripture followed by Wordsworth's "The Happy Warrior," then came. The organs played "Abide With Me," then a prayer and that was all. The body was borne away while the organs pealed the recessional.

Procession to Arlington.

The procession was now transformed from the military to one of automobiles. The body was placed in a motor hearse, the honorary pallbearers preceding it, and the members of the family following in ten or so cars. Then, as the first non-family mourners, came Mr. Hoover and his party. The cars altogether were strung out to form a line several blocks long.

It was this procession that moved briskly down Sixteenth street to New Hampshire avenue, across M street bridge and through Georgetown, thence across into the red clay land of Virginia. The rain had now let up, but the red mud told what a day it had been.

There was a brief pause at Fort Myer while a cavalry escort again took up position to lead the way. Then through the iron lintelle gates and up over wending asphalt roads to the crest of the cemetery at Lee Mansion, around in front of it, through the ranks of the military dead to the far eastern slope.

Final Scene of All.

Here a great circle had been formed by marines standing shoulder to shoulder and at present arms. And in the center stood the canopied spot where Mr. Taft was at last to find his rest. The President and Mrs. Hoover alighted from the car but stood unobtrusively until the members of the family and the Supreme Court justices had started up the canvas walk. They fell in behind, and silently trudged the sharp grade with the other mourners.

It was comparatively just a little group that stood here around the casket, a little group in a great circle described by the marines several hundred yards away and with thousands of persons massed behind them. Mr. Hoover with bare head stood with Mrs. Hoover just out from under the canopy while the casket rested over the grave.

"Sunset and evening star," Dr. Pierce read from Tennyson—

"And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea."

The blazing Western sun came quickly through the clouds and gave a warmth to the scene.

"Ashes to ashes and dust to dust," Dr. Pierce intoned.

Then the sharp command of the military and 400 marines again came to attention. The firing squad took position. There was a volley, another one, and a third. And then came "Taps" reverberating through the cedars and the oaks and over the hillsides. That was all.

Arlington's distinguished company had received Mr. Taft.

100-Year-Old Bell Tolling For Taft Heard Over Radio

Many Listeners Weep as Funeral Rites Are Faithfully Reproduced in Broadcast Believed to Have Been Heard Around World.

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

If the radio had done nothing more yesterday than to carry to a mourning nation the tolling of the 100-year-old bell in the steeple of All Souls Unitarian Church it would have more than justified itself.

The bell was reproduced with such fidelity that those who heard it though thousands of miles away, could easily have imagined themselves actually attending the services.

The entire ceremonies were so faithfully given to the radio audience that many broke down and wept. The broadcast was without a parallel in the history of radio.

Mr. Taft's sister, Mrs. William A. Edwards, unable to attend, listened in at her home on a ranch in California.

So extensive was the scope of the broadcast, due to the great strides which have been made lately in short wave broadcasting, that friends of Mr. Taft all over the world probably heard the last rites.

The services were received perfectly at his home in Cincinnati; in New Haven, where he attended Yale University, and where he afterward taught; and at his summer home in Murray Bay, Canada.

Based upon the fact that atmospheric conditions permitted a successful two-way conversation with Admiral Byrd in Australia earlier in the day, a thing never before accomplished, it is supposed the services were heard in the Philippines, where Mr. Taft was the first governor. Assuming the services got through, the great difference in time—1 a. m. Wednesday morning—doubtless prevented many from listening.

The broadcast was heard perfectly in London and from there at 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, just as the funeral procession was moving slowly from the Capitol, a beautiful tribute was spoken by Viscount Robert Cecil and rebroadcast throughout the United States by Columbia.

The broadcast was picked up in all parts of the world by our warships and listened to by saddened groups aboard ocean liners in both the Atlantic and the Pacific.

There were highly impressive moments for the listeners, such as the sacred concert by the Army Band over WMAL in the morning, and later, the Marine Band, over WRC, playing Chopin's "Funeral March" as the cortege approached the church. Here the commands of the officers to halt the procession and the bugles could be heard.

There was the memorable reading of the "Happy Warrior" by Dr. U. G. B. Pierce, and the beautiful song service by the Washington Cathedral Choir, under the direction of Edgar Priest, during the special broadcast by Columbia.

Their selections included "Abide With Me" and "Nearer My God to Thee," preceded by the Chopin funeral march, played on the organ by Mr. Priest.

As a final tribute, both networks of the National Broadcasting Co. paused to observe a two-minute period of silence while the body was being lowered into the grave. This period was preceded by a mixed chorus singing "Abide With Me." The silence was broken by the sounding of taps, followed by the chorus singing "Lead Kindly Light."

Praise for their sympathetic handling of the broadcast goes to Ted Husing, chief Columbia announcer, who in his work yesterday surpassed anything he has yet done, and to Herluf Provensen, of the NBC. Likewise to Frank M. Russell, vice president of the NBC; Kenneth Berkeley, of WRC; Harry C. Butcher, Washington representative of Columbia, and Milton Baker, of WMAL.

It is believed a new record for the number of stations listening to a single event was established yesterday and that close to 200 stations may have participated in the event. This number included 72 stations regularly affiliated with the NBC and 66 with Columbia.

300 Police Clear Streets for Taft

Three hundred District policemen were assigned to the task of clearing the route for the funeral procession of William Howard Taft yesterday.

Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, and Inspectors William S. Shelby and E. W. Brown, assistant superintendents of police, as well as other high officers were on duty throughout the time of the funeral supervising the men.

District police were assigned to aid the Capitol police, special motorcycle escorts were provided for the President on his way to the church where funeral services were held, and the escort accompanied the funeral to Arlington Cemetery.

After the burial a part of the escort took President Hoover to the White House and the other men escorted members of the Taft family to the Taft home on Wyoming avenue.

At the wheel of President Hoover's car outside the church during the Taft funeral services yesterday was Francis H. Robinson, chauffeur to Mr. Taft when he was President.

President Taft was the first Chief Executive to have an automobile and Robinson was the first chauffeur at the White House. He stepped to the church door for just a moment yesterday as the service began, but duty called him back to the wheel after this brief farewell. Robinson has driven for every President since he started work for Mr. Taft.

Coast Guard Ship's Gun Booms Tribute for Taft

Boston, March 11 (A.P.). — Somewhere out on the lonely waste of the North Atlantic a gun boomed at half-hour intervals today on the Coast Guard cutter Mojave. The cutter's colors fluttered at half-mast.

There were probably none to see or to hear the coast guardsmen's tribute to William Howard Taft save the crew of the trim little vessel and the sea gulls following her, for the Mojave is on ice patrol. It is her duty to warn away other vessels from regions where icebergs have been discovered. Orders for the memorial on the deep were wirelessed to the Mojave from the Coast Guard headquarters here.

Taft Sister Unable To Attend Services

Santa Ana, Calif., March 11 (A.P.). Because of the illness of her husband, Mrs. William A. Edwards, a sister of William Howard Taft, was forced to remain at her home on a ranch here today as the Nation paid its tribute to the former President and Chief Justice. The former Frances Taft, now the wife of a retired Los Angeles physician, has been living with her husband on their ranch here for five years.

In 1908, several months before her son was nominated for the Presidency, Mrs. Alfonso Taft, mother of William Howard Taft, visited Mrs. Edwards in Los Angeles. While there she issued a statement that created a sensation over the country. She said her son was not her choice for President and concluded:

"He has a judicial mind, and I believe him to be intended for the Chief Justiceship, but I am willing to leave his future to fate, and if the American people call him to the Presidency I will abide by their decision."

GLOOMY AND RAINY SKIES SHROUD RITES

SUN SHINES AT GRAVE

Dark, lowering skies that deepened to an almost Stygian blackness and burst forth into torrents of rain at the climax of the church service, cast a gloomy pall yesterday over the funeral of former President and Chief Justice William Howard Taft.

A dreary dawn heralded the advent of the one-time Chief Executive's last morning within the vision of his grieving countrymen, and as the morning passed, the low-hung clouds seemed to close oppressively over the heads of the people on the streets to watch the funeral procession file past.

At noon, as the body of Mr. Taft was borne from the Capitol, the intermittent rains, which had persisted throughout the morning, culminated in a downpour which drenched alike the bier and those who had gathered to pay tribute to the departed leader.

The rain was accompanied by a sudden drop of 12 degrees in the temperature, which sagged from 51 at noon to 39 at 2 o'clock. Then the sun struggled from out the shrouds which had concealed Sol until Mr. Taft's body had arrived at the grave in Arlington Cemetery, and once more the mercury began to climb, reaching 43 degrees by 4 o'clock, when blue skies once more canopied the Capital.

The United State Supreme Court, which had adjourned Monday out of respect to Mr. Taft and to Justice Edward Terry Sanford, whose death preceded that of Mr. Taft by only five hours, convened yesterday morning for a brief session before adjourning to permit its justices to attend Mr. Taft's funeral.

Under an order signed by Acting Secretary Ernest Lee Jahncke, all employes of the Navy Department wishing to witness the funeral were given the afternoon off.

The Public Library was open as usual, but the Library of Congress closed at 12:30 o'clock and did not reopen until 6:30 o'clock last night.

The Federal Trade Commission postponed until today the power and gas utilities hearing scheduled for yesterday, and the National Geographic Society, of which Mr. Taft was a trustee, closed at 1 o'clock.

Classes at Georgetown University Law School were suspended from noon until 5 o'clock, and those at George Washington University were closed between the hours of 1 and 4.

In accordance with the 30-day mourning period directed by President Hoover, all large social affairs, particularly those of official significance, have been canceled, and most of the smaller, more private functions, also have been postponed.

Friend of Taft Is Hurt When Struck by Auto

While crossing Delaware avenue and C street northeast, he was struck by an automobile said to have been driven by Maj. William A. Dranoe, attached to the Army War College. Mr. Bates, a retired business man, suffered lacerations on the left hand and face. He was treated at the Casualty Hospital by Dr. Joseph Rodgers.

Society Honors Two U. S. Scientists.

New York, March 11 (A.P.).—The Society of Arts and Sciences today announced the 1930 award of its gold medals for distinction in science to Dr. J. McKeen Cattell, of New York, for his achievements in the field of psychology, and to Prof. Gilbert N. Lewis, dean of the college of chemistry of the University of California, as the "outstanding chemist in America."

Two of Taft's Cabinet Are Present at Burial

(Associated Press.)

Two who worked closest to William Howard Taft through the triumphs and trials of his presidential administration—one still active in the official program, the other retired from public life—stood by yesterday as his body was lowered into its resting place.

George W. Wickersham, chairman of the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission, and Frank H. Hitchcock, now a private citizen of California, together watched the body of their former chief laid to rest. Mr. Wickersham was Attorney General in the Taft Cabinet, and later collaborated with him on legal writings. Mr. Hitchcock was President Taft's Postmaster General.

GANDHI'S CAMPAIGN OPENS UNDER GUARD

BRITISH REPLACE TROOPS

Ahmadabad, India, March 12 (Wednesday) (A.P.). — Mahatma Gandhi, Indian leader and mystic, led his pioneer band of volunteers out of his quarters here at 6:30 a. m. today and started his march to the Gulf of Cambay, opening his campaign of civil disobedience to the Indian government.

Surrounded by enormous crowds of visitors and protected from possible arrest by volunteers, Gandhi offered up a prayer for success in his crucial campaign, which may prove to be critical for the government.

He told his followers that even if he and his marchers were arrested, "the Indian people must preserve peace and carry out the instructions of the national congress working committee."

He will lead his 70 volunteers on to Jalalpur, where they will try to manufacture salt in violation of the government's monopoly. In the whole march they will stop at more than a hundred towns and villages, whose inhabitants are expected to furnish supplies.

His speech constituted what he called his "last message and testament." He declared that there would be no defeat for his people and exhorted his hearers to continue marching to Jalalpur, no matter what happened to him, and to uphold the cause of civil disobedience.

His headquarters at his "ashram," or college of devotees, were choked with milling crowds of people late into the night. Rumors flew thick and fast. One reported that Gandhi would be arrested and deported to Burma. Others said that congress workers in Surat were flocking to Jalalpur with tents and provisions for the arrival of the marchers.

Reports from Poona, military headquarters of the British army in the Deccan, said that the Eleventh Sikh Regiment of the Indian regular army had been ordered to proceed on March 17 to Baroda, through which Gandhi and his volunteers will pass. The Sikhs, noted as fighters and for their faithfulness to the British, will replace a garrison of the Fourth Bombay Grenadiers.

CROWDS BRAVE RAIN TO PAY TRIBUTE TO TAFT

Upper—Despite a drenching rain crowds of admirers of William Howard Taft waited outside the Capitol until the huge bronze doors were opened and they were permitted to view the casket in the rotunda. Vare Quits Senate Race; Asks Support for Davis

Philadelphia, March 11 (A.P.).—William S. Vare today announced his withdrawal as a candidate for the United States Senate and asked his friends to support Secretary of Labor James J. Davis for the nomination.

The Philadelphia Republican organization leader also asked his friends to support Francis Shunk Brown, of Philadelphia, former attorney general of Pennsylvania, as a candidate for governor. Mr. Vare announced his withdrawal because of the state of his health, as he was boarding a train for Florida.

Brickbats & Bouquets

By JAMES HAY, JR.

WHEN a California reporter asked Mr. Coolidge if he intended to run for another term in the White House, the former President transfixed him with a stern-silent-man's cold eye and replied: "You ought to know better than to ask me that."

When a Pennsylvania reporter asked James J. Davis if he proposed to run against Mr. Grundy for the Senate, there flashed in the eye of the Secretary of Labor a brilliant gleam which was the outward and visible sign of an inward and unlimited ambition.

Ponder the Davis valor! In this decision to go against the Mellon-Grundy combination in Pennsylvania is a calm, stoic and fatalistic bravery which, for sheer and dazzling contempt of consequences, outshines the dauntlessness of Daniel in the lions' den, the confidence of Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in the fiery furnace, and the recklessness of the charge of the Six Hundred at Balaklava.

MR. COOLIDGE, be it noted, has shrouded his political intentions—if he has any—in that mystery for which he is so famous.

Mr. Vare, when confronted with the necessity of saying whether he would not fling himself upon the guns of Grundy et al., was blessedly equipped with an alibi manufacturer, the eminent Dr. Kirby, who announced that the strain of a senatorial fight would be "most unwise, if not hazardous," for his patient.

But Mr. Davis neither took refuge behind a curtain of mystery nor called a physician to feel his pulse and pessimism.

Hark, therefore, to the defiant war-whoop echoing down the highways of a State which yields superiority to no other Commonwealth in the matter of being securely tied, bound and bundled up in political machineery.

• • • •

THE heroic Mr. Davis, it is true, will be backed by the campaign acumen of Mr. Vare, who is not too ill to stand behind some other adventurer's breast boldly bared to the bloodthirsty lances of the Mellon-Grundy shock troops.

But, according to all the scouts, spies, agents and prophets who have reconnoitered the layout, there is no apparent diminution of the Mellon-Grundy power and skill.

The Mellon mazooma, cash or wherewithal is as superabundant as it has been in past encounters. "Old Joe" Grundy has lost none of his uncanny pep, punch and power as a ringmaster in the political circus; and the man who thinks he is slipping can get correct information on the subject from any member of what was once so optimistically called the Senate coalition.

Of course, miracles do happen, even in Pennsylvania, but unless all signs fail, when the dust of battle has settled, some of Mr. Davis' friends will probably be heard to exclaim, "Why, oh, why, didn't Jim call in Mr. Vare's alibi doctor last March?"

New York Courts Join In Mourning for Taft

New York, March 11 (A.P.).—The courts of New York City—Federal, State and municipal—joined today in adjournment in respect for the memory of the late William Howard Taft.

The Federal courts remained closed throughout the day and all parts of the State Supreme Court closed at 12:30 p. m. The city courts also closed at 12:30 p. m., and recesses were taken in practically all the remaining courts.

"Sea Battle" Delayed To Pay Honor to Taft

Cristobal, Canal Zone, March 11 (A.P.).—A mighty battle fleet with its flags at half-mast, its 16-inch guns silent and its powerful radio equipment stilled, today delayed the mock "battle of the Caribbean" in honor of William Howard Taft.

The two forces, the Black and Blue, which were to have begun their "battle" for control of the Caribbean today, were ordered to delay maneuvers in observance of the Taft funeral.

SANFORD SUCCESSOR TO BE NAMED SOON

Friends of Wilbur are stressing that the Pacific Coast now has no representative on the highest court. Judge Wilbur, Secretary of the Navy in the Coolidge administration, is a close personal friend of President Hoover.

Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War under President Wilson, who was in Washington yesterday, also has been mentioned as a possible successor to Justice Sanford.

Many other names have been mentioned, including John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee of 1924; Senator Borah, of Idaho, and Senator George (Democrat), of Georgia, who left the State bench to enter the Senate.

Hotel Sued by Actress In $12,000 Gem Theft

New York, March 11 (A.P.).—Theft of $12,000 worth of jewels by an employe of the Concourse Plaza Hotel was charged today by Daphne Pollard, English music hall comedienne, now in Hollywood, in a suit filed in supreme court against the hotel.

She seeks to hold it responsible for the theft.

Cecil Sends Radio Laudation of Taft

Declares He Would Have Risen as High in Great Britain.

An international tribute to the memory of former President William Howard Taft was paid yesterday by Viscount Cecil, speaking from London in a radio address broadcast throughout the United States over the Columbia chain.

"When a great American passes," he said, "the people who share Shakespeare and Washington are touched by a mutual sorrow. If the departed, like the statesman and jurist whom we mourn today, has attained in his time the two highest offices in the Republic, our sense of loss finds special repercussion here at the heart of the British Empire.

"It was often said in this country that William Howard Taft would have fitted ideally into British public life, and risen to the same heights he was destined to scale in his native land. He was cradled and learned in the law, and like myriads of British statesmen, his life was the crescendo of fair play, square dealing and justice—the qualities in human character which the Anglo-Saxon elevates to the level of virtues."

Mine Fire Victim Is Sealed in Shaft

Officials Abandon Search for Body and Close Up Workings.

Steubenville, Ohio, March 11 (A.P.). The body of Kuba Pewansky, 32, one of the two victims of the mine fire at Wolfs Run, near Amsterdam, yesterday, in which 97 miners were trapped for many hours, was believed sealed in the west workings tonight.

Officials abandoned search for the body late today and proceeded with the sealing of the mine. The shaft will remain closed for from 60 to 90 days so that the blaze will be smothered out.

Fire-fighting apparatus and mine rescue crews from Pittsburgh and Columbus worked until late last night in freeing 95 of the trapped men. Rescue crews brought the body of Paul Borkowski, 55, to the surface. He had smothered to death. Official investigation of the fire was deferred one week while additional information is sought.

$300 Reward for Pin Chases Finder's Gloom

Palm Beach, Fla., March 11 (A.P.). Yesterday A. S. Ames, of West Palm Beach, was mighty blue. He had no job. His rent was overdue. The grocer stoutly refused to talk about further credit. Ames' family was in need. Then he found a mere trinket—a pin. It wasn't much to look at, so Ames dropped it into his pocket and went on reading the want ads.

Absently he looked at the "lost and found" column, and then paused excitedly. Hurriedly he reexamined the pin. Today Mrs. Leo P. Cummings, of Chicago and Palm Beach, claimed the pin as her $4,500 diamond brooch and paid Ames a reward of $300.

"Lost City" in Mexico Found, Home of Snakes

Mexico City, March 11 (A.P.).—An ancient Indian city, now populated by thousands of deadly reptiles, has been discovered in the State of Queretaro by two National University students. The students believe their find is the famous Ciudad Perdida, or Lost City, about which there are many legends among Indians of the surrounding territory. "The Lost City" is supposed to have been abandoned prior to the Spanish conquest.

Having made their way to the city by dint of much hardship, the students found an extensive area of ruined buildings covered with tangled growth and populated by thousands of snakes.

that some passed on either side of the casket simultaneously.

Senator J. Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, filed past directly behind a colored laborer in dungarees, and he was followed a few minutes later by two Catholic nuns.

Came then one from the other side of the world—T. K. Wu, secretary of the Chinese Legation.

Bryan's Daughter Appears.

A tall, handsome woman in black came along minus hat and coat. She was Representative Ruth Bryan Owen, of Florida, whose father, William Jennings Bryan, went down to defeat before Taft in the presidential race of 1908.

When the time arrived for the journey to Arlington, the crowds still were coming through the rotunda door, and it is conceivable that had the body rested there throughout the day, 75,000 instead of 7,500 would have passed by.

Borne on an artillery caisson, the casket reached the Capitol a few minutes after 10 o'clock in the morning. It was carried from the street to the rotunda by ten men—four sergeants of the Marine Corps, four of the Army and two chief petty officers of the Navy.

Honor Guard Is Posted.

In the center of the rotunda, the casket was placed on an historic catafalque, the same one on which reposed the remains of the three martyr Presidents—Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley—and also the bodies of President Harding, Admiral Dewey and Gen. Logan.

Four service men, two soldiers and two sailors, took their positions at the four corners of the catafalque. This guard of honor was changed every twenty minutes.

Once the funeral director had removed the lid of the casket, the procession past the bier was started. The first in line was a reporter of The Washington Post. Looking through the glass that covered the body, he saw a face which, though it was shrunken, bore an expression of beautiful serenity.

Cathedral-Like Air.

The body was wrapped in the flowing black gown of the United States Supreme Court.

Around the catafalque were arrayed magnificent floral tributes, the odor from which gave the rotunda a cathedral-like air.

Entering by the east door, the mourners walked straight ahead, viewed the body, and then walked out through the west door. It was estimated that they passed by at the rate of about 80 a minute.

Cortege Moves Away.

At 11:40, the procession past the bier was halted, the casket was closed for the last time, and the journey to the church begun.

The Marine Band played "Onward Christian Soldiers," the bells in near-by St. Peter's tolled the Angelus, and the cortege moved away in the rain.

Bathing Girl Wants Gown for Contest

Costa Rica Entrant Says Otherwise Pageant Must Be Near Water.

Miami, Fla., March 11 (A.P.).—Senorita Julia Salazar, pretty representative of Costa Rica in Miami's international bathing beauty pageant, must be allowed to wear an evening gown, or else the pageant must be held beside the sad, sad sea where bathing suits are customary, if she has anything to do with the show.

She laid down this ultimatum today and expressed great distaste for "dry land bathing girls."

Pageant officials discussed her dictum at great length, but finally decided that judging of the beauties tonight would be made on the basis of bathing suit appearance.

Senorita Salazar based her ultimatum on an understanding reached some time ago that Central American and South American girls would appear in evening gowns.

"It is not proper for a girl to appear in a bathing suit unless she is in the water," the senorita said through the interpreter.

PARLEY PLEDGE HINT AROUSES SENATORS

Concern Shown at Reports Stimson Is Negotiating Verbal Pacts.

CLARIFICATION IS URGED

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Continued reports that Secretary Stimson has offered to make verbal pledges on behalf of the United States not to take full advantage of the terms of the hoped-for treaty which may emerge from the London naval limitation conference are causing distinct concern in senatorial circles. An appeal to Senators Reed and Robinson, who are members of the American delegation, to clarify these reports is on the way to London.

The first symptom of this new form of diplomacy came in connection with the forced announcement, upon the insistence of Senator Reed, that America claimed the right to build a superdreadnaught to match the British Rodney. Explanations were then offered to the effect that the United States wanted permission to build this ship, but would never actually build it. This was followed by a statement that Mr. Stimson had assured Prime Minister MacDonald that no such ship would be constructed, but that America wanted the right to build this vessel set forth in the anticipated treaty.

The second symptom, according to senators who profess to be mystified, has come in connection with the negotiations between the Japanese and the Americans over Japan's demand for a 70 per cent ratio of 10,000-ton cruisers. Having yielded the position taken at Geneva and agreed to 18 instead of 21 large cruisers, Mr. Stimson has been asked by Japan to yield further and agree to construct only 15. Negotiations over Japan's demands have been so far deadlocked.

But advices from London now state that Mr. Stimson wants the right to build eighteen cruisers set forth in the treaty, but is willing to reassure Japan by a pledge that not more than fifteen will ever be constructed, or at least not until a date in the future.

It is conceded here that a pledge to Japan by the head of the American delegation would constitute a moral obligation binding America to limit her 10,000-ton cruisers to fifteen. In that event, senators are wondering why a proposed treaty would set the number at eighteen instead of fifteen.

In connection with the much-discussed political pact, the reports of a private pledge binding the American delegates to cooperate in some undefined way are now current. The latest advices state that the political pact idea is to find its way in the preamble of the treaty and be in such form that it will be subject to varying interpretations. On the one hand there may be the interpretation which the British and French can read into the language and on the other the different interpretation which will be designed to disarm senators who are unreservedly opposed to any entanglement with Europe. This difference in interpretation opens the door, it is pointed out, to pledge on behalf of some of the American delegates to make the language mean something more than a mere gesture on the part of the United States.

There has been discussion of an agreement by the United States to consult with Europe in case the Kellogg pact is violated and to provide that such agreement be carried out by executive action without the advice and consent of the Senate.

Consultative Pact Spurned Formally by U. S. Envoys

Decision Is Communicated to Other Delegates at Naval Conference; British Pledge to France Recalled in Stand Against Intervention.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.

London, March 11 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The United States will enter no consultative pact of any kind either at the London naval conference or for a considerable period afterward.

The American delegation at the five-power parley feels that such an action, whatever the wording of the pledge, might be held in the event of threats of war in Europe to involve the United States in what might be considered an obligation of honor to intervene.

This important decision, formally communicated to the other delegations at this conference today, was forecast previously.

Discussions Are Informal.

One apparent reason for withholding formal announcement of the American stand until today is that a definite proposal that the United States enter a consultative pact was not made until last Saturday, when Foreign Minister Aristide Briand talked with Secretary Stimson. All discussions of such a pact since the French naval program was announced by Premier Andre Tardieu on February 13 have been informal.

Authoritative and definite information as to Washington's attitude as it circulated throughout conference circles was the sensation of the day until Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's Labor government was defeated tonight by eight votes in the House of Commons on a Tory amendment to its coal mines bill.

The United States policy is motivated by fear of such consequences as followed unofficial promises to consult exchanged during the years before the World War by the British and French governments on behalf of their military advisers.

British Action Recalled.

Sir Edward Grey, foreign secretary, announced in the House of Commons that no obligations existed, but when the test came, it was found that because the French fleet had concentrated in the Mediterranean and exposed the French Atlantic Coast on the strength of the vague understandings, Great Britain felt compelled to give a pledge to protect the French coast against Germany even before Germany invaded Belgium.

These considerations have weighed upon the American delegation. So perhaps have advices from home, although nothing is said about these. The American people can not, it is felt, be committed without their knowledge to a consultative obligation which in certain circumstances would involve the dilemma of intervening in war or being accused of bad faith.

It is indicated, therefore, that this conference, instead of helping America get into consultative relations for the preservation of peace, has had the opposite effect.

Naval Parley Funds Approved.

The Senate appropriations committee amended the first deficiency bill yesterday to provide $150,000 for the expenses of the American delegation to the London Naval Conference during the protracted sessions of the parley.

The action is subject to the approval of the Senate and the House when the measure again reaches that branch.

Acting Secretary of State Cotton told the committee, in urging that it provide the sum, that the delegates should remain abroad until "every resource is used and every argument exhausted so as to get an agreement that they went for." The original sum provided for the delegation was $200,000, designed to meet their expenses for a 60-day session.

Priest's Vestments Burn; Panic Halted

Franklin, N. H., March 11 (A.P.).—The coolness of a priest and the prompt action of a worshiper today averted a threatened panic in crowded St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church when the vestments of the Rev. John Brophy caught fire as the clergyman was bringing to a close the 40 hours' devotion.

Father Brophy's robes had brushed one of the lighted candles on the high altar. The lacy vestments caught fire instantly. A number of women cried out and, seizing their children, began a confused movement toward the exits.

Father Brophy continued to intone the service, however, as he tried to beat out the flames with his hands. Arthur Marteau, a worshiper, rushed to the altar and tore off the vestments, while the Rev. James Creedon, of Dover, who was assisting in the services, helped to quiet the congregation and restore order. Father Brophy was not seriously burned.

Kidnaping Charge Is Faced by Pair

Two Taken Back to Arkansas Said to Have Confessed Abducting Planter.

Shreveport, La., March 11 (A.P.).—Arkansas officers left here today with two young white men, B. L. Sapp and Emory Majors, who they said confessed to kidnaping W. L. Quattlebaum, wealthy Pine Bluff planter, and extorting large sums of money from him.

The officers were aided in the arrests by Bradley Jobe, Pine Bluff politician, who said he also was kidnapped from the streets of Pine Bluff and robbed by the two men.

Sapp was arrested near his home at Doyline in Webster Parish, while Majors was arrested in a house at Shreveport. Officers said both men were identified by Quattlebaum, who also accompanied the officers.

YOUNG PLAN MEETS GERMANS' APPROVAL

Vote Is 251 to 174 After Second Reading; Head of Reichsbank Named.

DR. HANS LUTHER CHOSEN

Berlin, March 11 (A.P.).—The German financial and political scene was serene tonight, with a new president chosen for the Reichsbank and three important reparations measures approved on second reading in the Reichstag.

The new head of the Reichsbank is Dr. Hans Luther, former chancellor, who was unanimously chosen president by the board of directors this afternoon. He succeeds Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, who resigned last week because of dissatisfaction with the final form of the Young plan. The appointment will be effective April 3.

The Reichstag approved the Young plan by a vote of 251 to 174, with 26 abstentions; the Polish liquidation agreement by a vote of 224 to 207, with 30 abstentions, and also approved the American liquidation agreement—all on second reading. The body also approved article 2 of The Hague conference report, dealing with the linking up of the liquidation agreements with the Young plan, by a vote of 261 to 173 with 25 abstentions. Following that the votes on the separate agreements were taken.

Third reading of the legislation connected with the Young plan is scheduled for tomorrow and it is almost a formality, since a virtual agreement exists in the government coalition, consisting of the Centrists, the Social Democrats, the Populists and Democrats, on the financial program.

With that the way will be clear for the next part of the government's program in the Reichstag, which is finance and taxation.

Goes 52 Miles to Work at 75.

Raleigh, N. C., March 11 (A.P.).—Live at home, work hard and economize is the advice of Capt. Nathan O'Berry, 75, treasurer of North Carolina, who backs up his statement by commuting 52 miles every morning from his farm at Goldsboro to his office in the State Capitol here.

Red Men Look On as Indian Girl Faces Trial in Killing

Colville, Wash., March 11 (A.P.).—The barbaric colors of the old red man's West today brightened the prosaic little courthouse where Helen Moses, comely flapper of the Colville tribe, is defending herself against charges that she killed the mother who objected to her white sweetheart.

Wrinkled Indians who could remember when their ponies were free to crop prairie grass over the whole Northwest, sat wrapped in blankets of red and yellow and blue, shoulder to shoulder with young squaws whose copper skins are used to the feel of silks and muslins from modern department stores.

F. S. Thomas, county engineer, described the location of the Northport cabin where the State says Helen Moses, assisted by Clarence Hartley, the man she loves, shot her old mother to death.

The body of Mrs. Susie Moses was found in some bushes. Police have said the girl signed a confession saying she fired after her mother threatened her with a knife and beat her because of the love affair.

Pictures of the cabin which the girl and Hartley are said to have wrecked, to make the crime look like the work of a burglar, were introduced.

The 20-year-old defendant seemed gay and her white sweetheart appeared unconcerned. Hartley is awaiting trial on a charge of being an accessory to the killing.

$85,000 Securities Obtained by Ruse

Man Posing as Employe of Brokerage Office Deceives Boy.

New York, March 11 (A.P.).—A man posing as an employe of the brokerage house to which a messenger boy was delivering $85,000 worth of negotiable securities today disappeared with the securities.

Louis Moorhead, 52, a messenger for F. B. Keech & Co., brokers, was given the securities to deliver to the brokerage house of Benjamin Block. When he arrived at the entrance to the office, a man he took to be one of the employes told him he would take charge of the securities. He told Moorhead to return later for a receipt, a customary practice.

Moorhead returned to the office to get his receipt and discovered that no employe there had received the securities.

3 things to stop a cold

"Amoco-Gas is everything you claim it is!" says Marmon Philadelphia Co.

FOR five years the Marmon Philadelphia Company has been using AMOCO-GAS--and recommending it to their customers.

Now in a letter they tell us "as each year rolls by we become more solidly sold as to its real economy."

And continuing in the same strain, the representative of the "4 Great Straight Eights" in the Philadelphia territory says:

"Time and again, our Roosevelt owners comment on the splendid performance of their cars with AMOCO-GAS--and when owners of our new Marmon Big Eight contemplate long journeys, we always advise them to use AMOCO-GAS.

"We can truthfully say that AMOCO-GAS is everything that you claim it is. There are many points such as--more mileage--quick starting and pick-up--less carbon--smoother operation--and above all things, uniform quality--which have made our owners satisfied, thus having them repeat year after year with Marmons.

"We take pleasure in recommending AMOCO-GAS to our Roosevelt and Marmon owners."

There's the opinion of the Marmon Philadelphia Company--not based on snap judgment--but the result of five years of satisfactory service!

And all the economy--all the superior performance of AMOCO-GAS is available for your car--no matter what its make--at the nearest AMOCO-GAS pump! Just a little higher price per gallon--and a much lower cost per mile!

A CLEAR SKIN comes from within

Lack of appetite, loss of strength, skin eruptions, that "tired feeling" and other human ills may be due to a lack of red-cells in your blood.

If you are tired—lack pep—if your skin is not clear—if your appetite is "gone"—you owe it to yourself and friends to try S.S.S.

"My despair was so great I could have cried. The good cheer and merry happiness of others only mocked at my condition. I had begun to wonder why life could be so cruel. No appetite. No strength. Skin blemishes always embarrassed me. Aches and pains coursed through my body. I wanted to restore my health and live. What was I to do? . . . happily the day came and I found the right road to Health when a friend recommended S.S.S."

You may be one of the thousands with a low blood count—to this may be attributed "run-down" systems, skin troubles, and even more serious ailments.

Did you know that every cubic millimeter of the normal, healthy person's blood should contain about 5,000,000 red corpuscles? They are the tiny red particles which give blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to the cells of the body. Rich, red blood wards off disease. It is very dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

You owe it to yourself and friends to give S. S. S. a trial. It helps Nature build rich, red blood. For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been helping people regain and retain their strength and charm. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

S.S.S. is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs, gathered at the proper season of the year. It gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again. All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

ROCKVILLE WOMAN QUIZZED IN SLAYING

ARREST FERGUSON GIRL

Mrs. E. Cecil Arnutt, of Rockville, Md., former wife of A. R. Manby, British subject, who has been reported beheaded at Taos, N. Mex., was questioned yesterday by Federal agents, according to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Bureau of Investigation of the United States Department of Justice.

While he declined to reveal the nature of the report made by his investigators after interrogating Mrs. Arnutt, Mr. Hoover stated that the report had been forwarded to the El Paso agency of the bureau, which is in charge of the quiz into Manby's death. He added that no additional reports have been received from the El Paso office.

Santa Fe, N. Mex., March 11 (A.P.).—Raw material for a thrilling mystery story continued to accumulate today with developments concerning the circumstances of the life and death of Arthur Bochfort Manby, Taos recluse found decapitated in his home last July 3.

Attorneys prepared for a legal battle in Federal Court at Albuquerque tomorrow for possession of the 80-year-old Englishman's $50,000 estate, and there appeared in Santa Fe the possibility of a contest over the right of Great Britain to demand United States intervention to solve the decapitation mystery.

Terecita Ferguson, the woman whom Manby called in his diary "The Princess of All My Dreams," was at liberty under bond at Taos charged with robbing and burning the studio home of Mr. and Mrs. John Younghunter, artists, of New York, and her nephew, George Ferguson, also charged with robbery, was in jail in Taos under orders from District Judge H. A. Kiker that he is not to be permitted to talk with any one.

More Loot Is Found.

Late today Sheriff Gonzales found more loot from the Younghunter home which was robbed and burned two weeks ago, when his deputies dug up a large box which had been buried in the back yard of Terecita's home at Canon. The box contained a valuable collection of Indian bead work. Last night dishes, silver and clothing owned by the Younghunters was found in the Ferguson home.

An announcement from J. B. Manby, a brother, in Denver, today said that at the time of his death, A. R. Manby was helping Terecita establish a claim to $40,000,000 worth of Missouri property on the basis of a 150-year-old Spanish land grant.

Manby was always working on gigantic deals, his private papers reveal. In September, 1916, he wrote in his diary that at that time he was owner of 745,000,000 acres of land in New Mexico and the Southwest. This property had been gained, he recorded, through the Taos Valley Land & Irrigation Co. and the Colonial Bond & Security Co., which he organized.

$12,000 Mortgage Cause of Suit.

The suit over the Manby estate at Albuquerque involves an action by Dr. C. V. Thorne, of New York, to recover on a $12,000 mortgage granted to Manby. The probate court of Taos County has held that the title of his property was vested by Manby in the Colonial Bond & Security Co. Dr. Thorne, however, contends he has a prior claim.

This situation took on a new complication today with the announcement of J. B. Manby at Denver that relatives living in England plan to bring suit through the British foreign office to gain control of the security company.

J. B. Manby said his brother vested his stock in Terecita Ferguson and his property in the name of the company to avoid paying a $12,000 breach of promise judgment to Miss Margaret Waddell, of Los Angeles.

Unpaid Note Is Found.

Among Manby's papers, W. T. Hinde, administrator, found a $12,000 unpaid note from Terecita to A. R. Manby in exchange for her block of stock in the Colonial Bond & Security Co.

Terecita Ferguson became president of the Colonial Bond & Security Co. a few days after Manby's death, and later J. H. Crist became president, with Terecita as secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Crist contended today that the United States had no right to intervene in an investigation of the Manby death case, because he believed Manby was a citizen of the United States. Mr. Crist had represented Manby legally and was a close friend. He said he believed he could prove that Manby had been naturalized.

RACKETEER LEADERS CLAIM RETIREMENT

Second in Two Days Visits Police to Assert He Is Quitting Crime.

SLAIN OBERTA IS BURIED

Chicago, March 11 (A.P.).—The big bosses of the racket in Chicago are quitting, if one can take their word for it.

Bullets stop those who stay too long, and today another of the better known gangsters walked into the detective bureau to announce his retirement.

Today it was Spike O'Donnell, strolling in to see Stege, unannounced. Lounging in the "jinx" chair in which thirteen slain gangsters once sat and heard warnings to leave town while they were still healthy, O'Donnell told Stege he, too, had quit the racket. The detective chief was interested in the future trend of South Side shootings. Would there be any more?

"As far as I'm concerned," replied O'Donnell, "there won't be any. I don't believe in that kind of stuff. I'm in the coal business now." He said he supplied coal to the city hall and the central police building.

Stege reminded him that he had escaped machine gun bullets fired from Oberta's car two years ago. O'Donnell remembered, but disclaimed any knowledge of the killing of Oberta last Wednesday. He was permitted to go.

And so of the six leaders of the South Side beer trade, Oberta is dead—buried today in a $15,000 coffin draped with orchids and watched by a crowd of 10,000; Frank McErlane, his leg shattered by bullets, lies wounded, out of the racket for the time being; while Saltis, sitting among the chief mourners of Oberta today, and O'Donnell have retired. The remaining two, Danny Stanton and Charles "Bubs" Quinlan, are sought by the police. Al Capone, reputed boss of them all, is soon to be released from a Philadelphia jail, but he too has said he was out of the trade, and would go to Florida.

Two priests said prayers at Oberta's bier today, but he was denied church services. The burial at Holy Sepulcher Cemetery was with the usual gangland pomp, the widow giving "Dingbat" the "same as I gave Tim." She had been widowed twice by gang bullets, two years ago by the murder of Big Tim Murphy, labor leader.

Boy, 2, Wins Own Mother But Loses $40,000 Estate

Girl Testifies Baby Is Her Own and That She "Loaned" Him at Birth to Wife of Wealthy Ohio Man.

Akron, Ohio, March 11 (A.P.).—A 2-year-old boy lost his claim to a $40,000 estate but won a mother in court here today by decision of Judge L. S. Pardee, when the boy was officially recognized as the son of Miss Lovella Rush, 20, of Barberton, Ohio, instead of the son of Mrs. Carl H. Long.

Miss Rush testified she "loaned" the boy at birth to the other woman who pretended he was her own. The transfer was made in a hospital and apparently deceived even Mrs. Long's husband.

Nearly a year ago, however, both Mr. and Mrs. Long were killed in the Cleveland Clinic disaster. When the estate came into court for settlement, Miss Rush claimed the boy as her own. She named his father, but said she did not know the father's present whereabouts.

The boy, who had been known as "Carl Long, jr.," now will be named "Richard Rush," his mother said.

With Richard eliminated as a potential heir to the Long estate, brothers of Mr. Long and children of Mrs. Long by a former marriage agreed upon a basis for settlement of the estate out of court.

Chewning Quits Job; Will Become Broker

William Jeffreys Chewning, who recently married Margo Couzens, daughter of the multimillionaire senator from Michigan, has resigned from his clerical job in the Washington Loan & Trust Co. to become an investment broker. He is about to become associated with G. M.-P. Murphy & Co. in the capacity, reports say, of customers' man.

Young Chewning broke into fame when he married Miss Couzens and the pair went on a honeymoon jaunt in the bride's roadster. Although they said they would return to live in a small apartment without servants, instead they moved into an elaborate suite in an exclusive Massachusetts avenue apartment house.

COURT ACTION TAKEN FOR SEVIER AUTOPSY

Demurrer Seeks to Have Body of Colonel's Wife Examined Again.

OFFICER IS UNWILLING

Honolulu, March 11 (A.P.).—Sheriff Patrick Gleason, ex officio coroner, took court action today in attempting to gain permission to hold a second autopsy on the body of Mrs. Marion Sevier. Her death in August, 1928, her brother, Ralph Shainwald, asserts, may not have been a natural one.

Gleason, in a demurrer filed in the Circuit Court, questions that Col. Granville Sevier's petition seeking to prevent an autopsy on his wife's body presents sufficient facts to gain court relief.

Col. Sevier had granted permission to the sheriff to remove Mrs. Sevier's body from a tomb for an autopsy, but revoked his permission when the sheriff announced that Shainwald would be present at the cemetery.

No date has been set for further court action. Gleason's demurrer, prepared by C. N. Tavares, deputy general, says: "The holding of an autopsy over a person supposed to have come to death in a suspicious manner is within the discretion of the coroner. It is not subject to the control and discretion of the court. The consent of the surviving spouse is not a necessary precedent to the holding of the coroner's inquest."

Sevier, in withdrawing his consent to the autopsy, said he was actuated by the granting of permission by the sheriff for Shainwald's attendance after the official had first assured him that Shainwald would not be allowed to be present. Sevier asserted Shainwald uttered "insane mouthings" in which he intimated that Mrs. Sevier had been poisoned. Shainwald demanded permission to attend the autopsy on the ground he was a chemist especially qualified in the detection of poisons.

ESCAPE FROM CHAIR WOMAN'S ONLY GOAL

Mrs. Schroeder's Counsel to Seek Prison Term Rather Than Acquittal.

EIGHT JURORS SELECTED

Newcastle, Pa., March 11 (A.P.).—Efforts of attorneys defending Mrs. Irene Schroeder, 21-year-old accused "trigger woman," will be concentrated on obtaining other than a death verdict rather than an acquittal in her trial here on a charge of having slain Corpl. Brady Paul, of the State highway patrol.

This fact was made known tonight by Kedgwin Powell, of Youngstown, Ohio, chief of defense counsel. Meanwhile a night session of court was held. Eight jurors had been picked when court adjourned for the second day session of the trial.

The day was largely a repetition of yesterday's tedious session, with opposing counsel sparring on the question of whether prospective jurors would be against the death penalty in the case of an accomplice where murder was committed.

Mrs. Schroeder appeared ill and, in contrast to her alert attitude of Monday, sat slumped in her counsel table chair during most of the day. She reposed on a cot in the anteroom during recesses. Counsel denied reports she was on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

Charles J. Margiotti, special prosecutor, said tonight that Commonwealth witnesses will be called in an order that will present in sequence the robbery of a Butler (Pa.) store the fatal shooting of Paul as the robbers fled toward Newcastle, the flight across the continent to Arizona and finally the gun battle in the Southwest, which preceded the surrender of Mrs. Schroeder and W. Glenn Dague, indicted with her on a charge of murder.

New York Stock Broker Shoots and Kills Self

New York, March 11 (A.P.).—Suffering from mental depression which had held him for several months, Arthur L. Selig, a member of a stock brokerage firm, today shot and killed himself in the library of his home in East Eleventh street. He was 58 years old.

Business associates said he was of an extremely nervous temperament.

FAITHFULNESS.

Thanks to the preservative arts, future ages will see and hear, as if in actual life, the varied incidents of the funeral of William H. Taft. For the first time there is preserved for futurity the sound-picture of the ceremony of a nation paying mourning honors to its late President and Chief Justice. The weeping skies, the throngs at the Capitol, the passage of the funeral cortege, the church services, and the interment at Arlington are not only indelibly stamped in the memory of eyewitnesses, but will be reproduced with all vividness long after this generation has passed away. For all time, the respect and love manifested toward Chief Justice Taft by his contemporary countrymen will be made evident.

This feeling of respect and love does not cease with the funeral ceremonies. It remains as a living force, invigorated by the resolve to maintain the high standard of Americanism set by the life and services of the one who is mourned. Faithfulness to the Nation's institutions, traditions and laws was Mr. Taft's rule of life. As President and Chief Justice he applied this rule with immeasurable benefit to the country.

It happens that while the people mourn for him there is a vacancy in the Supreme Court, caused by the lamented death of Associate Justice Sanford. Having in mind the attacks made upon Chief Justice Hughes when his nomination was pending, it is now suggested that President Hoover should recognize the radicalism that expressed itself so discreditably in the Senate under the disguise of "liberalism," by selecting a justice who will depart from the standards of William H. Taft and his illustrious predecessors. The malcontents shout for a demagogue on the bench, who will heed the clamor of the mob. They clamor for a judge who will interpret the Constitution, not as John Marshall and William H. Taft interpreted it, but as demagogues in the Senate would like to have it interpreted. What they demand is not an honest judge, but a "liberal," who will squint at violations of the Constitution. They contend that the court as now constituted will place the dollar above the man unless its membership is adulterated by an unscrupulous servant of the mob.

The two-to-one vote by which Chief Justice Hughes was confirmed demonstrates that radicalism is not the true sentiment of the American people. The tributes that have accompanied Chief Justice Taft to the grave do not breathe abhorrence of his steadfastness to the Constitution. The heart of the Nation is sound to the core. It supports and defends the Constitution against all enemies, foreign and domestic. It calls upon President Hoover to stand where John Adams stood when he placed John Marshall in judicial power; where Taft stood when he named Edward D. White; where Harding stood when he chose William H. Taft, and where Mr. Hoover himself stood when he named Charles E. Hughes.

The Supreme Court of the United States is the guardian of every American's liberty. It derives its power from the Constitution, not from Congress or the President. It holds Congresses and Presidents to their duty under the Constitution. The deliberate injection of a demagogue into the membership of that exalted tribunal would be a crime against the Nation and against every citizen.

President Hoover is incapable of committing such a crime. The selection of a just and courageous judge, devoted to the Constitution, is not only his duty but his heart's desire. He will be faithful to the people.

THE WASHINGTON CELEBRATION.

Six years ago Congress created a commission to direct the celebration in 1932 of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington. With increasing momentum preparation for the celebration is proceeding. At a recent meeting the commission chose Col. U. S. Grant 3d and Representative Sol Bloom as associate directors of the celebration, delegating to them the task of perfecting and carrying out plans approved by the commission. The event will be Nation-wide in character, but the center of activity, fittingly, will be Washington, the Capital of the Nation and the city that bears the name of the first President. Last evening Representative Bloom appealed for the cooperation and support of Washingtonians in a speech delivered before the Chamber of Commerce.

Very little preparation of a tangible nature has been made toward fixing upon the form of the local celebration. As Mr. Bloom said, the national commission will largely relieve Washington of this responsibility. The commission has planned a series of events to be held in the District calculated to be of interest to all classes of people. It will be Washington's distinct obligation, in addition to carrying through a local celebration, to prepare to welcome and make comfortable the thousands of visitors who will be attracted by the celebration. Mr. Bloom said:

> The people of Washington should realize that they themselves have a great deal to do and not much time in which to do it. They are anxious to start, but there must be leadership. The special committee appointed by the District Commissioners is the natural nucleus around which should be created a city-wide organization that will plan and apportion the work so that there be no lagging and no delay. When the time comes for opening the celebration this splendid city, the social, cultural and patriotic center of this broad land, should meet every expectation and more. Cooperation is the keynote; cooperation among yourselves and cooperation with the national commission.

The people of Washington will cooperate fully to make the celebration memorable. With less than two years remaining in which to plan and prepare, it is high time that steps were taken to perfect a city-wide organization.

THE BOY SCOUTS.

President Hoover has added his indorsement of the campaign to extend the Boy Scout organization throughout the country. The essence of his feeling for the Boy Scouts was condensed into two sentences at the close of his address. "There are about 1,000,000 Boy Scouts in the United States," he said. "There is raw material for 10,000,000 more." He spoke as a man who is interested in youth, one who is most vitally concerned with the future of America, as a man who knows the qualities of character necessary for success in this age, and as a father who understands the problems of boyhood. Such a sincere appreciation of the Boy Scout program can not fail to give impetus to this organization.

"Scouting" is no longer an experiment. For twenty years this plan of getting at the boy problem has made its influence felt in American life. No other organization has appealed with such force to the imagination of youth, and none has met with such enthusiastic cooperation from the boys it is intended to benefit. Character building, wholesome physical development, and civic training have become delightful diversions tinged with adventure and the spirit of knighthood. Negation is put out of the boy's life, and in its place is offered a fascinating plan of activity, study and recreation. The lad is given a chance to find himself, to develop his personal interests, to associate with other boys in wholesome pursuits, to learn teamwork and sportsmanship. Health, education and morals come to him as by-products of a life full of activities and natural interests, rather than as distasteful medicine administered by unsympathetic elders.

The Boy Scout movement deserves the support which President Hoover called upon the public to give it. The results achieved in the last twenty years have cost but a minute fraction of what they are worth to the country. No investment in the men of tomorrow can be too great. If the Boy Scout program could reach every American youth it is quite probable that some of the most vexing problems of this generation would be solved in the next twenty years.

UNWISE LABOR AGITATION.

The "emergency committee on unemployment" has called a conference to meet in New York on March 19 to consider a program for the relief of unemployment. The call is signed by representatives of leading labor unions, many of them affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and the Socialist party. Invitations to participate have been extended to more than 300 labor unions having a membership of some 500,000 in New York City. Some 1,000 delegates are expected to attend the conference. The committee advocates the speeding up of public construction projects, establishment of stations for the free distribution of food and clothing, the creation of an elaborate network of free employment agencies, &c.

What good will be accomplished by another conference on unemployment? Public works construction has already been speeded up throughout the Nation. Free distribution of food and clothing is unnecessary. The value of free employment agencies, State or municipally operated, is disputed. The proposed conference will give rise to a deal of conversation, and can only encourage dissatisfaction and unrest.

President Hoover's analysis of the situation and his assurance that the peak of the storm has been passed are not subject to question. It would be well for all elements to concentrate their attention on their individual tasks. Mere agitation among the unemployed will not help the situation.

The American Federation of Labor has stood like a rock through the crisis, cooperating in fullest measure toward restoring confidence, keeping down ignorant agitation and quieting that part of its membership that would have seized the opportunity to make trouble. The federation has earned the respect and the gratitude of the American people for its generous cooperation in restoring confidence. It can have no sympathy with a mass meeting of agitators who have no suggestions of value to present.

PENNSYLVANIA'S CAMPAIGN.

The spotlight of interest in the approaching congressional election has shifted back and forth between Massachusetts and Illinois for several months, but just now Pennsylvania occupies the favored position. Political leaders of that State have carefully avoided the limelight in the hope that feuds within the Republican ranks could be submerged in party harmony. It is useless to indulge in those hopes any longer, and preparations for open battle are being made.

William S. Vare, who was denied a seat in the Senate after his election in 1926, has insisted on vindication at the polls. But his doctor has persuaded him that his precarious health will not permit another political campaign, and he is ready now to support Secretary of Labor Davis for the Senate. This will give Mr. Davis and Francis Shunk Brown, candidate for governor, the support of the powerful Philadelphia organization.

On the other hand, the State organization is backing a ticket headed by Senator Grundy, with Samuel S. Lewis as candidate for governor. Former Gov. Gifford Pinchot sees an opportunity of prying in between these two militant groups and has announced his candidacy for governor. Judge J. Ambler Williams, of Morristown, also has ambitions to become the Pennsylvania chief executive.

The coming campaign is beginning to resemble the struggle of 1926, in which such enormous expenditures were made that Pennsylvania was deprived of a seat in the Senate for nearly three years. Not the least among the interesting questions involved is whether or not the Senate primary investigating committee will again find occasion to invade the Keystone State, and whether an attempt will be made to deprive the State of a senator.

A VOICE FROM THE GRAVE

By WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT,
In His Inaugural Address, March 4, 1909.

The distance of our shores from Europe and Asia of course reduces the necessity for maintaining under arms a great army, but it does not take away the requirement of mere prudence—that we should have an army sufficiently large and so constituted as to form a nucleus out of which a suitable force can quickly grow.

What has been said of the Army may be affirmed in even a more emphatic way of the Navy. A modern Navy can not be improvised. It must be built and in existence when the emergency arises which calls for its use and operation. My distinguished predecessor has in many speeches and messages set out with great force and striking language the necessity for maintaining a strong Navy commensurate with the coast line, the governmental resources and the foreign trade of our Nation; and I wish to reiterate all the reasons which he has presented in favor of the policy of maintaining a strong Navy as the best conservator of our peace with other nations and the best means of securing respect for the assertion of our rights, the defense of our interests, and the exercise of our influence in international matters.

Our international policy is always to promote peace. We shall enter into any war with a full consciousness of the awful consequences that it always entails, whether successful or not, and we, of course, shall make every effort consistent with national honor and the highest national interest to avoid a resort to arms. We favor every instrumentality, like that of The Hague tribunal and arbitration treaties made with a view to its use in all international controversies, in order to maintain peace and to avoid war. But we should be blind to existing conditions and should allow ourselves to become foolish idealists if we did not realize that, with all the nations of the world armed and prepared for war, we must be ourselves in a similar condition, in order to prevent other nations from taking advantage of us and of our inability to defend our interests and assert our rights with a strong hand.

In the international controversies that are likely to arise in the Orient growing out of the question of the open door and other issues the United States can maintain her interests intact and can secure respect for her just demands. She will not be able to do so, however, if it is understood that she never intends to back up her assertion of right and her defense of her interest by anything but mere verbal protest and diplomatic note. For these reasons the expenses of the Army and Navy and of coast defenses should always be considered as something which the Government must pay for, and they should not be cut off through mere consideration of economy. Our Government is able to afford a suitable Army and a suitable Navy. It may maintain them without the slightest danger to the republic or the cause of free institutions, and fear of additional taxation ought not to change a proper policy in this regard. * * *

The American people, if I understand them, insist that the authority of the courts shall be sustained, and are opposed to any change in the procedure by which the powers of a court may be weakened and the fearless and effective administration of justice be interfered with.

BEAUTY.

"She is a beautiful woman," they said,
And I turned my head
To look at the lady fair,
But I thought as I watched her there,
What is it they seem to see
That is strangely denied to me.

I look at that smiling face
And find it but commonplace.
They think her lovely, but I,
Indifferent, would pass her by.
They praise what I coldly condemn.
Does the fault lie with me or with them?

But perhaps after all both are right.
And what may be beauty to me
To others may ugliness be.
Thus each with his own is content,
Which is possibly just what God meant.

The Lion Cub Born in a Cage Still Has a Lion Heart.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

If several men witness an accident, their descriptions of it may differ as much as they differ from one another.

Their testimony is not a direct transcription from sight to speech, for the thing they see is interpreted by their individuality; and the report they make is not the literal truth, but the truth as affected by their ability to see and their ability to describe the thing seen.

When children dress in the garments of their elders to play grown-up, their affected manners and phrases are not an exact imitation of adults, nor even an exact mimicry of adults as they appear to children.

Here, again, the truth is distorted by individuality, and the result is an adult as seen by a child and interpreted by a child's limited ability as an actor.

Your friend has secretly patterned his life after that of some hero in a book or some great man of his own times, but you see little resemblance between pattern and copy, and his secret is safe because his interpretation of the hero is diluted by his own personality.

So environment, commonly supposed to form character, must do its work through the individual's personality and limitations, and thus it must inevitably fail to make him like itself.

It will affect him in one particular and fail to mark him in another, as the water in a rapids will wear away the soft part of a stone and leave the flint, but it can not change his nature any more than the water can change granite to sandstone.

He will absorb much from his environment, but everything he absorbs will be tinctured and winnowed and transformed by his own personality, as grass is transformed into flesh.

The same kind and quality of feed, eaten and similarly digested by two cows, the one a mongrel and the other a thoroughbred, will in each case become flesh, but in one case the flesh will be that of a mongrel and in the other the flesh of a thoroughbred.

Different environments will affect the individual differently, but he never will be the product of an environment in the sense that an apple is the product of a tree.

Environment affects him only as different soils affect seed—as the seeds of a sour apple, planted in poor and rich soils, will in one case produce small apples and in the other large ones, but in both cases remain true to their nature and produce apples that are sour.

The great king might have been a great bandit if born in another environment, but he would have been a great man still—master of himself and of men.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE BABE'S ON THE YANKEES, ALL'S RIGHT WITH THE WORLD.

Mr. G. H. Ruth, the ball player, has come to terms with the Yankees, the suspension of hostilities between him and Col. Ruppert being marked by easier breathing throughout the world. Stock markets at home and abroad reacted favorably to the news that the Babe would not quit baseball, the situation in the Far East improved immeasurably, conditions in Spain and India were reported much better, the various Chinese armies seemed buoyed up as by no other event in two bloody years. Congress and President Hoover exchanged kisses in one of the jolliest demonstrations on record and unemployment semeed to dry up everywhere.

* * * *

"Can't tell you how news of Babe Ruth's signing for two years more has changed the whole complexion of the outlook for an agreement here. The delegates who have been suspicious and listless so far have now become one big happy family. The world looks good to us all again."

* * * *

Russia, the cables announced, stopped pulling down churches for a full twenty minutes when the word came through that the Bambino would remain in baseball, Haiti offered to stay under American control if the Babe would autograph a ball for it, King Alfonso issued a statement saying that now that Ruth had been saved to baseball Spain could have its old throne, and in New York and Chicago the police were so happy and appreciative that they announced that tomorrow for three minutes all clubbing of innocent bystanders at "Red riots" would be suspended.

* * * *

Wall street turned definitely bullish. It was evident that the Ruth-Ruppert pact was the signal the market had been awaiting. Food stocks (particularly those having to do with baking products and frankfurters) were buoyant, all the soft drink shares rose sharply and U. S. Steel was strong on the theory that while Ruth's new contract might not benefit the steel industry it wouldn't do it any harm.

* * * *

Railroads were strong on a story that the Van Sweringens might now buy Ruth and merge him with their railroad systems so that his salary could be used in case of any deficit. A. T. & T. jumped ahead in the belief thousands of people would call up others and talk about the Ruth case. Remington-Rand and International Business Machines soared in the belief that there will be a big demand for automatic calculating machines by people who can't figure out how much money $80,000 a year is any other way.

* * * *

Just before the market closed there was another rise in nearly all stocks. This was attributed to a rumor said to have originated in the Morgan house that many big interests were bidding for Ruth and that he might be split five for one.

My father thinks that drink's a curse,
My mother is a wet;
My aunt says there is nothing worse
Than rum discovered yet;
My uncle bawls old Volstead out—
He's for the law's repeal,
While sister with a lusty shout
Asks light wines with each meal.

Is nothing but a fake,
The druggist says, "Now for a fact
This prohibition's jake."
My pastor's cry is "Modify!"
My lawyer shouts "It's great!"
Now what I ask is how am I

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Genius Will Find Itself, and Schools Can Not Help Much, Says Observer.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In The Post editorial "The Search for Genius," the following is quoted from Secretary Wilbur's remarks before the National Education Association:

"The steady rise of the general level of education makes it more imperative that we discover those of exceptional genius."

Perhaps he would better have referred to those of exceptional "talent." These could be advantageously grouped, while as The Post editorial says, "The number of geniuses is too small to require a class in every school, and if this were not so their great variety of talents might make group instruction for them wholly unsatisfactory."

There is no way in which the pedagogue can discover genius. "Genius," again quoting The Post, "is not only elusive; it is protean and defies discipline." And the genius—the thinker who reaches knowledge in flying leaps of thought—must discover himself.

Of such, for instance, was Michael Faraday, born 1791, died 1867. He was already a journeyman bookbinder, when, under the casual influence of a lecture on chemistry, he commenced his scientific studies and finally, by reason of his researches and discoveries became one of the world's greatest delvers into the secrets of nature. His discovery of magneto-electric induction and of the magnetization of light was epochal. Had there been no Faraday to discover fundamental principles of electrical science there would have been no Edison.

By means of the wide diversion of knowledge such thinkers will appear in sufficient numbers from time to time. And so it seems to me that the best the schools can do is to give students the general instruction, and leave the geniuses to find themselves. W. P. CHAMBERS.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: William Howard Taft would not have had men march up the Avenue in yesterday's weather. Rain puddled the streets, beating down torrentially. And men marched—soldiers in khaki, marines in olive drab and sailors, uncoated, in blue—to honor all that was mortal of the man who, 21 years ago, in weather equally inclement, journeyed the length of the Avenue to swear to uphold the Constitution and returned the twenty-seventh Chief Magistrate of the United States. Men marched yesterday with their heads erect, their faces bared to the bite of the elements and their eyes focused, for the moment, on eternity.

There is no lasting sadness in the passing of a life that has been lived so fully. The mortal remains of William Howard Taft lie in the peaceful hills of Arlington, but his presence lives in the hearts of the people and in his works. Those who filed slowly and reverentially past his bier as it stood in the somber and sacred rotunda of the Capitol were moved more by respect than by grief. They came to honor a great American whose presence will live into eternity, not to mourn him as dead.

So with those who marched. Their feet drummed soddenly on the glistening pavement. The rain beat its way through their clothing. But their shoulders were proudly thrown back and their ranks held firm. They honored in death a kindly man, a good man, a respected man, and they honored him with full hearts. They marched because they desired to pay that honor, and as they marched they realized that those who live to serve do not die. D. A. W.

Baseball Pay Should Be Limited, to Check Commercialism and Promote Sport.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The salary chaffering of baseball bosses and star ball players is injurious to baseball as a sport. At least this is so in the minds of its actual devotees.

A simple remedy has heretofore been proposed which would to some extent obscure the game's too conspicuous taint of commercialism and promote its sporting quality. That remedy is limitation of the players' salaries.

It seems reasonable to assert that $10,000 a year is as much as any ball player should be paid, with a minimum of $5,000 for youngsters who prove themselves worthy of enrollment in the major leagues. Certainly the maximum salary should not be greater than that of the baseball commissioner or the President of the United States.

Salaries thus fixed, the frequency with which players are shifted from one club to another would be lessened. They would become closely identified with the communities where they starred, as in the case of Johnson, Judge and Rice in Washington, and so the rivalry between the league cities would partake more of the amateur spirit. HIGHBROW FAN.

Forty-four Not Too Young an Age for Supreme Court Justices.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I notice in the columns of The Post this morning that Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, is mentioned in connection with the appointment as associate justice of the Supreme Court to succeed Justice Sanford. It is stated that he is a very able lawyer, but that his age is against him—"only 44."

While Judge Parker is an entire stranger to me, yet it might be well to recall the fact that the great Chief Justice, John Marshall, was appointed at the age of 45, and that Joseph Story was appointed as an associate justice at the age of 32. No more eminent judges ever sat upon the bench of the Supreme Court than John Marshall and Joseph Story.

It would seem that the age of Judge Parker is in his favor rather than against him. The fact that he is still a young man will enable him, if appointed, to give more years to the service, assuming, of course, that the usual span of life is allotted to him. J. M. SHEETS.

HOUSE GROUP ASKS JONES ACT CHANGE

Subcommittee Would Have Law Amended to Define Offenses Clearly.

WOMAN ON STAND TODAY

(Associated Press.)

Recommendations that the Jones law be modified were laid before the House judiciary committee as it prepared to resume today its hearings of prohibitionists opposing resolutions to repeal the eighteenth amendment.

A judiciary subcommittee that has been considering legislation recommended by the law enforcement commission to broaden the powers of United States commissioners to handle petty liquor cases favorably reported the Stobbs bill to amend the Jones law to define clearly misdemeanors and to limit the penalty for them to six months in jail and a fine of $500.

The group referred the Christopherson bill to broaden the commissioners' powers to the full committee without recommendations. The members disagreed as to the constitutionality of the proposed legislation which involves the question of depriving offenders the right of trial by jury. However, a bill by Representative Christopherson (Republican), South Dakota, chairman of the subcommittee, proposing to amend the United States criminal code to define petty violations of all Federal laws was approved by the group with the recommendation that it be reported to the House.

In the meantime, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, of Beverly, Mass., chairman of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement, plans to present as the first witness at the hearings today Mrs. John F. Sippel, of Baltimore, president of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs. Mrs. Sippel said she received a threat by telephone warning her not to appear, but she plans to make a strong plea for retaining the eighteenth amendment in the Constitution.

During the prohibition hearing, Representative Dyer (Republican), Missouri, will appear before the law enforcement commission to request a study be made of the feasibility of legislation to permit the manufacture and sale of a 2.75 per cent nonintoxicating beer.

CONGRESS TO MEET AFTER BRIEF HALT

a program which I am sure will again afford the enactment of a sane tariff bill. It is not so much a program concerned with the life of the coalition as it is a program concerned with the welfare of millions of people and particularly the farm people."

The North Dakotan said progress was made in the direction of affording agriculture the promised tariff equality with industry until the "development of the sugar-cement-lumber-oil craving and appetite, engineered by astute and experienced high tariff lords like Grundy, who is now teaching so-called party leaders how to lead."

Both Sides Are Blamed.

"This appetite developed on both the Republican and Democratic sides of the Senate," he added, with reference to the tussels on sugar and cement and the pending proposals to levy duties on lumber and oil.

"If the Republican party believes that it can make the American people like the kind of a tariff bill which a Senate majority has been writing during late days," he said, "I suppose the party is entitled to a chance to demonstrate the foundation for its belief.

"But my own guess is that if the present trend prevails the party is going to find itself back to the days of 1912, and that is precisely as it ought to be."

MACDONALD DEFIES DEFEAT IN COMMONS

solving the problem. Their suggestions are said to have been put before the cabinet in a memorandum by Sir Oswald, who is chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

Cries of "Resign."

The Labor "new leader" recently said that one of the features of the scheme was an emergency offer of retirement on a pension of 30 shillings a week to any industrial employe over the age of 60. The idea was that the feeble would accept and the vigorous refuse.

There was great excitement in the House over the government's defeat, which came after a victory on an earlier amendment.

A storm of cheering from the Conservatives and Liberals for several minutes drowned out the voices of the tellers, who could not announce the figures. When the government's defeat was finally established, cries of "Resign" rang from all over the House.

Amendment by Conservatives.

Though the debate continued, little attention was paid to it, every one being occupied in discussing Labor's first reverse in the House. The view was freely expressed that the government ultimately might withdraw the entire coal mines bill, which during weeks of debate has been virtually pulled to pieces by the opposition and once caused a government defeat in the House of Lords.

The amendment that caused today's defeat was proffered by the Conservatives. It demanded that the government proposal of a levy on the output of coal for the purpose of facilitating its sale be omitted. The Liberals and the Conservatives contended that this would virtually mean subsidizing foreign coal competitors.

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S maneuvering of the business and stock market situation has now definitely entered its third phase. The first was to do something to stop the wave of speculation and inflated values which recalled stories of the Mississippi Bubble. With his approval the Reserve Board did its best to accomplish that, whether its efforts were really effective or not.

The second was to stop the panic, for panic it virtually was in late October and early November, by a bewildering array of statistics and promises of enormous construction plans to be undertaken at once, not only by the Government but by big corporations. There is little doubt here that this had a tremendous psychological effect, and probably was highly beneficial. In this connection the announcement of a tax reduction virtually said to the business men of the country that Andrew W. Mellon was so sure income taxes would keep up that he felt it was possible to reduce taxes.

* * * *

NOW comes the third phase—the demand for strict economy in government. For actually, of course, there is very keen concern as to just what the income tax return on March 15 will show as to prospects for an increase or decrease in income taxes to be paid this year. There is the widest difference of opinion as to what will be the outcome. There is far more optimism in Washington than there is in New York, where every man and his brother are telling each other how they sold stocks to establish losses just before the first of the year. One does not hear so much of those who made big profits by selling at high prices just before the crash and kept the money. New York scarcely believes there are any such.

But as a result of the entry of the administration in the third phase there is more criticism going on in business circles than at any time for a good many years. It may be temporary. It may disappear when those good times which leading figures are declaring in print are, "just around the corner" are recognized as having arrived. But it is very persistent now.

* * * *

IT is charged, for instance, that after encouraging the country by talking about large Government expenditures the President is intimidating Congress so as to hold appropriations—and therefore wage distribution—down. On the other hand, of course, very much the same people were saying that after the flamboyant announcements of lots of public work that this was very unsound economics. The truth, of course, is that it was not intended by the President as economics, but for psychology. Strong meat, if not opiates, was regarded as necessary to save the situation in November and December. The administration believes the dire period has passed and that facts can be faced.

Incidentally the Government is worried about that tax reduction. Every one in the administration, even the most optimistic about income tax returns, realizes that there has got to be some cheese paring by the Government, and now that the low ebb has passed in the stock market, with business looking forward to the day when the real revival will put in its appearance, that sort of psychology is no longer needed.

* * * *

WHETHER this is sound reasoning or not it is not stopping the criticisms. It is one of the reasons why so many observers here are actually looking forward to a Democratic House, though the writer thinks the best the Democrats can hope for is a coalition-controlled House.

The criticism is particularly bitter in New York City, where the effect of so many recent mergers has resulted in separating many thousands of "white collar" workers from their jobs. "Elimination of duplication" is the way the executives put it. Curiously enough this has had a beneficial effect on the stock prices of certain corporations which have benefited by the economies. Also in that city there has been much talk of how the big corporations, despite the promises made in public at the President's conference, have actually trimmed their sails so as to be sure their dividends would not be endangered. They also might be said to be in this same third phase just as Mr. Hoover is.

Politically, the question is whether times will get better in time to have an effect on the election in November. How far off is "around the corner?"

EXPEDITION NEAR BANKRUPTCY, BYRD AVERS IN NEW ZEALAND

South Pole's vast region of ice, is on the verge of bankruptcy. He hopes, however, that it will "pull through all right."

Scarred by battering ice floes, his ships, the Eleanor Bolling and the City of New York, equipped at a cost estimated at $750,000, are being refitted at Dunedin's docks.

Within ten days, it is planned, they will carry Admiral Byrd and his 41 courageous men homeward through the Panama Canal to New York.

Even the plane which carried Admiral Byrd and three other men on their epochal flight over the South Pole was left at Little America, the base camp, while the ships fought their way from the great barrier of ice through floes to the open sea.

But these planes are not to be sacrificed. Norwegian whaling ships are to bring them safely to civilization when the winter king yields his dominion next season.

Poor in purse, rich in scientific accomplishments, the most completely equipped expedition ever to visit the polar regions is receiving the plaudits of New Zealand. Officials and plain citizens alike hail the Americans' success and extend hospitality and entertainment.

Men Take Joyrides.

The men who endured the cold and hardships of the antarctic for fourteen months are tired but happy. They are indulging in joyrides in American automobiles. They like the feel of hard pavements under their feet in crowded streets after treading on snow in desolate loneliness.

But even those accustomed to the hurrying traffic of New York display a curious hesitancy in crossing the streets of this city of 85,000 inhabitants.

"Once I thought New York was the biggest city in the world," said Maurice Hanson, chief radio engineer, "but Dunedin seems like the hub of the universe."

Byrd Heard in U. S. by Radio.

New York, March 11 (A.P.).—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his Antarctic expedition were welcomed back to civilization today over the most elaborate radio broadcasting hook-up ever attempted.

Dunedin, New Zealand, and Schenectady, N. Y., were connected by wire, short waves and a broadcast channel. On top of that listeners all over America, tuned to nearly fifty stations of the National Broadcasting Co. chain, heard the voice of Admiral Byrd respond to the welcome of Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, and others.

The two-way conversation was considerably marred by static and fading.

THE wisest investment is always the one that has lasting worth. This is especially true of the investment you make in your home. It pays to protect it against depreciation in every way that you can. For this reason, Mr. McLaughlin and other noted bankers advise you to build for permanency, with the best materials.

Copper flashings, gutters and downspouts, Brass or Copper pipe and solid Brass or Bronze hardware and lighting fixtures give lasting, trouble-free service. They cannot rust. They do not depreciate in value or service.

The slightly higher initial cost of these rust-proof materials is always more than justified by the long-term, maintenance-free service that they render.

The Building Service Department of the COPPER & BRASS RESEARCH ASSOCIATION, 25 Broadway, New York, will be glad to advise you without charge about the uses and proper application of these metals.

HAITI COMMISSION CURBS UNEASINESS

PLANS BACKED BY PRESS

Port-au-Prince, March 1 (A.P.).—Tension was allayed here tonight following the Hoover commission's statement that it was standing by its recommendation for a provisional government in Haiti.

Unrest had been caused by President Louis Borno's reported change of mind regarding the commission's plan. He had agreed to support it Sunday, but yesterday is said to have issued a statement that he was still President of Haiti, that a new president would be selected April 14 by the council of state and that there would be no legislative elections until 1932.

That aroused the opposition, but today James Clement Dunn, counselor of the commission, notified the members at Cape Haitien that the situation was "in hand."

Thus with the capital quiet tonight, the press took a favorable view of the commission's proposals for a provisional government, dissolution of the council of state and reestablishment of legislative elections.

Le Temps states that all wishes have been satisfied. La Presse asks all to accept the plan and set aside pride to attain great results. Le Journal says that the commission has approved the most important desires, and it expresses the hope that everything will be settled in a spirit of cooperation and conciliation.

The government paper, Le Matin, publishes the commission's statement without comment.

Le Soir states that it is necessary every one show good faith and not be partisans, but Haitians.

Cape Haitien, Haiti, March 11 (A.P.).—The Hoover investigating committee sailed aboard the U. S. S. Rochester tonight on its way back to Port-au-Prince to deal with the muddled political situation precipitated by President Louis Borno, who had a sudden change of mind over the week-end about the commission's plan for a provisional government in Haiti.

Before leaving, the commissioners this afternoon received assurances from the capital that all was quiet. The opposition leaders are awaiting their return.

President Hoover has been informed of the new developments in the situation, and the trouble is believed to have blown over. The commissioners are keeping in constant touch with the capital, and today received a report from Counselor James Clement Dunn by airplane.

Ship Firm Pays $80,000 For U. S. Cruiser Trio

Portsmouth, N. H., March 11 (A.P.).—The United States cruisers Des Moines, Chattanooga and Cleveland have been sold for $80,000 to the Union Shipbuilding Co. of Baltimore, it was announced at the Navy Department here today.

Bids were opened for the three vessels by the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts. The Des Moines and Chattanooga are at the local yard and the Cleveland is at Boston.

Curtis' Indian Land Offered in Lease Sale

Pawnee, Okla., March 11 (A.P.).—A quarter section of the Kaw Indian allotment of Vice President Charles Curtis is included in lands which will be offered in an oil and gas lease sale Saturday, A. R. Snyder, superintendent of the Pawnee Indian Agency, announced.

Charleston to Be Host Of Episcopal Congress

Charleston, S. C., March 11 (A.P.).—Charleston will be host on April 29 and 30 and May 1 and 2, to the church congress of the Episcopal churches in the United States, the Rev. William Way, D. D., rector of Grace Church, announced here today.

Several hundred clergymen and laymen, including many national figures in the Episcopal Church, will attend, Dr. Way said.

U. S. Official Says Marines In Haiti Prove Necessary

Brig. Gen. Russell's Annual Report Declares Press Overestimated Importance of Student Strike in Which Ten Demonstrators Were Killed.

(Associated Press.)

The official report on revolutionary disorders which occurred late last year in Haiti, included in Brig. Gen. Russell's annual report as American high commissioner at Port-au-Prince, was made public yesterday at the State Department.

Coming just as indications from Haiti and the White House are that the marine commander may be supplanted before long by a diplomatic representative, with the formation of a stable representative Haitian government, unusual interest has been attached here to Gen. Russell's views.

The report covers events up to the end of 1929 and so made no mention of the American commission now engaged in straightening the political tangle in Haiti. It accepted as a closed incident the plan for holding national elections for senators and deputies this year.

The November student strike, which finally involved at Aux Cayes the killing of ten demonstrators by American marines, was said by Gen. Russell not to possess intrinsically the importance ascribed to it in the American press. After outlining the causes of the revolutionary activities, which he said included "liquor, hatred of the town (Aux Cayes) and the expectation of loot," Gen. Russell said that only the inexperience and numerical weakness of the Garde d'Haiti made action by the marines necessary.

He said, "The further lesson of this strike is the unwelcome one that revolutionary mentality is not dead in Haiti. It has been weakened and will weaken further as the lot and intelligence of the common people—already improved — gradually approaches standards of more fortunate countries. Should it further evidence itself the Garde d'Haiti, fortified by the incidents just recited, will be even better able to handle it. For the nonce, however, the garde, under present circumstances of organization and strength should have behind it a reserve, a feeling of support."

Gen. Russell praised the wisdom of President Borno, and attributed to his efforts much of the progress achieved in the past eight years. He asserted that the mass of the population was untouched by the November disorders, and that although the financial outlook for 1930 involved "some economic distress and retrenchment" he was confident that this was being mitigated by new capital and the production of large-scale agricultural projects. The break in coffee prices last October was blamed for the economic difficulties.

Brookland Fights Closing of Street

150 Citizens Protest Bill Before Congress Asking for Appropriation.

More than 150 citizens of Brookland last night attended a meting at the Brookland Public School protesting the bill which is now before Congress asking for an appropriation for the closing of Michigan avenue at Ninth street northwest, for the diverting of traffic down Tenth street and over the Monroe Street Bridge.

At the meeting it was brought out that if the project should go through it would mean that all traffic must go through the streets on which the Baptist Home for Children, the Benedictine School, the Brookland Public School and St. Anthony's School are located.

A resolution was adopted advocating the erection of an overhead bridge on Michigan avenue at Monroe, which would take care of the traffic now threatening to endanger the life of school children in that district. Mrs. Ralph Hoagland was chairman of the meeting.

U. S. Prosperity Hailed By Davis in Radio Talk

(Associated Press.)

Secretary of Labor Davis yesterday characterized the United States as a land of unexampled prosperity and opportunity, asserting that "30,000,000 people born on other shores have found it a land of opportunity, and I am one of those 30,000,000."

In a radio address under the auspices of the United States Flag Association, the Labor Secretary said "America is the first country on earth to have regard for the well being of the common man."

Legge Emphasizes Production Curb

Farm Board Not to Buy Surpluses Unless Control Effort Is Made.

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Legge, of the Farm Board, has acted twice in two days to remove what he considered to be a double barrier to public support of the board's program.

On Monday he declared emphatically that the Wheat Stabilization Corporation will not offer wheat on foreign markets at a price lower than the domestic levels. Yesterday, in answer to a communication from Gov. George F. Shafer, of North Dakota, he said in effect that the board will not always continue to spend money for the removal of crop surpluses unless agriculture made an effort to control overproduction.

For months it has been a chief complaint in Europe that the American wheat stabilization cooperations would result in an effort to "dump" the surplus on European markets. The chairman definitely dismissed that fear along with the fear of domestic millers that foreign millers might be given American wheat at a price sufficiently low to enable them to undersell American millers on the domestic market.

DOHENY BRIBE TRIAL WILL START TODAY

Charge He Gave $100,000 to Fall to Be Aired After Court Recess.

MUCH EVIDENCE BARRED

(Associated Press.)

Edward L. Doheny, wealthy oil operator, will go on trial today on an indictment charging that he gave Albert B. Fall a bribe of $100,000 for a lease to the Ridge Naval Oil Reserve at Elk Hills, California.

Evidence concerning the payment of the money to Fall, then Secretary of the Interior, was presented to a jury four years ago. Doheny and Fall testified that it was a loan of one old friend to another and their acquittal of conspiracy followed. Last October, however, another jury in the District of Columbia Supreme Court took an opposite view of the transaction and found Fall guilty of accepting the money as a bribe.

Much of the evidence which was used by Government prosecutors to secure the conviction of the former Cabinet officer can not be introduced against Doheny. Especially is this true of evidence concerning Fall's receipt of $233,500 from Harry F. Sinclair about the time Sinclair's company received a lease to the Teapot Done naval reserve in Wyoming. It was the Sinclair evidence, intended to show intent on the part of the Cabinet officer, which was credited with bringing about his convi tion.

Doheny's case first was set for Monday, but the court recessed until today in respect to the memory of the late William Howard Taft and Justice Sanford.

When court convenes today, Justice William Hitz is expected to rule on Doheny's plea that to try him for bribery would place him in double jeopardy and that all elements of the case already have been decided by the first jury. A similar plea in the Fall case was denied.

Steel Magnates Silent On Youngstown Merger

Cleveland, Ohio, March 11 (A.P.).—The ten steel magnates here to consider the proposed merger of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation adjourned their meeting tonight without announcing the outcome.

Neither was there any indication given whether any further steps would be taken prior to consideration of the merger by sheet and tube directors at Youngstown tomorrow.

Col. Holcomb And Wife Plan Capital Stay

Army Officer Is Ordered to Duty Here From Far East.

By JEAN ELIOT.

WITH the arrival of Col. James Carson Breckenridge, U. S. M. C., in Peking—or Peiping, if one would be modern—Lieut. Col. Thomas W. Holcomb will be relieved of duty with the United States Legation guard and will start for Washington, where he has been ordered to duty. This is good news, indeed, for Col. Holcomb has frequently seen service in Washington and he married a Washington girl, Miss Beatrice Clover, who had, and still has, a host of friends here.

Mrs. Holcomb is the daughter of the late Rear Admiral and Mrs. Richardson Clover, whose big house at the corner of Q street and New Hampshire avenue, now the Panama Legation, was the scene of much generous hospitality while their daughters were growing up. Having married a globe-trotting Marine, Mrs. Holcomb has been little with us since her marriage, and her sister, Miss Eudora Clover, seems to have shaken the dust of Washington permanently from her feet, spending most of her time abroad—she has an apartment in Paris—or on the ranch in the Napa Valley, California, which she inherited from her parents.

"Dora" Clover made her debut in Washington in the season in which Miss Margaret Draper, now Princess Margaret Boncompagni, was presented, and mothers of the group known as the "Big Six," with which the two girls were numbered, set a standard for brilliant entertaining unequaled until the season when Miss Alice Davis, whose father was then Secretary of War; Countess Cornelis Szechenyi, daughter of the Minister of Hungary and Countess Szechenyi; Miss Katherine Wilkins, Miss Louise Spencer and a half-dozen other similarly prominent girls were presented.

Col. and Mrs. Breckenridge, who have recently gone out to China, are also well known and well liked in Washington. Col. Breckenridge was at one time post commander at Quantico. Mrs. Breckenridge was Miss Dorothy Thomson, a sister of Mr. James M. Thomson, of New Orleans, who married Miss Genevieve Champ Clark. The Thomsons, by the way, expect to go to the Orient early in the summer to visit Col. and Mrs. Breckenridge.

Another sister of Mr. Thomson, Mrs. Washington Grove, is now visiting in town. She is the widow of Capt. Grove, U. S. N., who was at one time superintendent of the Naval Hospital, and has ever so many friends in town. Still another sister—there were seven Thomson girls and several boys in the family—Miss Imogene Thomson, is visiting in Panama. The home of the Thomson family, where Champ Clark's daughter is a frequent visitor, is at Summit Point, W. Va., and is the oldest mansion in the county.

Italian Ambassador Cancels Dinner.

The Ambassador of Italy and Nobil Donna Antonietta de Martino have recalled invitations for the dinner they were giving tonight and also canceled the tea last Sunday in deference to the memory of former President Taft.

The Ambassador of France and Mme. Claudel have recalled invitations sent out for a luncheon on Sunday.

Mr. Alanson B. Houghton, former Ambassador to Germany and to the Court of St. James, and Mrs. Houghton will sail for Europe on Saturday and will be abroad during March and April.

The newly appointed Counselor of the Spanish Embassy, Senor Fernando G. Arnao, will arrive today and will be at the Wardman Park Hotel. He will be accompanied by Senora de Arnao and their three children. Senor Arnao has been charge de'Affaires of Spain at Mexico City.

He will succeed Senor Don Mariano Amoedo, who is to go to Brussels as counselor of embassy.

Judge and Mrs. Samuel Jordan Graham have recalled the invitations for dinner today, which was to have honored the Ambassador of Germany and Frau von Prittwitz und Gaffron.

New Envoy to Sweden Will Sail Saturday.

Mr. John Motley Morehead, of Rye, N. Y., newly appointed Minister to Sweden, and Mrs. Morehead, who were received by President and Mrs. Hoover on Monday, were luncheon guests of the Minister of Sweden and Mme. Bostrom that day. Mr. and Mrs. Morehead will sail for Sweden on Saturday, making the transatlantic journey aboard one of the new oil-burning Swedish liners in compliment to the government of Sweden.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic D. McKenney will be joined on Thursday at the Wardman Park Hotel by the latter's sister, Mrs. William Luther Croll, who has been passing several weeks in Denver.

Miss Richardson Is Wed To Mr. Clark Austin.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Jane Richardson and Mr. Clark Austin took place in Cleveland March 1 at the home of the bride's parents, Capt. Holden C. Richardson, U. S. N., retired, former chief of the design section in the Bureau of Aeronautics, Navy Department, and Mrs. Richardson at Hampton Court, Shaker Heights.

Miss Margaret Baxter Leaving for Canada.

Miss Margaret Baxter will leave today for Toronto, after passing some time in Washington, where she addressed various clubs on pertinent topics of the day, particularly relative to England, where she makes her home. Before sailing for London Miss Baxter will be the guest speaker at several outstanding organizations in Toronto and other cities of Canada. In Washington she visited Mrs. James C. Pilling.

Mr. L. Suffern Tailer will come from his home, Honeysuckle Hill, at Rumson, N. J., the end of the month and will be at the Wardman Park Hotel for a week.

Mrs. George Mesta has leased the Rocks, Mrs. Henry Clews' villa at Newport, for next season and expects to have her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Adams, with her for part of the summer. Mrs. Clews is turning her back on Newport for the first time in many seasons and will spend the summer abroad.

Mrs. Percy A. Rockefeller and her daughter, Miss Faith Rockefeller, of New York, are passing the day in Washington at the Mayflower. They are accompanied by Mr. Henry Farrer and Mr. Gaspard Farrer, of London.

British Guest To Come Here For Sojourn

Mrs. Marion Cram Plans Study of Gardens Near Capital.

Making a study of American gardens, Mrs. Marion Cram, English garden enthusiast and authority, is spending some time in this country. She is now in California, but will come to Washington the latter part of this month to visit Mrs. Morris Evans.

Mrs. Cram makes her home at the Garden Club of London, of which she was one of the organizers. The historic Beaconfield mansion, which is now the club's headquarters, is next door to Chesterfield Gardens, Princess Mary's town house.

Although she has famous gardens of her own and is especially expert in the raising of iris, Mrs. Cram is best known, perhaps, for her writing. She contributes regularly to the Queen and the Garden Guide, well-known English publications, has a number of garden books to her credit and is the author of "My Ruin," a delightful volume which treats of the restoration of Coggers, a famous old English estate, and its gardens under the artist hand of the author. "The Joy of the Ground" is another of Mrs. Cram's well-known works.

While she is in this part of the world, Mrs. Evans proposes to take her guest for a tour of some of the historic colonial gardens of Virginia, and when Mrs. Cram goes home she has in mind writing a book comparing American and English gardens.

Mrs. Allen H. Hughey, who has been visiting Senator and Mrs. Tom Connolly, will return today to her home in El Paso, Tex.

Dr. and Mrs. George Tully Vaughan have as their guest their daughter, Mrs. William R. Crute, of North Carolina.

The Arts Club canceled its dinner, with the Minister of Persia as the guest of honor and principal speaker, which had been set for last evening, as a tribute of respect to former President Taft.

Capt. W. P. Johnston Is in Indianapolis.

Capt. Winant P. Johnston is in Indianapolis, where he was called by the serious illness and death of his grandmother, Mrs. Samuel A. Johnston. He will rejoin his mother, Mrs. William P. Johnston, at their Georgetown residence later in the season. The late Mrs. Johnston was one of the last members of old Knickerbocker families to be born in Bleecker street and the charmingly drawn pictures of this old family home contribute one of the most delightful chapters to Capt. Johnston's imaginative "Eyelids of the Morn."

Gov. H. C. Baldridge, of Idaho, was the guest in whose honor Representative and Mrs. Addison T. Smith, of Idaho, entertained at luncheon at the Capitol on Monday. Their guests were Mr. Charles C. Moore, commissioner of the general land office; Mr. D. W. Davis, State Senator John W. Hart, of Idaho; Mr. Walter S. Smith, of Lyon Village, Va., and Bennie Joe Smith, grandson of Representative and Mrs. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stabler, of New York, are at the Brook Manor Inn, where they entertained about 25 friends at tea yesterday. Mr. Stabler, former comptroller of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and Mrs. Stabler, are widely known in Washington.

Mrs. Eugene Woodson has returned from a stay in Biloxi, Miss., and in New Orleans, having passed a day or two in New York en route home. There she was joined by her daughter, Miss Jean Woodson; Miss Betty Irwin and Miss Elizabeth Henning.

Mrs. Roland Stebbins, of New York, sister-in-law of Mrs. James Brady Mitchell, arrived in Washington yesterday and will be a guest at the Mayflower for about ten days. Col. and Mrs. Mitchell have been living at the Mayflower since their return to the Capital the first of the year.

Garden Enthusiast

MRS. MARION CRAM, English garden authority and writer on garden subjects, who is now making a study of American gardens. She will arrive in Washington shortly for a visit.

Mrs. Tweedie Is Guest Of Parents in Capital.

Mrs. Alexander R. Tweedie, with her daughter, Miss Ruth Tweedie, of Nottingham, England, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Mahin, 1860 Columbia road. During his quarter of a century as an American foreign service officer, Mr. Mahin was consul at Nottingham for seven years.

Mr. William Rufus Scott, who has recently returned from Russia, will give the Coffee House Talk at the District League of American Pen Women in their studio, 1706 L street northwest, on Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Mr. Charles Russell To Address Club.

Mr. Charles Edward Russell, author, lecturer and journalist, will be the guest speaker at a dinner given by the library committee of the Women's City Club tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock at the clubhouse, 22 Jackson place, when Miss Mary B. Wilson and Miss Helen Nicolay also will be honor guests. Mrs. Merritt O. Chance will preside. Miss Julia Bannigan will be hostess, assisted by members of the committee.

The Glee Club of Arlington Hall, under the direction of Mme. Reginna Vicarino, will entertain the Georgia Society with a short musical program, beginning promptly at 9, on Friday evening, March 28, at the Washington Hotel. At the conclusion of the concert dancing will follow and continue until 12:30.

Music Lovers Are Sponsors In Spring Fete

Glee Club Will Present Program Tuesday in Barker Hall.

Music lovers of prominence in the Capital and members of the board and staff of the Young Womens Christian Association are sponsors for the third annual spring concert by the Elizabeth Somers Glee Club, of Washington, to be given next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in Barker Hall, Y. W. C. A., under the direction of Miss Lucy Clark Street, A. A. G. O. national secretary for music of the Young Women's Christian Association.

The partial list of patronesses includes Miss Jane Bartlett, Mrs. Eveline Burgess, Miss Frances E. A Girl's Complexion

A BEAUTIFUL complexion depends largely upon the blood and the circulation. A satiny skin, pink cheeks and bright eyes depend upon the blood beneath. Enrich the blood, and the skin will take care of itself.
If you need good red corpuscles, strength, vivacity and health, take a safe and sane tonic made from native roots, which has stood the test of sixty years of approval by the American people—namely, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This is made without alcohol, and is safe to take in small or large doses.
It is surprising how quickly you feel the effects of this wonderful tonic. All druggists dispense it in fluid or tablet form. Where before, that tired, logy, dull feeling was frequent, now, the energizing influence of this herbal tonic brings back the pink cheeks, the bright eyes, the buoyant spirits. This "Discovery" of Dr. Pierce's, tones up the stomach and is very efficacious in indigestion, while it increases the appetite and is a system-builder that thousands in every State of the Union have successfully used.
One woman makes this statement for publication: "I have suffered a lot from indigestion and weak stomach, my food would not digest, gas would form and cause a smothering. The distress would be almost unbearable at times. The only medicine that has helped this condition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Since I began taking it I do not suffer from any of the above ailments, my digestion is so good that I can eat anything I wish and never feel any ill effects afterward." Mrs. R. D. Martin, 1225 Farmer St., Petersburg, Va.

THINK OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE IN TERMS OF TOMORROW

Ultimate cost is as important as first cost in the purchase of an automobile

WHEN you purchase an automobile you are making an investment of a considerable amount of money. It is essential, therefore, that you give careful thought to the best selection and know what you are getting for your automobile dollars.

The first cost is important because it may mean an immediate, satisfactory saving. Of equal importance is the ultimate cost after thousands of miles of service. This ultimate cost is the true measure of automobile value.

THE first cost of the new Ford is unusually low not only because of economies in manufacturing, but because the same principles that inspire these savings are extended to every other step that means greater service to the public. It is easy to see that economies in production would be of little value if they were sacrificed later through high charges for distribution, selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, does business on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company. His discount or commission is twenty-five to fifty per cent lower than that of any other automobile dealer. You gain because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

The difference in selling cost, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, amounts to at least $50 to $75 on each car. This is as important as economies in production in keeping down the price you pay for the new Ford.

THE low ultimate cost of the new Ford is the result of sound design, quality of material and unusual care in manufacturing. Friction and wear are reduced by the accuracy with which each part is made and assembled.

These factors combine to decrease the cost of operation and add months and years to the useful life of the car. The good performance and low yearly depreciation of the new Ford are indicative of the enduring quality built into it at the factory.

SERVICE charges are on the same fair, economical basis as the making and selling of the car and replacement parts are always available at low prices through all Ford dealers. In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost.

Think in terms of tomorrow, therefore, when you purchase an automobile. For tomorrow will reveal its true worth.

Air Mail Pick-Up Test Is Completed

Pilot Demonstrates 26 Times, Despite the Bad Weather.

Flying through high winds and heavy rain at Hoover Field, Pilot Trowbridge Sebree yesterday made 26 additional unscheduled demonstrations of the Adams air mail pick-up and delivery inventions, making a total of 254 successful varied operations during eight days of tests.

This was declared by Inspector Frank E. Smith, of the Postoffice Department, to complete the official specifications record, which included a program of 150 pick-up flights, of which 100 were the simultaneous dual operation of picking up and delivering mail bags ranging in weight from 5 to 40 pounds, and 25 each of the single performance of taking or leaving loads at the ground trap.

The new air mail pick-up device is the invention of Dr. Lytle S. Adams, of Seattle, who plans to fly to the Pittsburgh aviation show today over the line of Clifford Ball, who has cooperated in development of the pick-up with planes and pilots, using devices in daily service at Youngstown on the Pittsburgh-Cleveland route.

Fifth Ave. Fashions
NEW YORK

These new printed crepes are given unexcelled precedence for spring and summer wardrobe.

The dress illustrated is very attractively carried out in black and white theme that leads the daytime mode. It will serve as the ever necessary dress for many occasions.

The plaited treatment of wrapped tunic effect of the skirt makes it most desirable for the woman of larger figure, as it produces a charming slenderizing line. The plain black crepe border of tunic is strikingly smart. The plain black crepe appears again as border of white crepe rever collar, that is quite one-sided. The crushed girdle of white crepe hugs the figure and fastens at side.

Style No. 8207 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust.

Crepe silk printed in Lanvin green tones with plain harmonizing crepe is youthful.

Orangey-red flat silk crepe self-trimmed black crepe silk with egg-shell rever collar, purplish blue crepe marocain, crepe Elizabeth in royal blue and navy blue wool crepe self-trimmed are interesting ideas for its development.

All patterns of Lucille Lorraine styles are 15 cents each. Mail your order to our Fashion Department, Washington Post, 259 Fifth avenue, New York City. Be sure to write your name and address clearly and give the number and size of the pattern.

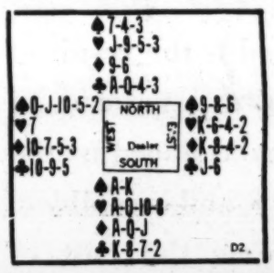
AUCTION—CONTRACT BRIDGE

By MILTON C. WORK

MISPLAYED HANDS I HAVE MET.



If the above hand were played at Auction Bridge, South would become the Declarer with a contract of one No Trump.

At Contract Bridge South would bid three No Trumps, and North would be two points short of the 9-count which would justify his jumping to four.

When the hand was played, South won the initial Spade and then led the Deuce of Clubs, dummy winning with a high Club. Dummy led the Trey of Hearts and South finessed the Queen. The Seven of Clubs put dummy in again and this time dummy led the Jack of Hearts which South finessed; after which dummy led a third Heart and East's King was captured on the fourth Heart round. South then led his two high Clubs (the King and Eight) and after that the Ace and Queen of Diamonds, East winning the latter. This left South with two winners, and as he made a small slam, he criticized North for not bidding four No Trumps as a slam invitation. South's post mortem remarks were not justified as North had not the strength to suggest a slam over South's initial three No Trumps. It was a case of an easy slam which could not soundly be bid.

The Correct Play.

This South who plumed himself as a past master of bidding and play, not only made an unjust criticism in the first department, but threw away a perfectly easy trick in the second. Winning the first Spade, he should have led South's Eight or Seven of Clubs, saving the Deuce to give dummy a later lead; and on the next trick when leading from dummy he should have selected either the Jack or Nine of Hearts, so as to keep the lead in dummy if East held the King and did not cover. In this way East's King of Hearts could have been captured by obtaining three Heart leads from dummy without sacrificing another entry in dummy. After the Hearts, either the Eight or Seven of Clubs (whichever was not played on trick 2) should be led, putting dummy in again and then the Diamond finesse. When that succeeded, the King of Clubs would drop the last adverse Club, and South would have the Deuce to put dummy in with the Four for the second Diamond finesse and the grand slam.

International Clash Will Feature Event at Brookland.

An international forensic clash will open the debating season at Catholic University tomorrow night. Peter K. Chiang, of Swatow, China, and Victor K. Kwong, of Hongkong, both students at Harvard University, who have just completed a national tour in which they met the debaters of the foremost universities, will be the guests.

The query is "Resolved, That the United States should relinquish immediately her extraterritorial rights in China." The Catholic University team, which upholds the negative, is composed of Patrick J. Heaton, of Central City, Nebr., and Robert J. Neary, of Lead, S. Dak. Judges will be Senator David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts; Dr. A. M. Fox, of the Tariff Commission, and Representative Vincent Carter, of Wyoming. The Very Rev. E. G. Fitzgerald will be chairman. The debate will begin at 8:15 o'clock in McMahon Hall. Admission will be free.

Nurse Society Visited 3,523 During February

Care has been given to 3,523 patients in 9,029 visits during February by the Instructive Visiting Nurse Society, according to a report made to its board of managers at a meeting yesterday morning at the Star Building. The total was announced as an increase of 291 over the number given attention in February, 1929. The report also showed an increase of 24 per cent in free patients cared for the first two months of this year as compared with the same period in 1929.

The resignation of Mrs. David Potter, Mrs. B. M. Webster, jr., and Miss Frances Sortwell from the board of managers were received and accepted.

Hundreds of Thousands Of Wise Americans Demand Kruschen Salts

Keeps you in good health all the time—skin clear and body free from fat.

Just think of it: These new, better and different salts were only introduced into America a few months ago—yet a host of intelligent Americans are healthier and happier because of their supreme goodness.

Kruschen Salts are the daily health dose of millions of people the world over—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain.

One-half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning gently but surely stimulates the liver, bowels and kidneys to healthy elimination.

But the six vitalizing and rejuvenating salts in Kruschen do more than cause regular elimination—the man or woman who takes them regularly need have no fear of poisons polluting the system, which is the cause of many annoying and depressing ills.

One bottle of Kruschen Salts (lasts 4 weeks) costs but 85 cents, and one bottle will prove of vast benefit to people who have constipation, headaches, indigestion, nervousness, rheumatism, depression, acidity and auto-intoxication.

Not only that, but one bottle will bring about body activity—increase in energy, vigor and ambition, sparkling eyes and freedom from pimples and blemishes—millions know all this—you ought to know it.

KINDLER REFLECTS ON POST IN CAPITAL

Noted Conductor May Stay Here Permanently if Symphony Succeeds.

PATRONAGE IS FACTOR

Opportunity is knocking at Washington's door—the opportunity to launch a National Symphony Orchestra with a world-famous musician, Hans Kindler, as permanent conductor.

Mr. Kindler is now in Washington conducting rehearsals for the second concert to be given by Washington's new symphony orchestra in Constitution Hall on Friday afternoon under the management of Mrs. Wilson-Greene and under the direction of Frank J. Frost, president of the National Symphony Orchestra. This time he will appear as guest conductor, but it was stated yesterday by Mr. Frost and Mr. Kindler that, should Washington get behind this new orchestra project with enough enthusiasm to insure a five-year program, Hans Kindler would gladly undertake its direction for that period. A fund of $100,000 per year for five years is estimated as necessary to put the project on a firm financial basis, insuring a regular season of concerts.

Perhaps the greatest cellist in the United States today, Hans Kindler also has a Nation-wide reputation as an orchestra conductor. He is willing to give up his cello and devote himself entirely to conducting, with the hope of giving Washington a great symphony orchestra, if he is assured that Washington wants an orchestra enough to support it. So it is up to the people of Washington.

So far there has been no attempt to develop the organization or raise funds. Three preliminary concerts have been planned—and one already given—with a view to showing that Washington musicians have "the makings" of a first-class orchestra, and with this demonstrated a movement to make the organization permanent and to raise the necessary funds will be launched next autumn.

The National Symphony Orchestra's first concert several weeks ago was highly creditable and the musicians are said to have made rapid strides in rehearsing under Hans Kindler. On the other hand, Mr. Kindler reports that Washington already has a good orchestra and that with the coordination which comes only from long practicing together and with proper support may have a great one.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

SINCE long skirts are coming back there is great interest, of course, in the origin of these styles. In the play now at the National—"One Month in the Country"—the period is placed in the early 40s, which is just about 90 years ahead of this particular point in world affairs. The girls, in the play, wear frocks that are almost similar to those now seen in the drawing rooms of Washington—the latest styles of 1930. Since the Theater Guild, producers of Turgenev's play, "A Month in the Country," are sticklers for accuracy, one of the directors and designers was assigned the task of looking up old fashion plates. The result is a beautiful example of what was worn in the olden, golden days of the republic—though the scene here happens to be laid in Russia. Styles, evidently, are universal—and they run in cycles.

* * * *

W. H. Rapley, proprietor of the National Theater, was back at his desk again yesterday after a sad journey to New York where, on Sunday, he was honorary pallbearer for his life-long friend and partner, A. L. Erlanger.

"In my 40 years' association and partnership with Mr. Erlanger," said Mr. Rapley yesterday, "there was never a formal contract between us, nor the posting of a bond. Erlanger's word was gilt-edged, his promises unfailingly prompt in fulfillment."

Though tributes have been paid from one end of the country to the other, none offered to the memory of this theatrical magnate approaches this declaration of Harry Rapley; for therein is a monument to character, A. L. Erlanger's word was his bond.

* * * *

Henri Gressitt, who had a stock company in Washington in the days when Eugenie Blair was a popular idol, came bouncing into town yesterday, young as ever, and full of enthusiasm. It seems he has gone to producing again, just can't keep out of the game, and this time has as starr of his productions Mr. Robert Downing, the Washington boy, known as the "greatest Damon of 'em all." For the week beginning Monday night, March 17, Mr. Downing will be seen in two of his old plays, "Damon and Pythias" and "Ingomar."

* * * *

On Saturday the National Theater Players management closes the subscription books for the ten weeks spring and summer course of plays. Those patrons who held season reservations last year will be assigned their same seats or better locations, if available. Requests, of course, must be received by Saturday. Applications from new subscribers will be filled in the order of their receipt, according to the management.

On Monday morning, March 24, such reservations as are still available can be made for the season on last year's plan of payment weekly, the prices to be slightly higher than those prevailing for subscription to the entire course.

("WHOZIT?" is a test of your knowledge of history and current events. The statements below describe a character whom you should be able to identify. Match your knowledge and memory against those of your friends.)

1. He was an Englishman
2. He lived during the nineteenth century.
3. He was a noted naturalist.
4. His studies led him to the formulation of a then new theory concerning the origin of different varieties of life, a theory now generally accepted by scientists though with modifications.
5. The teaching of this theory in public schools is prohibited by law in some States and was the basis of a noted lawsuit in Tennessee a few years ago.

Avery Plays Bridge Game Over Radio

Among the noted participants in the seventeenth of Milton C. Work's current series of Radio Bridge Games was Thomas H. Avery of Le Roy, New York, who has been the most consistent of winners in the various prize Bridge contests that have been held in the last half dozen years. This game went on the air at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from Station WRC, with Mrs. Douglas J. Torrey, of Pasadena, Calif.; Mrs. Frank Evans, of Philadelphia, Pa., and R. E. Needham, of Greenville, Pa. completing the players.

The hands were: Mr. Needham, dealer, South—Spades, K, Q, 9, 8, 3; Hearts, 8, 5, 3; Diamonds, 8, 4; Clubs, A, K, 2. Mrs. Evans, West—Spade, 4; Hearts, K, 10, 7, 6, 4, 2; Diamonds, K, Q, 10, 7; Clubs, 6, 4. Mrs. Torrey, North—Spades, J, 10, 7, 5; Hearts, A, Q, J; Diamonds, J, 6, 5; Clubs, Q, J, 8. Mr. Avery, East—Spades, A, 6, 2; Hearts, 9; Diamonds, A, 9, 3, 2; Clubs, 10, 9, 7, 5, 3.

Mr. Needham opened the Auction with one Spade, a bid which would have been sound had his hand contained only one side trick instead of the two it did have in addition to the five Spades headed by King-Queen. Mrs. Evans, West, made a following bid of two Hearts. Her six-card Heart suit lacked a quick trick at its head, but it was topped by a King-Ten, and it had a King-Queen-Ten on the side. Mrs. Torrey, North, bid two Spades. Mr. Avery, East, was forced to pass. He had two Aces, which would have justified him in raising his partner's bid had he had normal support in the Heart suit; but with only a singleton Heart he dared not do so. His five-card Club suit was too weak to mention; nor was a No Trump justified with only one stopper in the adverse suit and only one other trick in the hand. Mr. Needham, South, of course passed his partner's raise, and Mrs. Evans, West, was unable to go further without assistance from her partner. So Mr. Needham, South, became Declarer with his contract two Spades.

Mrs. Evans, West, led the King of Diamonds, unquestionably her best opening. She did not wish to lead from a King suit which she had bid and her partner had failed to support; a worthless doubleton is always an unattractive suit to lead unless it has been bid by the partner; and her singleton trump was not to be considered as a lead. From Mrs. Torrey's hand, which became Dummy, Declarer played the 5 of Diamonds, but Mr. Avery, East, before playing, paused to consider the situation. He held two Aces, one of them in the trump suit, and his partner had bid two Hearts. Of course, the Ace-Queen-Jack of Hearts in Dummy dispelled any hope that West would win a trick in her suit, and barred any thought that East might have had of leading it for the purpose of establishing it. But Mr. Avery saw a way to save game if South, the Declarer, had two Diamonds and would have to follow suit twice. With the Ace of Diamonds in East's hand, West's lead of the King showed that West had the Queen; that fact insured two Diamond tricks and an entry in the West hand. The trump Ace insured another trick, and a fourth (game-saving) trick could be secured if East could ruff a Heart. Accordingly East overtook West's Diamond King with the Ace so as to secure the lead. Declarer played the 3 of Diamonds, false-carding to create the impression that he had only the one Diamond.

Mr. Avery, East, led the 9 of Hearts to trick two; Declarer, South, played the 3; West the Deuce; and Dummy, North, won with the Jack. Dummy then led the Jack of Spades; East played the Deuce; Declarer the King; West the 4. East did not play the Ace on this trick because there was no hurry about carrying out his scheme to ruff, and there was a remote chance that West had a singleton Queen which might win if the Ace were held up.

Declarer continued trumps with the 8 of Spades; West played the 4 of Hearts; Dummy the 7 of Spades, and East won with the Ace. Then East led the Deuce of Diamonds; Declarer played the 4; West the Queen, and Dummy the 6.

Mrs. Evans, West, then led the 6 of Hearts, the suit her partner had earnestly requested when he overtook her first trick and led Hearts up to the Ace-Queen-Jack in Dummy. Declarer played Dummy's Queen, since the King was clearly marked in West's hand; East ruffed with the 6 of Spades; Declarer played the 5 of Hearts.

To trick seven East led the 5 of Clubs, which Declarer won with the King. West played the 4; Dummy the 8. Declarer then spread his hand face up on the table and claimed the rest of the tricks, which obviously were his. He scored 27 for three tricks, one more than his contract, but one less than game; so above the line he scored only 40 for four honors divided.

In discussing the bidding of the hand, Mr. Work stated that in his opinion Mrs. Evans was clearly right in naming her long weak Hearts, with but one trick on the side; and Mr. Avery also was right in not naming his Clubs, although he had two side Aces. At first thought it might seem as if there were some inconsistency in this criticism, but Mrs. Evans had a six-card suit headed by King-Ten, whereas Mr. Avery's was only a five-card suit, Ten high. Had he bid Clubs, and had Spades become the trump, Mrs. Evans doubtless would have opened Clubs, which seemed to Mr. Avery the most disadvantageous lead she could make. When considering a suit-bid, it always is well to do as Mr. Avery did in this case, and weigh its possibilities for weal or woe as a lead-indicator.

In this particular hand, a Club lead by Mrs. Evans would not have proved expensive in the way Mr. Avery feared it might; that is, it would not have sacrificed the King or Queen of Clubs in Mr. Avery's hand, since she had neither one. But it would have cost game because the first trick would have been won by Declarer, who would then have established his trumps so that all of Mr. Avery's would have been drawn before he had an opportunity to make the game-saving ruff.

Mr. Avery's plan to make the ruff was expertly conceived and carried out. He knew that his overtaking of the first trick, and his lead of the Heart up to the Ace-Queen-Jack, apparently the most foolish lead a player could make, would clearly indicate to his partner that he was leading a singleton and was anxious to ruff that suit. As he had the Ace of trumps, there was no danger of his scheme failing by reason of the trumps being drawn before he had a chance to ruff; the one remote chance of its failure was that Declarer would have only a singleton Diamond. But had Declarer held only one Diamond, West would have had five headed by King-Queen, in which event East was certain that West would have named that suit either on the first or second round of bidding. In any case, no loss could ensue from the overtake, because if Mr. Needham ruffed the Diamond led by Mr. Avery, West would still hold her Queen, and Dummy's Jack would not become a winner.

At Contract, South would open with a Spade call, and West would bid Hearts, as at Auction. But North, with her Ace-Queen-Jack of Hearts looking like three sure tricks after West's bid practically marked West with the King of Hearts, might be tempted to jump to three Spades instead of two. However, North should consider that in view of her own high Heart holding, West doubtless is extremely long in the suit, so a Heart ruff by adversaries or inability of South to lead the suit twice are possibilities to consider. Mr. Work rather leaned to the opinion that North should bid two Spades, leaving it up to South to raise if the latter held more strength than his original one-bid indicated.

Dare Interprets the Mode

Paris, March 11.

THE colors of this season are so entirely and completely different that I think they are worth summing up for you. There's the story of pale blue, which I've already told you—that is, that pale blue is very much the color for summer in light summer wear. I mean for very hot days for beach and resort wear.

And then, there is navy blue and white, a very important color note for this summer. Navy blue by itself, trimmed with touches of white but much more especially navy blue printed with white in tiny dots, cross patches, circles—all of which gives it an air of not being exactly navy blue, if you see what I mean.

And then black is awfully smart, especially for evening wear, in lace, tulle and chiffon, and some satin and taffeta. And black is hardly ever used in connection with any color except white.

There is also the bottle-green that makes its appearance so often for evening wear—and occasionally for daytime. And its direct affinity in a shade of purple. This is a very deep mulberry-ish sort of purple.

Some red; very little orange, and that only in beach wear; pale off shades of yellow, bordering on peach and beige, and a very deep vibrant midnight blue. And, of course, a great deal of white in the real summery dresses.

That's the color story for this summer.

Here and there and everywhere there is a hint of the Grecian, especially in evening wear. "Diaphane," it was called—the delightful blue chiffon evening dress from Heim that I sketched for you today. If the Maison Heim, originally known only as a fur house, can continue to create gowns of this order, there is not the slightest question of its success in this new venture into the world of dresses.

* * * *

A dainty, filmsy utterly feminine chiffon handkerchief is not to be sniffed at. It's an indispensable evening accessorory, also for dressy afternoon, and if you don't have one in all the colors you really need, you'd better get it or them—if it's a "them," make them yourself. It's easy. Just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the leaflet.

And then, we illustrated for you today Perugia's white kid Grecian sandal, with its touches of gold and red kid. And, just to be inconsistent, this extraordinary black satin fantasy is perched in a 6-inch rhinestone heel. You know I promised to sketch it for you once upon a time.

Of course, you're still looking every Sunday for the weekly Dare fashion letter in The Sunday Washington Post.

What Today Means to You

"PISCES"

IF March 12 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from noon to 2 p. m., and from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m. The danger periods are from 10 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Astrological influences on this date are apt to instill a spirit of distrust which will hinder progress and destroy happiness of spirit. Many a sorrowful word will be spoken, and friendships may be severed. A deaf ear is a lucky ear.

The child born on this March 12 will be fond of travel and adventure. The call of the wild will be its only calling, and it will not be fitted for any kind of sedentary life. It will have considerable grit and determination and will not have any fear complexes.

You have a nature which is forceful and positive, but it needs wise control. You need to apply the brakes to your temper—it needs governing. When things go wrong you snap—as a result an answering snarl takes all the glory from the day. Your tongue is your own worst enemy. It makes both you and others unhappy. Can not you learn to suppress your unkind and unpleasant thoughts? You talk yourself out instead of into things. You are apt to let your emotions and desires run riot—you can not curb your feelings. It can be said, however, that you do everything openly and above-board. There is no deception about you. What you are, what you do, and what you think are no secrets. You are neither diplomatic nor artful.

You are not naturally of an unkindly disposition, but you are domineering and you are very brusque in your manner. It is very hard for you to take commands from another—it is hard for you to do and not to reason why. You have a very frugal nature, and you never spend five cents if a penny will do. You are far more generous with others than you are with yourself. You are a very hard worker, but you need to learn how to play. You take life a little too seriously for your own good. You are rather inclined to scoff at "fun." When real love enters your life, you will become a sweeter and happier being.

You will like Kotex because of its rounded, tapered corners

And you will like the assurance that 85% of America's leading hospitals use this very same absorbent.

YOU'LL discover, once you use Kotex, any number of things about it which distinguish it from any ordinary sanitary pad. One of these is the fact that it's shaped to fit. That means you have inconspicuous protection. You can wear any kind of frock under the most difficult circumstances and you're entirely free of self-consciousness. You can feel immaculate and dainty, for Kotex deodorizes by a special process, which is most effective.

Then, too, Kotex is hygienically safe. It protects health at a time when vitality is low. Over 85% of our leading hospitals have chosen the very same material of which Kotex is made, because of its remarkable efficiency and surgical purity. What a comfort to know you are using the same sanitary protection hospitals find best.

Superior Absorbent

Kotex, you know, is made of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding . . . a cellulose substance which performs the same sanitary function as cotton, with five times the absorbency.

Then, of course, there is the reason most women first began to use Kotex. It is disposable. Just think what that fact alone has meant to the women of America and women all over the world. You will want to try Kotex if you haven't already. Kotex Company, Chicago, Ill.

IN HOSPITALS . . .

2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much!
3—Kotex is soft . . . Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.

CLOSING OF MARKET MAY BE POSTPONED

Treasury Will Not Object to Its Being Open After July 1.

JANUARY 1 IS THE LIMIT

The Treasury Department yesterday notified Representative Moore (Democrat), of Virginia, that it would offer no objection to continuing the market after that date.

Assistant Secretary Ferry K. Heath stated, however, that the market should not be continued for more than six months beyond July 1, and that the dealers there should always be ready to vacate on 60 days' notice.

Mr. Heath, who is in charge of the Federal building program here, wrote to Representative Moore after the latter had asked him for information as to the exact date when the market would be razed to make way for the new Department of Justice Building.

Under the terms of a resolution introduced by Senator Smoot (Republican), of Utah, the market would have to be vacated by July 1. It is evident from what Assistant Secretary Heath told Mr. Moore, however, that the site probably will not be needed that soon.

The Senate District committee is expected to take action at its next meeting on the Capper bill to establish a new Center Market.

Mother Disputes Son's Identification

Says That Man Killed Near Alexandria Wasn't Samuel Fry.

Mystery surrounding the identity of the man fatally injured on February 28 along the main highway from Alexandria to Washington was deepened last night when word was received from Johnson City, Tenn., that the man positively was not Samuel Fry, 45 years old, one-time resident of Harrisburg, Pa., and Pontiac, Ill., as Alexandria authorities had been led to believe.

J. Herbert Taylor, chief of the Identification Bureau of the Navy, declared that a description of the dead man, wired to the mother of Samuel Fry, Mrs. Wallace Elliott, now a resident of Johnson City, had elicited the response that it did not tally with that of her long-missing son. Recently, however, Chief of Police W. A. Patterson, of Pontiac, Ill., wired Alexandria authorities that the description corresponded in many details with that of Samuel Fry, who had lived in Pontiac.

A coroner's jury in Alexandria last Wednesday reached a verdict that the man met his death probably as the result of an automobile accident.

Mrs. Hollander Tells Of Sarah Bernhardt

Mrs. Herman Hollander gave an interesting review of the life of Sarah Bernhardt last night at the Round Table session of the Jewish Community Center, Sixteenth and Q streets northwest.

An announcement was made by Miss Hilda Levy that Charles G. Abbott, of the Smithsonian Institute, will speak at the next meeting on "What We Know Abou tthe Sun." Allan Fisher presided.

$1,000,000 Damage Toll of Wharf Fire

Flames Reach Steamship as Cargo Is Destroyed; No Lives Lost.

New Orleans, March 11 (A.P.).—The 1,100-foot Mandeville Wharf, heavily stored with cargo of the Munson Steamship Line, was consumed by fire late today and the line's steamship Munaires was seriously damaged.

The fire marshal estimated the loss at approximately $1,000,000. The fire started under the floor of the wharf, and spread rapidly through the stock of staves, lumber and coffee, sugar and linseed oil. Shortly after the flames shot through the roof two loud explosions were heard, believed to be oil casks bursting.

The Munaires, tied alongside the wharf, quickly caught fire and despite efforts of the crew and two fire tugs the flames spread over the ship. Although several persons were seen to leap overboard in today's fire, a preliminary check did not disclose any deaths or serious injuries.

Blazing Piece of Paper Brings Fire Companies

A blazing piece of paper sent fire engines scurrying to the All-States Hotel, 514 Nineteenth street northwest, last night. When the companies got there they found the fire all out, and the excitement on the wane.

A piece of paper had been left on a radiator and after being heated by the steam, ignited. It was close to a window and the flames could be seen. Some one notified the hotel management and a pitcher of water ended everything.

X-Ray Treatment Gives Imbeciles Normal Minds

Vienna, March 11 (A.P.).—Dr. Wolfgang Wieser, well-known physician, here, said today that he had discovered an X-Ray treatment by which mentally defective children could be made to develop normal intelligence. He said that after a single X-ray treatment a remarkable increase in intelligence had been observed in children at an institute for imbeciles.

This has increased with further treatment until normality was reached.

Pen Women Give Plays and Lecture

"Rosalind" and "Bait," Latter by Member, Are Produced.

Two plays were presented under the auspices of the League of American Penwomen last night at Stoneleigh Court, Connecticut avenue and L street northwest.

The first of these, "Rosalind," by Sir James Barrie, was put on by three students of the Marjorie Webster School and helped to illustrate a lecture on Barrie's plays which had just been given by Prof. Lee Corbin.

Mrs. Winifred Cullum, one of the members of the League of American Penwomen, wrote and directed the second play, a comedy called "Bait."

Several violin solos were played by Keith Covert, little Miss Joan Fuller and Miss Virginia Grooms. Miss Elena de Sayn accompanied them on the piano. Miss Myrta Ethel Cawood, the second vice president, had charge of the affair.

Seven Men Are Seized By Solitary Policeman

Seven men, one of whom is white, were arrested last night on charges of disorderly conduct by Patrolman E. N. Strange, of the Second Precinct, whose attention was attracted to a house in Patterson street near North Capitol street northeast, by the racket issuing from the place.

As the patrolman entered, one of the men threw the contents of a glass pitcher into a drain. All were brought to the Second Precinct. Two were unable to furnish $5 bail and are being held. They will be given a hearing in Police Court.

Capt. Craige Reveals Haiti Trouble Secrets

Conditions leading to the present turmoil in Haiti were described last night by Capt. John H. Craige, U. S. M. C., in a lecture at the National Press Club. Capt. Craige outlined the political intrigues which, he said, led to trouble.

Capt. Craige, who spent three years on the island, spoke under the auspices of the National Press Club Post, American Legion. In the audience were a number of Government officials and members of Congress.

Speeder Is Upheld By Court Decision

Errand of Mercy Regarded as Sufficient Cause, Judge Rules.

An automobilist has as much right to speed in the case of illness as he has to make haste to get to a wedding, Judge Gus A. Schuldt ruled yesterday in Police Court.

The decision was made in the case of Stanilus Mickler, who was arrested Monday night on the Bladensburg road by Policeman A. C. Moore and charged with speeding.

Testimony was to the effect that the policeman asked the motorist why he was hurrying at the rate of 60 miles an hour. Mr. Mickler replied that he was going to Baltimore, as an aunt had suffered a paralytic stroke. The policeman then told the man, "I'm sorry, but a wedding is the only emergency we can recognize."

There still are many ranches of more than 100,000 acres in the Southwest.

9 o'Clock Tonight

$350 in GOLD

Will Be Awarded to Fortunate Candidate Together With

90,000 EXTRA VOTES for Each $20 Worth of New Subscriptions

A city contestant will receive $100 in Gold, and the same amount will also be paid to an out-of-town contestant, each of whom has turned in the greatest amount of new subscription payments for his territory, at the stroke of nine tonight. $50 will be paid to the second candidate in each division, and $25 to the third candidate. These rewards will be for work done only within the period which began on February 20—no subscriptions or payments previously secured will count toward these special cash awards or toward the 90,000 Extra Votes that will be allowed for each $20 worth of new subscriptions turned in within this period. . . . City candidates must turn in new subscriptions and subscription payments to the campaign office by 9 P. M., to have them count toward these awards—9:05 will be too late! Out-of-town candidates who mail in their reports must make sure that the postmaster's stamp bears a time no later than 9 p. m., today. Check with your postmaster and find out when he must receive your mail in order that it be so stamped!

YOU Can Still Enter and WIN!

Possibly the biggest prize for this second period will be won by some one who has only entered within the last few days. It isn't the time but the effort put into the campaign that will decide who will own the 12 automobiles and 16 radios that will be given away at the close of the campaign, April 5. Because of the liberal cash commission plan you can not lose by entering the contest. Fill out the nomination blank below or call at the campaign manager's office on the Fifth floor of The Post Building for full information.

$25,000 SUIT FILED BY EVICTED TENANT

LEASE SALE EXPLAINED

Declaring that she and her two small children were cruelly evicted from their apartment on N street northwest, near Thirteenth street, a day before her rent expired, and that as a result the children were permanently injured and she was subjected to great embarrassment, Ethel E. Kincheloe, of Eleventh street northwest, near N street, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court, seeking to collect $25,000 damages from Lillian B. Harris, of Rhode Island avenue northwest, near Thirteenth street, and William M. Pomeroy, of the N street address.

The woman tells the court that on December 17 last she rented an apartment at the N street address from the Harris woman, paying in advance. On February 28 the latter sold her lease on the entire building to Mr. Pomeroy, the plaintiff asserts. The latter then is said to have notified the plaintiff to move on March 2. She alleges that her rent had been paid in advance to March 4 and that both defendants were aware of it.

On March 3, the plaintiff alleges, that while she was at work agents of Mr. Pomeroy broke into her apartment, moved her furniture into the hall and forcibly assaulted and evicted her two children, one 4 years old and the other 15 months old. The children were frightened, the plaintiff asserts, so much so that the nurse was unable to leave them to summon help. Five hours later, the plaintiff states, she returned from work and found that her children had contracted cold while remaining in the unheated hallway.

Bank Cited in Suit Filed by Parisian

Claims Capital Institution Failed to Sell Stocks as Ordered.

Charging that failure of the National Savings & Trust Co. to execute his cabled orders to sell certain stocks that cost him $20,301, Coldwell S. Johnston, of Paris, France, filed suit in District Supreme Court yesterday to recover that amount.

Johnston claims that in September, 1929, he had a quantity of automotive stock in a safety deposit box at the bank, which he asserts had agreed to represent him in the sale and purchase of stocks. He states that in October he cabled the bank to sell his stock at a price above 400, and that he received a letter acknowledging these orders and informing him that on the date his cable was received the price was 421.

He returned to America in January, however, Johnston says, and was informed that his stock had not been sold in compliance with his acknowledged orders. It finally was sold on March 6, he says, at 220, and his suit now is to recover the difference between $22,220, which he received, and the money he would have received if it had been sold at 421. He is represented by Attorneys W. A. Johnston and W. A. Coombe.

$35,000 Is Asked After Loss of Eye

Company Sues Autoist in an Injury Suffered by Employe.

As a result of an automobile accident last May 16 in which Blair W. Bennett, manager of the refrigeration department of the Carroll Electric Co., suffered the loss of his right eye and impairment of the sight of his left eye, the company filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court, seeking to recover $35,000 from Dennis J. Flanagan, jr., of Georgetown University.

Flanagan's automobile is alleged to have collided with the motor vehicle in which Bennett was a passenger. Carelessness and negligence on the part of the defendant is alleged.

The company explains to the court that Bennett was unable to work from May 16 to September 26 and that under the workmen's compensation act it was forced to pay his medical expenses and salary. Under the same act it also is entitled to collect damages, the company sets out. Attorneys Charles B. Tebbs and Frank H. Myers appear for the plaintiff.

Communists Prefer Jail to Paying Fines

Reds Who Face Trial on Various Charges Assert That If Convicted They Will Join Comrades Behind Bars.

Communists facing trials on various charges will, should they be convicted, join two of their comrades who are now serving ten-day terms in the District Jail rather than pay fines for their offenses.

This was learned yesterday at the headquarters of the Communist party in Seventh street near N street northwest. Meanwhile, no definite tasks have been assigned to George Reed, 25 years old, of Irving street near Park place northwest, or Thomas Holmes, 18 years old, of Baltimore, both of whom were arrested Sunday on a charge of distributing leaflets.

Their arrest followed a meeting of religious organizations in Constitution Hall at which sympathy was expressed for persecuted believers in Russia.

Leaders of the Communist party in Washington today will arrange to send a delegation to the unemployment conference in New York City March 29. At this afternoon's meeting they also will arrange relief for the two Communists who are serving ten-day sentences.

Col. W. L. Peak, head of the District Jail, last night said that the two Communists would be accorded impartial treatment. No plans are entertained by him for their isolation. So long as they conduct themselves properly, he said, they will have no trouble.

Jail terms were accepted by them rather than the payment of a $10 fine which was imposed in Police Court Monday. Others arrested with them were acquitted.

Those arrested at the White House demonstration Thursday and whose convictions are being appealed have indicated that they, too, will serve jail terms rather than pay fines in the event that their convictions are affirmed.

Several of the Communist group who have been arrested for conducting meetings without permits will pursue the same course, it was learned. Their trials have not yet been held.

Woman Seeking Divorce Blaming Rum as Cause

James F. Murphy, a timekeeper employed in the District Sewer Department, was sued for limited divorce in Equity Court yesterday by his wife, Mrs. Anna V. Murphy, of 314 South Carolina avenue southeast.

The woman tells the court that they were married on August 27, 1919, and have two small children. Recently, she alleges, her husband has become addicted to the use of intoxicants, and since January 19, when, she states, he deserted her and the children, has failed to contribute to the family's support. Attorney J. L. Krupsaw appears for the wife.

$10,000 Damage Asked For Automobile Crash

Henry F. Gibbs, of 5204 Greenwich avenue, Baltimore, Md., filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court against D. V. L. Robinson, of the Mills Building, seeking to collect $10,000 for alleged permanent injuries said to have been suffered in an automobile accident.

Mr. Gibbs alleges that he was driving his automobile in a careful manner last September 29, when, in emerging from the grounds of the John Dickson Home, the vehicle was struck by an automobile operated by the defendant. He alleges negligence on the part of the defendant. Attorneys G. Percy McGlue and Thomas F. Burke appear for the plaintiff.

As soon as you catch cold, the pores close; perspiration is checked. Gases and waste can't escape through the skin. That's why your doctor's first advice in case of colds is a mild laxative like cascara. Medical authorities agree it actually strengthens bowel muscles. You get cascara in its most pleasant form in candy Cascarets.

Remember this when you catch cold; whenever breath is bad; tongue coated; or you're headachy, bilious, constipated.

SHOOTING SUSPECT RELEASED ON BOND

TWO ATTEMPTS FAIL

James J. Cody, 30 years old, of K street northwest, near Fourteenth street, who was arrested Monday by the police and held for investigation in connection with the mysterious attacks on Herman D. Robbins, 34-year-old war veteran, of K street northwest, near Ninth street, was released yesterday on a habeas corpus writ signed by Justice Jennings Bailey, of District Supreme Court. He made $1,000 bond fixed by the court.

The writ was signed on a petition filed by Attorneys Raymond Neudecker and E. Russell Kelly, which alleged that the man was being held without charge and was being illegally deprived of his liberty. Justice Bailey set a hearing on the writ for March 25.

Cody was grilled by Lieut. Edward J. Kelly, of the police homicide squad, Monday, but declared that he knew nothing of the alleged attacks made on Robbins.

The war veteran reported to police Friday night that while he was walking near his home three shots were fired at him by an unidentified person in an automobile, which speeded away. Monday he reported that another attempt had been made on his life, stating that he was shot at while standing in front of a drug store at K and Tenth streets northwest Sunday night. In neither instance did he see his alleged assailant.

Cody told the police that he was at a motion picture show Sunday night at the time Robbins claimed he was fired on.

Jones Not Dismissed By Telegraph Company

William H. Jones, of 1352 F street northwest, did not lose his job with the Postal Telegraph Co. as the result of a garnishment threat served on his employer by Levine, Berman & Erlander, Inc., trading as the Star Credit Clothiers, of 825 Seventh street northwest, as reported in Tuesday's Post in connection with Mr. Jones' suit against the company to recover $20,000 damages for libel.

Mr. Jones, through his attorney, Richard A. Harman, declared that the defendants in the suit had served the notice on his employer in order to extort money from him or embarrass him with his employer and cause him to lose his job. Mr. Jones declared that he did not owe the defendants any money.

Jimmy Thieves Loot Two Northwest Homes

A gold locket set with diamonds and pearls and valued at $350 was stolen by some one who jimmied the door of the apartment of Teresa A. De Lauder, of 2100 M street northwest, yesterday.

AIR PROGRAMS SET FOR CAPITAL GROUPS

KENILWORTH TO START

Inaugurating a series of 61 "organized citizenry" nights, the Kenilworth Citizens Association will take the air through Station WJSV tonight with a half-hour program of speeches and entertainment, starting at 9 o'clock.

John S. Driggers, president of the organization, will be the principal speaker, taking for his subject "What Organized Citizenry Has Meant to Our Community in Washington."

The microphone at WJSV will be turned over at 9 o'clock each Wednesday for half an hour to one of the District citizens' associations until all 61 have had their time on the air. On March 19, the Randle Highlands Citizens Association, headed by its president, J. Milton Collins, will be in charge of the program.

The time on March 26 will be made available to the Manor Park group, headed by its president, John D. Smoot, who will lead the program. This body will be followed on April 2 by the Glover Park Citizens Association, of which H. Ogden Lake is president and will be the principal speaker. On April 9, Allen Fisher, president of the Connecticut Avenue Citizens Association, and other members of that organization will be heard, and Arthur Adelman, president of the Chevy Chase Association, will broadcast on April 16.

Two Women Injured Watching Procession

Two women were injured when they fell while viewing the William Howard Taft funeral procession at the Capitol yesterday.

Amaryllis Show Opens At Federal Greenhouse

The seventeenth annual amaryllis show of the Department of Agriculture will open today at 9 o'clock at the greenhouses at Fourteenth and B streets northwest. The exhibit will be open each day from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., closing Wednesday, March 19.

On account of the official mourning for Chief Justice Taft, the department has canceled its plans for the usual special invitation preview.

City Items Added To Deficiency Bill

The Senate appropriations committee yesterday added two District of Columbia items to the first deficiency bill, $100,000 for a site for the Jefferson Junior High School and $13,000 for school facilities for crippled school children.

These items were among the supplemental estimates for the District which recently were sent to Congress by the Bureau of the Budget. The others will go in the regular District appropriation bill, which soon is to be reported to the House.

Other items added to the deficiency bill by the Senate committee are as follows: For the George Washington Bicentennial Commission, $20,500; for the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks, $21,333; and for repairs at the Smithsonian Institution, $3,500.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

ABOUT PARESIS.

SUBSCRIBER NO. 63 writes: Please tell me the cause of paresis.

What are the symptoms? What part of the body does it attack?

REPLY.

Paresis, sometimes known as general paresis, is one of the frames—and the most frequently encountered one—of syphilis of the brain. Physicians refer to it as a form of parasyphilis, meaning it is allied to syphilis and caused by it, without being one of the regular manifestations of the disease. It does not follow quickly after the onset of the infection; in fact, it does not come until years after the original infection and after a long lapse of time since the last preceding symptom. It is a disease of middle life. Few are old when it appears, and fewer still are in the periods of adolescence, youth or early maturity.

You ask what part of the body it attacks. The answer is the brain. It is one of the few kinds of insanity which can be recognized by examining the brain at autopsy or looking at sections of it under the microscope. Furthermore, a positive Kahn or Wassermann test helps very much in making the diagnosis. Therefore we can say with reasonable approach to truth that paresis is a form of insanity for which we have a laboratory diagnostic test. In this it stands alone.

Different forms of insanity affect different mental acts. Paranoia affects the prejudices, therefore the emotions; manic-depressive especially affects the emotions; paresis affects judgment above all. A paranoiac will have poor judgment in all matters where his peculiarly erratic emotions come into play. A man with paresis has poor judgment because it is the nature of his malady. The paretic is very apt to develop delusions. His delusions seldom relate to persecution.

As a rule there is nothing of inferiority about them, as is the case with the delusions of the paranoiac. The paraetic's delusions are based on ideas of superiority. Later in the course of the disorder there is apt to be weakness of muscles, of body, and of mind; that is where the terms paresis, general paresis or paralysis come from.

The cure of paresis runs along two lines. The purely medical treatment consists in oculating with malaria or with sodoku or injecting something. The social treatment consists in training the paretic to get on with people, not to offend, to keep out of trouble, to limit himself to work that he can do and to do that well. Many are cured in the sense that they get well enough to go back home and do a certain amount of work for a few years.

PRACTICALLY NO DANGER.

A constant reader writes: A child has chicken pox. The mother of the child goes to school to get some home work for the sick child, and also to tell the teacher the cause of the child's absence. The teacher, knowing the nature of the child's ailment, gives the mother a number of textbooks (the property of the board of education) to take home so that the child can study. These books will, of course, come back to the school. Is the next child who handles these books liable to take the sickness from the books? A says no, while B says yes.

REPLY.

BIG SALARIES TOO BIG TO CRITICISE

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

THROUGHOUT the negotiations leading up to the happy consummation of the Treaty of St. Petersburg, I noticed a complete lack of that bias with which in years past the baseball correspondents discussed the business disagreements between the ball players and their employers.

This indicates to me that we chaps who thump the drum for the big shows in sport are not as sensitive over matters of right and wrong as we used to be, because in this instance, either Babe Ruth or Col. Jake Ruppert was in the wrong to the extent of $115,000, and I can remember when a dispute over a difference of $500 between the prices bid and asked for a ball player's services evoked the most scornful essays.

In those pieces written by reporters with a capitalistic sympathy, the player was always a "holdout," a "recalcitrant" and a "Bolshevik," and the writers with left-wing tendencies in their zeal for the labor movement, in sport denounced the magnate as a "tightwad," a "money-lover" and a "nickel nurse."

Reports of Dispute Most Impartial.

But in the recent dispute over values between the Babe and the colonel involving at the outset the difference between $255,000 for three years and $140,000 for two years, the articles from the South, although vibrant with the huge importance of the issue, were as impartial as an Associated Press report of an unidentified man found dead off Staten Island and presumed to have fallen off a scow. Perhaps the reason for this is that the correspondents have come to realize that so far as they personally are concerned the rights and wrongs of such disputes are matters of the utmost inconsequence.

Experience has shown that if, thanks to daily partisan dispatches in the papers, a magnate shall carry his point and save money or a player, by the same aid, shall enforce his terms and acquire some money, the status of the reporter remains just what it was before, except that he has incurred the enmity of the interest which he, in his conscientious enthusiasm, was bold enough to oppose.

The political reporter, local, State or national, who promotes a successful cause, eventually resigns to become secretary to the commissioner of parks, associate member of the State Lunacy Commission, or something harmless in the U. S. Bureau of Standards, but the sport writer who gives his support to one side or the other seldom wins to any corresponding position of nominal work on full pay.

Ball Players Note Papers Only to Complain.

The zeal of the left wing permitted of even less suspicion than that of the capitalistic crowd because it is customary for major league firms to remember their friends with orders for bath-robes and hats at Christmas time, which might be regarded as subtle bribery, but I have yet to hear of any ball-player's giving anybody anything.

Gratuitous flattery the ball player accepts as his due with never a word of acknowledgement and he talks of his treatment in the papers only to complain of some hit which, in his opinion, should have been scored as an error, or vice versa, according to his interest in the situation.

Moreover, the proceeds of the sport industry have risen to such stupendous totals in the era since the war that men whose own ambitions are guaged to the modest rewards of journalism naturally think of them with no more personal interest than a bank clerk feels in scanning a clearing house report. In the days when Jack Dempsey was going through his training pranks at his various camps, preparing to fight for money measured in units of a quarter-million, a half-million or a million, I never experienced the faintest twinge of envy, not because of any Jesuitical renunciation, but merely because I felt that such moneys were not for me and never would be.

Big Money Too Big To Criticize.

And when a ball player nowadays falls to bickering with his boss man over a difference of $115,000, nature considerately insulates the baseball writer's character, which is a happy thing because otherwise he might blow all his fuses and go plumb daffy over the matter. The mere difference between the bid and asked prices in this case was considerably more than the rewards of the average lifetime in the press coop and the whole controversy therefore was just so big that description, not criticism, was all the boys could write.

In the negotiations between Babe Ruth and the colonel I did feel a mild sympathy for the Babe, because I cut my cultural teeth on the covers of the Alger book in which the poor young man got rich and my social tendencies were turned in a certain direction by the muck rakers at a very impressionable age. I still retain the ignoble notion that money in Score 34-23 Victory; Yearlings Defeat Trinity, 49-26.

GEORGE WASHINGTON University Freshmen and Potomac Boat Club fives scored impressive victories in surviving their initial tests in the unlimited division of the District of Columbia A. A. U. basket ball tournament sponsored by The Washington Post last night in Tech High Gymnasium.

Swamping the Trinity Church quintet, 49 to 26, on a late drive engineered by Forrest Burgess, the Colonial Cubs sounded a warning to the strongest contenders for the unlimited title. Potomac Boat Club turned back the first out-of-town entry to see action in the tournament when it outpointed the Quantico Marines, 34 to 23.

The Frechman-Trinity battle was only a few minutes on its way when the ultimate victors erased all loubt as to the outcome. Burgess, Connor, Carlin and Wells opened an assault which had the Churchmen breathless, and at the intermission G. W. was leading, 24 to 10.

With the contest three-quarters completed, Trinity, aided largely by Staubly, threw a mild scare into the Freshmen with a rally which netted 8 points, while their foes were scoring 2. At this stage Burgess took things into his own hands and quickly led the Freshmen beyond danger, and the waning moments found the Yearlings sinking the ball rapidly.

The J. C. C. Spartans got off to a fast start in the early portions of the game, and ran up a 13-4 lead on the Eagles at half-time. All but one of the winning quintet had a hand in the scoring, only Hofberg failing to score. Silverman, Jaffe and W. Schneinerman divided scoring honors among them, each tallying 5 points toward the victorious cause.

In their 48-15 rout of St. Paul's, the Pirates were led by their star forward, Lynch, who found the cords five times from the floor, enabling him to top his team in scoring with 10 points. Reppetti and Howell were close behind with 8 points, while Boucher and Breen also scored three field goals during the game. Only Faumee, of the losers, could score more than one double-decker, the losers' center scoring 8 points on three field goals and a pair of foul tosses.

Saints Take Thriller From Cosmopolitans.

A thriller, resembling the Calvary Baptist Drake-Wallace Memorial game of the opening night, was fought last evening between the St. Stephen's and the Cosmopolitan quintets, in the 130-pound class, before the former was finally returned the victor, 35 to 33. Although the fray did not carry into extra periods as did the Monday night affair, it was a point-for-point battle throughout, with first one team and then the other holding the upper hand.

Only the final whistle could have decided the ultimate victor last night, and when it blew, the St. Stephen's combination was the one fortunate enough to be in the lead. Malone and Thompson were the outstanding dependables for their respective teams, the latter topping his opponent of the victorious quintet in the actual scoring column by 2 points.

Potomac Ousts Marines By Late Rally.

Fought to a standstill for three-quarters of the game by the Quantico Marines, the Boat Club, taking advantage of the absence of Schultz, Marine guard, started a rally in the last ten minutes of play to triumph by a 11-point margin. Schultz, who played such a bang-up game for the Marines, was forced from the game on his fourth personal foul ten minutes before the final whistle, leaving his team almost helpless before the Boat Club's final rally.

Flashing a brilliant brand of play beneath their opponents' basket, the Boatmen began to register their two-pointers with increasing rapidity to draw away to a comfortable margin. Robey, Lilly and Aman all registered easy snowbirds in the final minutes, with Robey leading the attack.

Although trailing, 18-11, at half-time, the Marines flashed a comeback at the start of the second half to tie the score at 19-19. Here, the winners went on their late splurge which found them making 15 points while the Marines were counting 4.

Ferguson Leads Optimists To 130-Pound Victory.

In another 130-pound game, the Boys Club Optimists ran away from the Wilson Prep Courtmen, 45 to 14, in a game featured by the scoring activities of three individuals. Ferguson, center, led the assault with six field goals, while Kane, captain-elect of Eastern High, and Thomas, guard, tied for second-place scoring honors with four double-deckers each.

As a result of their overwhelming triumph, the Boys Club Optimists established themselves as outstanding contenders for the title of their class. Their next hurdle will be the winner of the Northwestern-Y. M. C. A. Flashes game which will be fought tonight at 7 o'clock at the Tech Gymnasium.

Don, Driving Roadster, Gets "Feel" of Beach

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 11 (A.P.).—While a crew of mechanics delved into the intricacies of his powerful racing car, conditioning it for an assault upon the world's speed record, Kaye Don, British driver, today got in some preliminary training to acquaint himself with conditions on the sandy stretch of ocean speedway, the scene of his forthcoming trials.

He spent considerable time piloting a speedy roadster up and down the course getting the "feel" of the beach and observing the general layout of the natural speedway where he hopes to shatter the present straightway record of 231 miles an hour, which his fellow countryman, Sir Henry Segrave, established here a year ago.

Delay in obtaining tanks of compressed air to start the two 12-cylinder motors of the giant iron steed probably will force Don to wait until Thursday or Friday to take his machine onto the beach for a trial spin.

Court Halts A.A.U. Ban On Pole

Injunction Granted, Enabling Alien Star to Run Tonight.

K. of C. Meet Official Says Other Runners' Status Protected.

Announcement of this action, the first of its kind in modern track history, was made by President Thomas J. Gray of the New York Chapter of the Knights of Columbus.

Petkiewicz was barred from further competition in the United States by the A. A. U. yesterday at the request of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, governing body of international athletics. The I. A. A. F. has been investigating the status of Petkiewicz, who competed for Latvia in the 1928 Olympic games, but later became a resident of Poland.

Barred Permanently By Latvia.

Latvian authorities barred the runner permanently from competition in that country and asked the international body to make the ban universal. A. A. U. officials, seeking to learn whether Petkiewicz was eligible to compete in the United States pending settlement of his case abroad, received word to the contrary from the I. A. A. F.

President Gray said that the injunction does away with any possibility of the A. A. U. interfering with any competitors or punishing them for racing against the Polish star.

The field in the Columbian mile, with Petkiewicz running, includes the best milers of the indoor season. They are Ray Conger, Illinois A. C.; Dr. Paul Martin, of Switzerland; Joseph Hickey, of New York University; Joseph Sivak, of Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind.; Joe McCluskey, Fordham University; Robert Dalrymple, Boston A. A.; Gene Venvke, Swedish-American A. C., and Petkiewicz.

Petkiewicz has competed a half dozen times since his arrival here as a diplomatic courier for the Polish Legation. He has won several distance starts but has not competed in a mile event.

Nine Hilltop Trackmen Entered in Meet Tonight

Nine Georgetown University trackmen will compete tonight in the Knights of Columbus games in New York City. They are Jim Kelly, who will run in both the one and two mile relays; Chuck Carlin, Vic Burke and Artie Briggs, of the one-mile team; Jay Julicher, Jack Mara, John Downing, of the 2-mile team; Leo Sexton, high jumper and shot putter, and Erik Kjellstrom, hurdler.

Tilden Again Scores In Singles and Doubles

Nice, France, March 11 (A.P.).—Bill Tilden reached the third round of the Nice championship tennis tournament today, easily defeating F. Kuhlmann, 6—2, 6—2, in a second Roune match.

Tilden paired with his protege, Junior Coen, of Kansas City, defeated Soni and Charajiva, local players, in the second round of the doubles play, 6—4, 1—6, 6—1.

In her first appearance this season on the Riviera, Helen Jacobs won two matches, defeating Mlle. Dunois, 6—0, 6—2, and Mlle. Stavelve, 6—3, 6—1.

Cyril Tolley Is Deposed As British Golf Captain

London, March 11 (A.P.).—Cyril Tolley's long visit in the United States has cost him the captaincy of Great Britain's Walker Cup Golf Team.

The Royal and Ancient Club announced seven of the ten men who will oppose Bobby Jones' American Team on the sands of Sandwich May 15 and 16 and their leadership is in the hands of Roger Wethered, brother of the famous Joyce and himself British amateur champion in 1923.

Named with him were Rex Hartley, Sir E. W. E. Holderness, J. N. Smitle, J. A. Stout, Tolley and T. A. Torrance. Three more names soon will be drawn from the Royal and Ancient hat to complete the list of ten.

Smith-Dudley Beaten In Four-Ball Tourney

Miami, Fla., March 11 (A.P.).—International Four-Ball Tournament championship hopes of Horton Smith, Cragston, N. Y., and Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del., were upset on the thirty-sixth hole of their quarter finals match here today when Neil McIntyre, Indianapolis, sunk a 12-foot putt to win the match 1 up. Smith and Dudley, favorites in the lower bracket of the match, were matched today against McIntyre and Harry Hampton, Chicago.

McIntyre took a 4 on the last hole of the day for a birdie, the other 36 players taking 5s.

Tony Manero, Elmsford, N. Y., and Densmore Shute, Columbus, Ohio, accumulated a series of birdies in the afternoon 18-hole round to eliminate Al Espinosa, Chicago, and Craig Wood, Bloomfield, N. J., 3 and 2, in the quarter finals.

HOPE VETS DON'T FALTER.

Eastern is hoping that its baseball veterans will not falter as did its football team last fall. Although losing several good players, the Lincoln Parkers will have a larger number of 1929 performers on hand than any other school.

Shotton Shy No More With Battering Phils Elevated Into Thick of 1930 Pennant Race

Hitting the Baseball Trail

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11 (A.P.).—Sixteen well-timed hits gave the New York Yankees an 8-to-7 victory over the Boston Braves in the third meeting of the rping exhibition series today.

Rain threatened to halt playing in the fourth inning, but after a half-hour's delay, play was resumed. Three Boston pitchers, Brown, Cantwell and Alonzo Smith, felt the fury of the Yankee war clubs, the longest hit being Ruth's triple in the ninth. Manager Bob Shawkey used Johnson, Edwards and Rhodes on the mound, the latter holding the Braves hitless for the last three rounds.

Robins Make 17 Hits In Beating Tigers.

Clearwater, Fla., March 11 (A.P.).—Pounding four Detroit hurlers for seventeen hits, the Brooklyn Dodgers won their opening exhibition game today, defeating the Tigers, 11 to 3.

Clark, Morrison, Luque and Elliott held the American Leaguers to ten hits, while the Robins were finding easy marks of the offerings of Whitehill, Sorrell, Nelson and Page. Bressler and Thurston hit home runs for Brooklyn, while Dale Alexander connected with a circuit clout for the Tigers.

Owner of Reds In Uniform.

Orlando, Fla., March 11 (A.P.).—Sidney Weil, newcomer of the Cincinnati Reds, has been nicknamed "Dynamite" Weil by his athletes because of his activities on the training field. For the second time Weil donned a uniform today and was the first on the field, mingling with the players and enjoying the going as well as any one.

The Reds will engage in their first practice game Friday in preparation for the opening exhibition tilt with the Detroit Tigers in Tampa Sunday. Manager Dan Howley does not propose to use his veteran hurlers against the hard-hitting Bengals. Marvin Gudat probably will be the first thrown against them.

Giants and White Sox In 11-Inning Tie.

San Antonio, Tex., March 11 (A.P.). The New York Giants and Chicago White Sox battled eleven innings today without a decision, the final score being 5 to 5. The game was called on account of darkness and players of both teams were worn out.

The Giants appeared to have the game well in hand going into the ninth, but the White Sox broke through for two runs to knot the score.

Bradenton, Fla., March 11 (A.P.).—Connie Mack's world champions turned the fourth of their series with the Cardinals into a batting practice this afternoon, bombarding Bill Hallahan and Bill Sherdel for a 14-to-3 victory. Rain halted the game after the sixth inning. Carmen Hill was ready to take the mound for the Cards when umpires called off the game.

Shires Answers Comiskey, Demanding Better Terms

CHICAGO, March 11 (A.P.).—Charles Arthur Shires, fighting holdout of the Chicago White Sox, finally answered Owner Charles A. Comiskey's more than a month old letter today, but stuck by his booming guns for larger figures on his pay checks.

Inclosed in the long awaited letter, which carried a promise by the White Sox "bad boy" that he would direct his punches at baseballs instead of eyes and noses, were two unsigned contracts. The "Old Roman" took a hurried glance at the vacant signatures lines, read the letter and promised he would reply to the great one tomorrow.

In keeping with the club's policy, Owner Comiskey refused to name the amount of salary offered Shires and the amount the pugnacious first baseman demanded. However, it is believed the White Sox offer is around $8,000, a $1,500 increase over last year, while Shire's demand is estimated at $10,000.

"Shires has made a general denial of all ridiculous statements with which he was quoted by the press this winter," Comiskey said. "The report that he would quit baseball if the White Sox did not pay him $20,000 a year is one of those denied. In all, he has promised to do some of the things we asked him to do before his suspension would be lifted."

Whether Comiskey will return another contract to Shires is problematical. There is no secret that the "Old Roman" is highly displeased that Shires failed to answer his letter of February 2 until today.

"I will read his letter more carefully tomorrow and then decide what to do," Comiskey added. "You can say he will get a reply as I always answer letters if I can."

Cronin, Myer Must Battle For Posts

Club Will Sacrifice Fielding Prowess for Slugging.

By FRANK H. YOUNG

BILOXI, Miss., March 11.—Today's infield drill evoked more enthusiasm from Manager Johnson than he has shown at any time since he has had his Nationals working out here, three things impressing him greatly.

In the first place, after seeing Ossie Bluege cover an acre of ground around third Johnson is convinced that if his infield ace is put out of commission this season it will not be due to any weakness of his previously ailing left knee, but the result of an injury which would disable any infielder.

The other two phases emphasized by the workout are that the preseason assignments of regular berths to Shortstop Joe Cronin and Second Baseman Buddy Myer may have been a little previous, and that Jimmy McLeod and Jack Hayes show indications of making great bids for the positions. In both cases it seems to have resolved itself into a question of relative hitting ability.

All Announcements Are Off.

The Nationals are not regarded as a good hitting team, making it necessary for much to be sacrificed in favor of punch at the tee. Johnson recognizes this fact, but admitted this morning, after watching Hayes perform around second base, that all previous announcements regarding this berth are off.

"Hayes," said the Nats' leader, "is as good a second baseman as I have ever seen, bar none. He can either start, pivot or finish double plays as well as the best of them. It's a little early yet, but you can say right now that Myer either must improve over his last year's fielding or outhit Hayes by a big margin in order to get the call. Buddy, no doubt, is a better hitter and is faster on the bases than Hayes, but the latter showed great batting improvement last fall and certainly is in the race for the regular assignment."

McLeod's Fielding Passes Muster.

Shifting over to the shortfield position, Johnson practically repeated himself. "In the two days he has been out, McLeod has shown me enough to satisfy me that he can field up to major league standards. Cronin, I believe, has plenty of hitting power and has been developing fast, but McLeod can field and throw right along with him and, if he can show the bigger batting punch, Cronin will have a hard time breaking into the line-up." The latter, by the way, is due to arrive here tomorrow or early Thursday.

Pitcher Herb Pyle, who has been suffering from neuritis because of some infected teeth, tonight was told to go to Chattanooga and have the cuspids extracted. He will remain there, working out with the Lookouts until the Nats show up on March 22.

Assistant Trainer Frank Reilly Baxter has callenged the Washington regulars for a game on behalf of the rookie clubhouse gang and the deft has been accepted and listed for decision tomorrow. As Baxter himself will do the umpiring, the rookies feel that they have a fine chance of winning. The starting rookie line-up will be Moore, Savidge and Daugert, pitchers; Phelps, catcher; Bradley, Young, McLeod and Gharrity, infielders; and Loepp, Barnes and Powell, outfielders. Johnson will use his regular line-up, except that Hayes will be at short, with the Nats' leader, himself, and Burke probably doing the pitching.

By BRIAN BELL.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 11 (A.P.). — The demeanor of Burt Shotton, one of baseball's real horse traders, gives the Phillies baseball secret away. A year ago Burt thought his team had great possibilities, but he was afraid to say so. To visiting newspapermen he played soft and low in his predictions and was more apt to shush than cheer. Twelve months later it is different.

"You can write a piece about the Phillies now, you won't have to take back," said the manager jubilantly. "No sir, if you say the Phillies are tough, you won't have to eat any crow."

No one could blame the shrewd Shotton for a measure of satisfaction at the performance of his team last year. And he has no reason to believe his players will not be even harder to subdue in 1930.

Club Broke Six Records in 1929.

In 1929 the Phillies took their bats in hand and set six records, four by the club and two by individuals. Lefty O'Doul led the National League in hitting and his 254 hits made a new league record. Chuck Klein hit the most runs, his mark of 43, breaking Rogers Hornsby's old record of 42. The club piled up a record

TECH HIGH'S MOVE TO ABOLISH BASEBALL VETOED

Attendance Increase at Last Season's Games Noted.

A PROPOSAL to abolish baseball as an interhigh sport on the grounds that it lacks student interest and is a nonpaying proposition, was made by Principal Frank Daniels, of Tech at the last meeting of the principals of the five high schools, it was learned yesterday.

Although realizing that nothing could be done to prevent the 1930 diamond series from being played, Daniels asserted that it was his belief that there was not enough general interest in the sport to warrant its continuance after the present year. Baseball has proven to be the least attended of any of the four major sports, now existent in the high schools.

The consensus of the principals, however, favor the retaining of baseball in its present status, and none of the coaches have asked to have it withdrawn from the high school sports curriculum. Backers of the sport point to the games of last season which showed an increase over recent years in the attendance, and this same group expects the 1930 series to show still a further increase in attendance.

Game at Princeton Among 16 for Central

Coincident with this announcement comes word that for the first time the Blue and White players will be numbered during the coming season, natty numerals about 6 inches long to appear on the left sleeve of the uniforms. It will be a novelty in the sport, no other interhigh baseball team ever having had numbers before.

If present plans carry, official score cards may also make their initial appearance at interhigh games this spring. A group of students at Central is now working on the project.

Oppose Georgetown Yearlings in Opener.

Central will open its season against the Georgetown Freshmen Nine, which will be met on the Hilltop field on April 10. The game with that team will be but one of five games scheduled with the yearling nines of three local colleges, the Freshmen of Maryland and Catholic Universities also to be met.

Only one game has been scheduled with the Old Line Cubs, but Georgetown will be met in a return game at the Central Stadium, while the C. U. Yearlings will be encountered twice at Brookland.

PEGLER UNAFFECTED BY SALARY DISPUTES

But I have packsild somewhat from the teachings of the Tarbells and the Lewises, since I had to deal with unibg, electricians, carpenters and the like who would drop their tools and go into executive session, on my time, at $1.25 an hour, over the delicate jurisdictional problem of whether the electricians, the carpenters or just who should rip out some flooring in my modest bower to permit the electricians to install some wires which they had forgotten on my time at $1.25 an hour, in the first place.

Solicitude for Employed Class Is Lost.

I would have been pleased if the Babe had enforced his own terms, but now that he hasn't, I feel a nice content, anyway, and I am afrald that my solicitude for the employe class, which once amounted almost to a fury against the oppressors of labor, yielded to self-interest. The masses who toil under the sign of the arm and hammer, including ball players and prize fighters, as well as electricians and carpenters, seem to be doing quite well, and, in my business, any way. I see the need of a protective tarift to shield the baseball writers from the encroachments of predatory labor.

As a case in point, I might cite the attitude of a noted outfielder, a young man earning, I suppose, $20,000 a year, who contracted to lend his name to a series of expert impressions on the world series of last fall for a few hundred dollars and then repented on the ground that he might have had twice as much if he had only known the ins and outs of the syndicate game.

We were riding from Chicago to Philadelphia at the time, and as the young athlete reproached himself for his error I glanced down the car at another young man who sat boxing a typewriter late into the night. His own work for the day was done, but now he was doing the ball player's work at no increase in his own pay, amounting to $5,000 a year at most.

278 TRACKMEN BID FOR HONORS TONIGHT AT C. U.

Indoor Games Revived With 23 Events

By JACK ESPEY.

THE first indoor track and field meet scheduled in Washington since 1925 will be held tonight in the Brooklyn Gymnasium, where 278 athletes, representing 26 colleges, schools and clubs of the South Atlantic section and New York city will vie for honors in a set of 23 events sponsored by Catholic University. The meet will start at 8 o'clock, and from then until past midnight the action will be continuous.

All indications point to an attractive program, with arrangements having been made to satisfy both competitor and fan. More than 1,600 spectators are expected. The west door of the gymnasium will be the spectator's entrance.

Maryland University and the Baltimore Police Department Team are cofavorites to dominate the open events of the meet, while Eastern High School is picked to show the way in the scholastic division.

A. A. U. Championship Dash on Program.

The program includes, among other features, a special 50-yard dash for the championship of the District of Columbia Association of the A. A. U. Also listed are a 1-mile college varsity relay and a 1-mile high and prep school relay.

The A. A. U. 50-yard dash should bring out some keenly contested sprinting, what with Bob Quinn, Maryland University ace; Joe Champa, dependable C. U. star, and Simon Katz, of Gallaudet, scheduled to toe the starting line together. The open 50-yard dash, a handicap affair, may see an unknown taking the honors from the veterans Quinn, Champa and Oster, of the Baltimore Police.

Past and present Maryland University mainstays will appear in the 50-yard low hurdles. Dan Fahey, a star at Maryland four years ago and present South Atlantic A. A. U. high hurdles champion, will oppose Bill Kinnamon, now the Terrapins' leading timber topper.

Attractive Trophies For Winners.

An attractive collection of trophies and medals will be distributed among the various winners. The Ernest J. Spitzer Trophy, a bronze statue of an athlete mounted on a handsome wooden pedestal, will be awarded the team scoring the greatest number of points in the open events. The Utopian Club trophy, donated by a campus organization of Catholic University, will be presented the high-scoring organization among high and prep schools. The individual high scorers in the open and scholastic divisions will receive special awards.

Eight of the events are open to all classes of competitors. Yank Robbins, District A. A. U. handicapper, has assigned the handicaps.

ANOTHER FOR "WOODY."

As if Lynn Woodworth's troubles were not enough at Business, he will now have to find another second baseman to take the place of Lester Singman, who chipped a bone in his ankle the day before yesterday. Singman had been looked upon to guard the keystone sack for the Stenogs this spring.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

ALEXANDRIA, Va., March 11.—Alexandria High School Basket Ball Team returned home today after being defeated in the finals for the State championship, in class B, at the University of Virginia. Buchanan High School, who defeated the winners, have won 22 consecutive games, and their shooting and passing was beyond the average in class B basket ball. Coach Reynolds stated today that he would immediately start to work on baseball and track. Good teams in both sports is the outlook at the present.

Only a few more games remain on the St. Mary's Celtics schedule this season in basket ball, and they will turn their thoughts to baseball. The Celtics have played 52 games in basket ball this season, winning 49 of them.

Paul Travers, an Alexandria High School graduate, after staring in two sports, football and basket ball, in his freshman year at the Virginia Military Institute, will probably give up baseball and track for his studies the remainder of the year. He captained the freshman basket ball team and led the team to a fairly successful year. He is being groomed to fill the shoes of Al Hawkins, last year's captain of the football team. His work next season on the varsity teams will be watched with interest by Alexandria fans.

Varsity and Freshmen Boxers Meet at W. & L.

Special to The Washington Post.

Lexington, Va., March 11.—Washington and Lee's freshmen and varsity pugilists swap blows in a card of seven bouts at Doremus gymnasium, here, at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night.

Led by Capt. Julian Black and Captain-elect Johnny Sloshburg, the Varsity mittmen take on the Little Generals in the last home attraction of the winter sports season.

$10,000 Gift to V. P. I. To Aid Stadium Work

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., March 11.—C. P. Miles, director of athletics at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, this week announced a gift of $10,000 by Gordon Lefebvre, class of 1913, to be used in completing the construction of Miles Stadium, the new V. P. I. athletic field. This amount is to be expended the coming summer in building concrete stands on the east side of the big horseshoe.

Gordon Lefebvre, the donor, has been prominently identified with V. P. I. alumni activities for the past decade. He contributed generously to the funds used in building the World War Memorial Hall and gymnasium at the college several years ago. He is one of the most talented of the younger engineers who have gone out from V. P. I. and now, while still in his thirties, is serving as vice president in charge of operations of the Oakland Motor Car Co., at Pontiac, Mich.

The $10,000 gift will start a fund of this nature with which the college athletic association hopes to complete Miles Stadium in the near future.

Virginia Suspends Spring Grid Drills

Charlottesville, Va., March 11.—Earl Abell, Virginia's head coach of football, has suspended the spring gridiron drills for two weeks. They will be resumed on March 24 at the end of the second term examination period.

Several weeks of intensive football drill are planned by Coach Abell. Two, possibly three, teams will be organized, and a series of games will be played between these elevens during April. Coach Abell has been giving his charges the plays they will use next fall, and he wants the men to have an opportunity to use these in action.

Lack of a practice field will handicap spring football when it is resumed. With varsity and first-year baseball, track and lacrosse teams drilling on Lambeth Field each afternoon, the gridders will be crowded into a corner for part of each afternoon.

W. & M. NINE GETS EARLY START

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., March 11. With nine letter men back from last year and a host of candidates from last year's undefeated freshman team out, William and Mary's baseball squad has already a week's practice under its belt. Spring weather and a resurfaced diamond have aided the Indians in getting an early start for their first game with Drexel Institute here on March 23.

Battery candidates began their third week of practice today, having been tossing them over in the gymnasium since the last week in February. Wallace, Indian ace and captain; Scott and Rux, of the 1929 pitching staff, will be supplemented by Sundin, Milcrist, Griffith and Syer, all sophomores.

McBride, from Tech High, Washington, and Maxey, the great Indian half back, are making strong bids for the infield positions at first and second, which are held by the veterans, Scammon and Silverman.

Meet Prominent Teams On Long Schedule.

Goldblatt, Broderick and B. Bauserman are expected to assist Ferrell, the only veteran catcher, behind the plate. Ryan, at short, and Sauerbrun, on the hot corner, have the sophomores F. Mozeleski, Parker and Demerest to contend with for positions.

William and Mary has a 26-game schedule, including, besides State foes, games with Harvard, Boston College, Princeton and pending engagements with Lafayette and University of Penn. The Indians are defending champions of both the State and Virginia Conference titles, having been undefeated within the State last year, under the wing of Coach "Cy" Young.

"Bing" Miller to Wed Society Girl on Sunday

Fort Myers, Fla., March 11 (A.P.).—Edmund J. "Bing" Miller, heavy hitting outfielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, and Miss Helen F. Bennett, Philadelphia society girl, will be married here Sunday morning at St. Xavier Catholic Church, it was learned today when Miller failed to join the squad on an exhibition trip.

Miss Bennett is a keen baseball fan and has known Mr. Miller for seven years. Their engagement was made known last Christmas, but plans for the marriage were secret until today. Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Rommell will attend the couple at the wedding.

CELTICS WIN ALEXANDRIA CROWN

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., March 11.—Defeating Knight's Store, 28-27, in a bitterly fought game before a large crowd in the Armory here tonight, the St. Mary's Celtics clinched the championship of the Alexandria Basket Ball League.

The victory gives the Celtics a record of five wins and no losses, while Knight's Store is in second place with three wins and two losses.

The result was in doubt until the final minute with Knight's Store trailing closely after losing the lead in the early part of the first quarter. A field goal that would have given Knight's victory

STOCK PRICES CLIMB IN ACTIVE TURNOVER

GENERAL MOTORS RISES

New York, March 11 (A.P.).—The bull contingent encountered increasing opposition in today's brief session of the stock market, but waded gingerly through the rising flood of liquidation. Scores of issues were pushed further into new high ground for the year, and although there were sharp setbacks in spots, gains slightly outweighed the losses.

The price index of 90 leading shares closed 4-10 of a point higher at 188.4, the highest since last October, and slightly less than 10 points below the level of a year ago. Trading was the swiftest seen since December, and the ticker was delayed as much as half an hour for the first time this year. For the 2½-hour session sales totaled 2,635,500 shares. The market closed at 12:30 p. m. in respect to the memory of former President Taft.

The approach of the midmonth tax settlement date and continued uneasiness in some quarters lest the market had more than discounted the improvement in industry contributed largely to the selling. Tax settlement dates are likely to cause firm monetary conditions, and normally are preceded by a moderate amount of liquidation. Furthermore, about $80,000,000 worth of new securities come due for payment this week. Call money was firmer, renewing at 4 per cent and failing to recede to 3½ as it did yesterday. Interior banks were said to be drawing at this center.

Bank Loans at $96,000,000.

The consolidated statement of the weekly reporting Federal Reserve member banks showed the first substantial increase in loans on securities this year, amounting to $96,000,000, approximately equivalent to the gain of $94,000,000 in brokers' loans reported for the same period. This probably reflected the growing public participation in the market.

There appears to have been a sudden awakening to the fact that it is considerably less costly to carry stocks currently yielding, say 5 per cent, with call money averaging 4, than it was to carry stocks a year ago yielding around 3 per cent with call loans commanding an average rate of about 9 per cent. A favorable feature of the bank statement was an increase in commercial loans for the first time in weeks, which may reflect increasing activity.

Among important stocks reaching new high levels for the recovery, General Motors was conspicuous, selling up 1½ points, to 45⅝. Since the split up of the shares more than a year ago, creating approximately 43,000,000 shares, market operators have found this capitalization rather unwieldy for their purposes, but old-time sponsors of the stock are understood to have renewed operations, feeling that the current low levels are unjustified. Radio sold up nearly a point to a new top, at 53¼, then lost its gain.

Utilities Ease Slightly.

Utilities were mostly inclined to ease, but Electric Power & Light was a firm spot, rising more than 5 points, to a new 1930 high. Most of the steels moved in narrow ranges, but Inland jumped 6 points to a new top. Wall street gossip has it slated to become a part of the Republic combine. Other issues reaching new peak levels for the year included Du Pont, Coca Cola, Underwood Elliott, Reynolds Tobacco B, Philip Morris, Union Carbide, Timken Roller Bearing, Packard, Chicago Pneumatic, Real Silk Hosiery, and Weston Instrument. Estimates indicating a further reduction in crude oil production last week stimulated bullish activity in the lower priced oils. Barnsdall A, Atlantic Refining, American Republics, Rio Grande, Amerada and Texas Pacific Land climbed 1 to 3 points, to new top levels for 1930.

Simmons and U. S. Industrial Alcohol were again selected as targets for bearish operations, and hammered down about 5 and 8 points, the former to a new low for the year. Fashion Park sagged to its previous low on passing of the dividend. Air Reduction, Byers, Case, Hershey Chocolate, International Cement, Indian Refining, Loews, and Mexican Seaboard were among issues reacting 2 to 5 points.

Commodity markets were irregular. Cotton rallied from $1 to $1.50 a bale, as firmer Liverpool quotations prompted covering. Wheat, however, was again under pressure. The July positions lost nearly 2 cents more, selling close to $1.05 a bushel.

LIVE FOREIGN BONDS SCORE MANY GAINS

AMUSEMENT SHARES UP

New York, March 11 (A.P.).—Accumulation of foreign bonds proceeded vigorously in today's short market session, with the result that many issues in this group broke their previous high marks for the year or longer.

Much of the recent buying of dollar obligations of foreign governments, states, corporations and municipalities has come from abroad, and the impressive response to these inquiries indicates that floating supplies are rather limited. The current of this group is received with considerable enthusiasm in investment circles in view of the fact that the flotation of several important foreign loans, including the reparations issue, has been awaiting signs of definite market improvement.

Domestic rails rose rather easily during the 2½ hours of trading, and new highs were numerous. Utilities took an upward course, while the industrials held steady. United States Governments, none of which is now at a discount, were very quiet, but the Treasury 4¼s rose to the new 1930 high of 113.

Latin-American Issues Rise.

Latin-American issues, which offer substantial yields, moved in some volume and were almost uniformly higher. Brazil 8s touched par, the highest price in months. New tops for the year or longer also appeared in Buenos Aires 6s, most of the Argentine 6s, Chile Mortgage Bank 6s, Bolivia 8s, Peru first 6s, Rio Janeiro 6½s, Rio Grande do Sul 7s and others. Among the European government and municipal bonds, Italian Kingdom 7s, Dresden City 7s, Berlin City Electric 6½s of 1959, and Milan 6½s exceeded their previous highs.

Trading in the rails reflected the favorable sentiment toward all divisions of this group and a miscellaneous assortment, especially the high grade bonds, was bid up to peak prices. This movement embraced Chicago & Alton 3s, Chicago & Northwestern 4¾s, Rock Island general 4s, Great Northern 5½s, Canadian Pacific 4s, Denver & Rio Grande Western 6s, Louisville & Nashville collateral 5s, and Missouri, Kansas, Texas first 4s. New York Central 3½s rallied 1⅝, Southern Railway general 6s and Union Pacific refunding 4s rose ⅞ each.

Amusement company bonds made further gains. Keith Corporation 6s advanced 3 points and Shubert 6s and Pathe 7s, 1 each. Loew's 6s sold off 1⅜ to 120.

Obligations of cement manufacturers declined, North American Cement 6½s losing 3 points and Penn Dixie 6s 1 point. Otherwise the industrials were able to absorb selling rather easily, although fractional net declines came out in Armour 4½s, American Smelting 5s and a few others. Shell Union Oil 5s, well supported, improved half a point.

Utilities Are Active.

Buying of utilities was fairly active Utah Power & Light 5s, Peoples Gas of Chicago 6s, New Orleans Public Service 5s and American Telephone 5s of 1965 rose ¼ to ½.

Bonds with stock conversion privileges were dull. American Telephone 4½s, unchanged; International Telephone 4½s and New Haven 6s, up ¾, and the new Alleghany Corporation 5s led in activity. The last named issue closed at 97¾, against the offering price of 97.

Today's offering of three-year 5½ per cent gold notes of the Baldwin Locomotive Co., totaling $12,000,000, was oversubscribed. A New York syndicate, bidding 97.32, won a $4,260,000 new issue of Chicago, Milwaukee, St Paul & Pacific Railroad 4½ per cent equipment trust certificates.

Public offering will be made tomorrow of an issue of $5,500,000 Laclede Gas Light Co. first mortgage collateral and refunding 5½ per cent bonds, series D, at par and interest. The bonds mature February 1, 1960.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, March 11 (A.P.).—Fizzling out of crop scare reports today did much to tumble wheat down to new bottom prices for the current season. July and September contracts, representing wheat yet to be harvested, were much more depressed than March and May, which stand for wheat ready to be milled at once. Dust storms today in Nebraska and persistent dry weather in Kansas aroused more anxiety among traders, but no actual serious crop damage to wheat was reported.

Closing quotations on wheat were heavy, ¾@2¼c net lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1c off to 1c up, with oats varying from ⅛c decline to ⅛@¼c advance and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Lowest prices of the day in the wheat market here, and also for the season so far, came just before dealings were ended. To some extent the setbacks were due to increased weakness of values at Winnipeg and Liverpool. May wheat at Liverpool having dropped to 11⅛ under the same month in Chicago, with export demand for North American wheat showing no improvement. Meanwhile, Canada was reported to be completing deals with Argentina and Australia in efforts to capture the small amount of European business available. In addition, there were advices that in Germany farmers were in a desperate plight, and that further government measures restricting grain shipments into Germany are impending.

Contributing to a selling movement on the Chicago wheat market was the fact that official figures relative to farm reserve stocks of domestic wheat were larger than had generally been expected. On the other hand, more or less unfavorable crop conditions in Nebraska and Kansas, as well as some other States, acted at times as a rally influence. A good deal of notice was also taken of statements from Farm Board officials that there is no intention of sending United States wheat abroad at prices lower than those which American millers are now paying. Nevertheless buying power dwindled toward the last, and the finish was near to the bottommost level reached.

Rye collapsed with wheat, and sold at prices not touched before since July, 1914. Corn broke the current season's low-price record. A bearish factor was that farm stocks of corn in eight States were shown to be larger than at this time last year. Oats sympathized with weakness of other grain.

Provisions were responsive to upturns in the value of hogs.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—May, 1.06⅝ @1.07, 1.12¾@1.12⅝; July, 1.01@1.01⅛, 1.07⅝@1.07⅜; September, 1.03¼@1.03⅜. Corn—May, 79¼@79⅝, 82¼; July, 80½, 84½; September, 81⅞, 84¾.

BANK NAMES WOMAN TO CASHIER POSITION

Mrs. M. L. Wallace Chosen Along With R. R. Lizzi for Promotion.

BECKER GLASS OFFICERS

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Another woman, the second within a week's time, has become a local bank official, appointment of Mrs. M. L. Wallace, as an assistant cashier of the Departmental Bank having been announced yesterday by J. T. Exnicios, its president, who also announced appointment of R. R. Lizzi to the same position.

Mrs. Wallace came to the bank from the Marine Trust Co. of Buffalo, N. Y., several years ago as a bookkeeper, subsequently becoming general ledger bookkeeper and now in charge of the loan and discount department.

Mr. Lizzi entered the service of the bank about seven years ago as individual bookkeeper and has filled the positions of general bookkeeper, receiving teller, note teller and paying teller.

Other Women in Banking.

Other women holding official positions in Washington banking are Miss Mary J. Winfree, president of the Bank Women's Club of Washington, who was formerly secretary of the Continental Trust Co., and now an assistant cashier of the Commercial National Bank; Miss E. M. Michael, an assistant cashier of the North Capitol Savings Bank, and Mrs. M. H. Buckingham, elected secretary of the Washington Mechanics Savings Bank last Wednesday.

Net earnings of $28,806,824.10 for 1929, compared with $24,402,753.07 in 1928, are revealed in the fortieth annual report of the North American Co., holding company for the Washington Railway & Electric, and Potomac Electric Power Cos., and other public utility properties in California and areas centering in Milwaukee, St. Louis and Cleveland.

Gross earnings increased 9.02 per cent over the year 1928. Net income from operation increased 10.76 per cent over the previous yar, reflecting the decrease, from 52.49 per cent for 1928 to 51.73 per cent for 1929, in the proportion of gross earnings required for operating expenses, maintenance and taxes. Appropriations for depreciation reserves amounted to 10.75 per cent of gross earnings and were equivalent to $2.91 per share on the average number of shares of North American common stock outstanding during the year. After deducting depreciation and all other reserves, the balance for dividends and surplus amounted to $28,806,824, of which $1,820,034 was paid in dividends on North American preferred stock.

The balance of $26,986,790, after all preferred dividends, is an increase of 19.50 per cent over the previous year, and is equivalent to $5.03 per share on the average number of shares of North American common stock outstanding during 1929, compared with $4.68 per share on the average number of shares outstanding during 1928. Under your company's policy of paying dividends on its common stock in common stock, the entire balance of $26,986,790 is available for investment in the business. On December 31, 1929, reserves were $113,690,322. Undivided profits amounted to $96,387,457, and capital surplus to $28,951,785, total surplus being $125,339,242.

At the annual meeting of stockholders of the Becker Paint & Glass Co. all officers and trustees were reelected. They are: W. R. Winslow, president; Joseph C. Klinge, secretary; V. O. Schooley, treasurer. The foregoing, with L. A. Smithers, are trustees.

Robert H. Lacey, assistant cashier, Columbia National Bank, and chairman of the membership committee of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, reports this year's campaign has secured more than 800 members, as against 761 in 1929.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, March 11 (A.P.).—The cotton market was generally firmer today on trade buying and covering which appeared to be coupled with some buying for a reaction promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables and talk of a firmer technical position after recent severe declines. Fluctuations were somewhat irregular, but the market showed increasing firmness in the late trading with May selling up to 14.41 and closing at 14.39.

The opening was steady at an advance of 8 to 22 points in response to the relatively firm Liverpool cables. The buying met considerable realizing or liquidation, but it was absorbed on slight setbacks with the market showing net advances of about 17 to 25 points during the middle of the morning. It still seemed to be meeting some cotton, but the comparatively light offerings were absorbed on setbacks of 8 or 10 points and the market firmed up again later with March advancing to 14.19 and the old October contracts to 14.66. These prices represented net advances of about 24 to 31 points on the old contracts and the close was within a point or two of the best. New contracts were relatively easy, but sold about 20 points net higher.

Private cable advices from Manchester said that the report of the International Cotton Manufacturers Organization showed world's consumption of American cotton for the first half of this season amounting to 7,083,000 bales, compared with 7,463,000 for the six months ended July 31, 1929. World's consumption of all kinds, according to this report, however, amounted to 13,202,000 for the first six months of this season, compared with 13,014,000 for the preceding six months and there were rather conflicting comments on the showing. Some were inclined to consider it bearish on American cotton, while others emphasized the heavy consumption of all growths as an indication of world requirements.

Liverpool cables reported covering, continental and Bombay buying in that market. Exports today, 19,148, making 5,595,868 so far this season. Port receipts, 13,343. United States port stocks, 2,039,140.

Curb Review

New York, March 11 (A.P.).—Extreme irregularity in price movement developed in today's abbreviated session of the curb market, with many of the leaders doing little more than marking time. Pools succeeded in marking up about a score of specialties to new high levels for the year, but efforts to extend the advance in some of the public utilities and other leaders were met with heavy profit taking.

Electric Bond & Share, selling ex-dividend, closed at 100 for a small fractional gain. Cities Service closed unchanged at 39⅛. Middle West Utilities crossed 36 to a new peak for the year, while Electric Power & Light optional warrants were marked up more than 5 points to a new peak at 50¼ in sympathy with a rise in the stock on the "Big Board." American & Foreign Power warrants, American Gas & Electric and Cleveland Electric Illuminating dropped a point or more.

Revival of rumors of new consolidations in the natural gas field stimulated the demand for United Gas, which was bid up 2¾ points to 36.

A sudden outburst of buying in New York, Rio & Buenos Aires carried that stock up more than 2 points to within a small fraction of the year's high. Fokker advanced nearly a point to a new 1930 top, but the other aviation issues showed only small fractional changes.

With the exception of Humble, which advanced 1¾ points, the oils made little response to the drop of more than 80,000 barrels in the daily average of crude oil production last week. The demand for the investment trust, trading and corporation issues tapered off, with several of the leaders showing moderate net declines.

New peak prices for the year were registered by American Cigar, Chain Store Development, Gorham, Inc., preferred, Midvale Co. of Delaware, Schiff Co. and Starrett Corporation. Federal Screw and Hartford Electric (new) were among the few issues to sell at new low levels for the year.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

In making inquiries address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Industrial Credit Corporation.

E. W. W.—I am desirous of knowing if you would recommend the bond and share unit of the Industrial Credit Corporation of America as a safe investment.

Answer—Outside of United States Government bonds, there are very few investments that are to be considered as absolutely "safe." The company you speak of is only recently organized and its securities have only very lately been offered for public consumption. In other words, the securities are not yet in what is termed in general financial parlance as "seasoned" issues.

Moreover, the company has not yet published any statement of income account, nor balance sheet. It is therefore impossible at this writing to determine precisely what is behind the securities in the way of earning power, dividend prospects, &c. In the absence of such essential information, the writer of this column prefers to withhold judgment as to the present or prospect merits of these securities as an investment.

Two Companies.

H. S.—Please give me your opinion of Grigsby-Grunow and Paramount Cab Mfg. Co. stocks.

Answer—There are many rumors of impending difficulties confronting the Grigsby-Grunow, which, while not given much credence, have none the less detracted from the shares. Moreover, there is severe competition in the radio field, and it now looks to be a case of "the survival of the fittest" in this industry. Latest balance sheet, however, indicated company is in a strong financial condition.

Paramount Cab is selling very low compared to its annual dividend of $2.40 a share. This may and may not foreshadow unfavorable dividend action later on. For the year ended September 30, 1929, Paramount and subsidiaries earned $4.46 a share, based on 250,000 no par shares, but the company, excluding profits from subsidiaries, earned only $1.38 a share in the first nine months of last year. The stock is regarded as a speculative investment.

American Agricultural Chemical.

P. M.—I shall be obliged if you will advise me whether or not to keep my holdings in American Agricultural Chemical Co. common stock and as to what the prospects for the company for 1930.

Answer — American Agricultural Chemical is emerging from the depression in the industry which has been in evidence the past few years. The outlook is brightening, as the company is putting through economies and expansion in nonfertilizer products, chiefly chemicals, is bringing about better income. For the twelve months ended June 30, 1929, company earned $2.47 a share on the preferred, compared with a loss of nearly $2,000,000 in the 1927 fiscal year. However, no dividend is paid on the preferred at present.

Company is in strong financial position, with net working capital of $23,555,000. Management is good and includes as directors bankers connected with the biggest institutions in the country. While highly speculative, prospects for the common appear fairly good for the long pull.

Mountain States Electric.

H. B.—I am writing for information concerning Mountain States Electric.

Answer—Gross revenues last year increased 7 per cent when compared with the preceding year, but net earnings were slightly lower. For last year $10.24 a share was earned, compared with $10.69 in 1928. Recent increase in stock capitalization of nearly 100,000 shares will enable the company to pay off a large part of the loans made to it by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. Dividends are $8 annually, making the stock an attractive investment.

Omnibus Corporation.

H. B. C.—I am writing for facts concerning the Omnibus Corporation and the Bullard Co. Which of the two has the better outlook?

Answer—From the standpoint of income on your money, Bullard would appear to be the most desirable, as it pays $1.60 a year in dividends, and at present prices yields nearly 4 per cent. The outlook for the company has been helped by its new process for metal finishing. It is particularly adapted to the scaling of casting and holds much promise.

Through the use of an electrical chemical bath, it performs functions which in the past were possible only by sand blasting and "pickling," the cost of which is large. Bullard now licenses out this process on a royalty basis. The stock is regarded as possessing attractiveness. Earnings of Omnibus has not been satisfactory, and as the stock is a nondividend payer, it must be regarded as a speculation.

Mack Trucks.

G. H.—What can you tell me about Mack Trucks?

Answer—Mack is the largest manufacturer of heavy motor trucks. It also makes buses, motor coaches, fighting fire apparatus equipment, rail motor cars and gas-electric buses. The present $6 annual dividend has been paid since 1923. Earnings last year were $9.05 a share, contrasted with $7.83 for 1928.

The higher income was accomplished on an increase of only 2 per cent in net sales. Production schedule for 1930 is expected to be about on a par with that of 1929. The stock may be classed as a speculative investment.

Congoleum-Nairn, Remington.

D. C.—What is your opinion of Congoleum-Nairn and Remington Arms?

Answer—While Congoleum-Nairn appears to be under good management, no dividend is paid on the stock, making it speculative. Earnings of Remington Arms last year were about $3 a share, but the new ammunition price schedule now in effect, is calculated to add about $1,000,000 to profits in 1930, which would mean earnings in the neighborhood of $6 a share. In view of the outlook, Remington may be regarded as possessing some attractiveness.

Aviation.

A. C. R.—In your opinion which aviation corporation has the best future?

Answer—In the present state of the aviation industry, it is obvibusly very difficult to determine which company engaged in that line of endeavor has the best future, as the matter is entirely of speculation or guesswork. However, as the premier company in the industry, the Curtiss Wright Aeroplane Co. would appear to have the most promising prospects. No dividend has as yet been paid on its shares, but provision has been made for a distribution on the class "A" issue. As a matter of fact, it has been expected for a considerable time past that such a payment would be made prior to this.

From an investment viewpoint, just now, Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor common, paying $2 yearly dividends and Curtiss Aeroplane & Export preferred, paying $6 yearly, are the most attractive in the Curtiss group. However, viewed from the long pull angle, Curtiss Wright series "A" looks the most attractive.

TALES THAT ARE TOLD WHERE VETERANS GATHER---NOW TO BE PUBLISHED IN

The Washington Post.

One of the strangest phenomena of the World War has been the reluctance of veterans to talk about their experiences—excepting when in the company of those who shared their hardships and dangers and the occasional bright spots of humorous occurrences.

Now the silence is to be broken—veterans themselves will tell of the outstanding memories of happenings in which they participated; in the training camps, on shipboard, in the training areas of France and England and on the field of battle. Short, punchy stories, in the language of the soldier, sailor and marine, giving an intimate glimpse of life as it was in the stirring years of 1917-1918.

Beginning Sunday, March 16

I had always liked to read the stories of Irvin Cobb but had scant hope of ever meeting him face to face. However, I came pretty close to it early in 1918 when the Twenty-sixth Division was stationed in the Chemin Des Dames sector.

I had been sent with a ration detail to the storehouse, an old rubber factory opposite the railroad station, in Soissons and was gold-bricking on top of a pile of hay when I saw Maj. Estey, of the 101st Engineers, walking through the yard with a man whom I recognized from pictures as Irvin Cobb himself. Just as they arrived within saluting distance I heard the freight train roar of a German 9-inch shell coming . . . Cobb and the major disappeared from sight—but maybe it was because I had dived into the center of the hay bales.

Help Your Post

Resolve that your post is going to get that $100 prize that this newspaper will give the Veteran's organization from which the greatest number of ancedotes is received. Remember that you yourself, whether or not a member of a veteran's organization, will be paid $1 for each story printed (send in as many as you want) and a prize of $5 will be given for the best story each week . . . Write on one side of a sheet of paper only, typewrite if possible. Be sure to include the name of your war-time unit . . . Let's go!

NOTE: This offer also applies to women's service organizations.

Atten-SHUN!

VETERAN ORGANIZATIONS

$100 WILL BE PAID to the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars or Disabled Veterans Post from which the greatest number of war ancedotes are received during the period from now until April 16 at 9 p. m. . . . $1 will be paid to individual veterans for each story published and $5 will be awarded for the best story published each week . . . Make them short, boys—100 to 150 words—don't worry about grammar or spelling, it's only the story that counts. Pick out your own subject, adventurous, romantic or tragic. Include the name of the outfit with which you served and your ex-service man's organization and send your story or stories to the "War Story Editor"—

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

GAMBLING DEVICES AND LIQUOR SEIZED IN SERIES OF RAIDS

OCCUPANTS GET AWAY BY LADDER AT WINDOW

Gambling paraphernalia and a large quantity of liquor were seized by the vice squad in a series of sensational raids late yesterday.

The raid on the alleged gambling den was the most spectacular of the series, the police having to batter down a 14-inch concrete wall to gain entrance. The occupants of the alleged gambling place which, police say, was located in the rear of the second floor of a place on Ninth street northwest near D street, escaped by rear doors down a ladder. Black Jack tables and horse racing slips were seized.

The other raids conducted by the squad resulted in the seizure of liquor. Working on information, the police stationed themselves in front of a house on Chapin street northwest near Fourteenth. As a car drove up the squad surrounded it, but the occupant, Eugene P. Smith, 29 years old, drove through their ranks crashing against a stone wall nearby in an attempt to escape.

Proprietor Being Sought.

The police say they found 226 quarts of liquor in Smith's machine which they seized. The squad also took possession of a roadster in front of the Chapin street address which they said contained liquor.

When the squad arrived at a Le Droit place residence they found only one occupant, who gave his name as Irwin Achey, of Florida avenue, near Eighth street northeast.

The squad, after a search, seized 56 quarts of liquor and arrested Achey on a disorderly conduct charge when he attempted to incite several hundred colored persons to attack the raiding squad. The police are now searching for the proprietor of the Le Droit place speakeasy.

Several Are Arrested.

Other raids conducted included the seizure of six quarts of liquor at a Brooks court northwest house. Milton Guy was charged with sale and possession. Two quarts of liquor were seized at a Twelfth street residence near U street northwest. Fred Lockett was charged with sale and possession.

The raiders included Sergt. Oscar J. Letterman, head of the vice squad, and Detectives R. J. Cox, James A. Mostyn and F. A. Truscott.

In a raid staged by police of two precincts, Herman Winters, colored, 37 years old, of W street near Third street northwest, was arrested in his home early last night on charges of sale of three drinks and possession of 14 gallons of liquor. He was booked at the Eighth Precinct Station by Policeman J. W. Cook and Seventh Precinct Policeman D. B. Pittman, the latter of whom was said to have made a purchase from the Negro.

Divorce Suit Filed Against M. E. Dyer

Declaring that her husband does not remain sober for more than six weeks, even after hospital treatment, Mrs. Cecelia N. Dyer, of 3101 Woodley road northwest, filed suit for limited divorce yesterday in District Supreme Court against Maurice Elmer Dyer, said to be a sales manager for Harry Wardman or some of his companies.

The wife tells the court that during practically all their married life he has been associated with the Wardman enterprises, having been manager of the Wardman Park Hotel and the Carlton, and having held responsible positions with the same organization in the realty field. His salary, she asserts, is between $15,000 and $20,000 a year.

She alleges, however, that although for two years she handled the family finances with money he contributed, since January 1 he has only given her $200. Mrs. Dyer asks that the husband be restrained from entering or visiting the Woodley road premises; that she be awarded custody of the three children, and that she be granted adequate alimony. Attorney Stanley D. Willis appears for her.

Man Hurt in Bus Crash Files Suit for $10,000

Alleging he was permanently injured as the result of a collision while riding as a passenger in a motor coach between Washington and Baltimore on December 30, last, Harry Finkelstein, of 500 Twelfth street northeast, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court against the Nevin Bus Line, of 1421 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, seeking to recover $10,000 damages.

Finkelstein asserts that the driver of the motor coach failed to exercise reasonable care and neglected to operate the vehicle at a reasonable speed, and as a result the bus collided with another automobile. The plaintiff declares he was thrown about in the bus and was severely bruised and shocked. Attorney Goldie S. Paregol appears for the plaintiff.

ALBERT M. PATTERSON DIES.

Word has just been received of the death of Albert Mansfield Patterson, one of the leading textile manufacturers, in New York on March 6. Death was attributed to heart disease. Mr. Patterson, who was 55 years old, was well known in Washington, and leaves a sister, Mrs. Eleanor Patterson Mulliken, of 2019 Q street northwest.

Mr. Patterson was the president of several textile companies, and during the World War he was chief of the foreign wool section of the War Industries Board. He was a native of Mr. Patterson was the son of Mrs. A. M. Patterson, a resident of Washington for many years and president of the Washington Home for Incurables at her death in 1906.

Club Hears Talk On Forest Service

Special to The Washington Post.

Gordonsville, Va., March 11.—In an address before the Central Community Club, of Louisa County, at Cuckoo tonight, Max Fletcher, president of the State Association of Izaak Walton League Chapters in Virginia, strongly advocated the State forest service plan for the acquisition and management of State demonstration forests.

Approximately 62 per cent of the total area of the State, Mr. Fletcher stated, is forest and waste land. The Izaak Walton League, he said, while it recognized the importance of all welfare interests in the State, stressed the great importance and industrial necessity for stabilizing forestation, which he stated could be accomplished only under State control. Such control, he continued, must provide against destruction by fire, by unfair taxation, waste in lumbering methods and other destructive measures.

Col. John Q. Rhodes, representative in the House of Delegates from Louisa County, made an address on results of the work of the General Assembly.

$1,000,000 IN BEQUEST

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., March 11.—Establishment of the Triplett Business College, a vocational school of college grade to prepare young men for a business career, at Mount Jackson, Shenandoah County, is provided for in the will of Dr. Joseph Irwin Triplett, banker, miller and capitalist, who died last Thursday at his home at Mount Jackson.

After bequests of $35,000 to nieces and nephews, the residue of the estate, estimated at between $750,000 and $1,000,000, goes to the college fund. The will specifies that $250,000 be expended for buildings and equipment of a plant to accommodate not less than 250 students. The college is to be located on a 17-acre tract in Mount Jackson, devised for the purpose.

The college is designed for "worthy young men" of Virginia, North and South Carolina, and of Jefferson, Hampshire, Berkley, Hardy, Grant and Pendleton Counties of West Virginia. The will indicates that those applying for free scholarships reside in the areas mentioned. The will makes no mention of the curriculum of the institution.

Two nephews, Herbert Trotter, of Woodstock, and J. I. Triplett, jr., of Jacksonville, Fla.; Herbert Verhencamp, a business associate at Mount Jackson, and F. S. Tavener, jr., Woodstock, attorney, are designated as trustees of the college.

The Triplett Flour Mill and Electric Light Plants at Woodstock and Dr. Triplett's varied business interests in Shenandoah County are to be operated by the State, all profits accruing going into the college endowment. Valuable Jacksonville, Fla., real estate owned by Dr. Triplett is to be sold and the money given to the college. Depreciation of the properties since the will was written in 1927 hold the college fund below the $750,000 mark.

Dr. Triplett was graduated in medicine upon his return from the Civil War. He practiced only five years, then entering the milling business. During his 65 years of active business he operated a half dozen flour mills, installed the first hydroelectric plant in the Shenandoah Valley, founded the Mount Jackson National Bank, and was the pioneer orchardist in the Mount Jackson area. He was never married.

Winchester May Hold Apple Festival Earlier

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., March 11.—The annual Shenandoah apple blossom festival, inaugurated here seven years ago, may be held earlier than usual this spring, it was predicted today by apple growers, who say sap already has started in the trees and that there is prospect of orchards blossoming before the middle of April if the present mild weather continues.

Heretofore the celebration has been held the latter part of April or the first week of May. In consequence of the continued abnormal weather committees of the festival organization have been urged to speed up their work and have plans in shape for quick execution. Orchard men said that once sap begins to flow in the trunks and limbs of trees there is nothing to check it, and that blossoming is sure to follow in a comparatively short time.

St. John's Students Aid In Fight on Campus Fire

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 11.—A large group of St. John's College students, assisted volunteer firemen of Annapolis in battling a blaze that broke out in McDowell Hall, oldest of the buildings on the college campus, shortly before 3 o'clock this morning.

The fire, thought to have been caused by a cigarette, started in a sofa in the clubroom of the student's union in the basement of the building. It was discovered by Frederick Yerkes, of Florida, student, in a nearby dormitory, who aroused other students and spread the alarm. Firemen soon had control of the fimes, although for a time, the structure appeared seriously threatened.

Washingtonian's Mother Is Buried at Lynchburg

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., March 11.—Funeral services for Mrs. Carrie T. App, widow of C. P. App, who died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leonard A. Jones, in Richmond, were held this morning at Holy Cross Catholic Church, of which she was a member.

Mrs. App had been a resident of Lynchburg 35 years, but was visiting her daughter in Richmond when her death occurred. She is survived by seven children, among whom are Leo App, of Washington.

NEW SCHOOL SOUGHT BY ROCKVILLE GROUP

Montgomery Board Is Urged to Provide Another Bethesda Teacher.

W. E. TURTON IS BURIED

Two delegations appeared before the Montgomery County Board of Education yesterday to urge improvements in the schools serving their neighborhoods.

One delegation was composed of representatives of the Rockville Parent-Teacher Association, Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, Woman's Club and Inquiry Club. The group urged that a new elementary school be erected for the Rockville children. The institution of a kindergarten course at the Rockville School also was urged.

The Bethesda Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association urged through a delegation, that an additional first-grade teacher be provided for that school and approved action of the board in announcing that a new school will be built at Alta Vista.

Both requests were taken under consideration by the board. The date for the annual field day for children of the white schools was announced as Saturday, May 3.

Funeral services for William E. Turton, who was fatally injured Monday afternoon when he fell from the roof of his home at 919 Sligo avenue Silver Spring, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence. The Rev. Ralph Smith, pastor of the Woodside M. E. Church, and Dr. Charles Butler, pastor of the Columbia Heights Lutheran Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Rock Creek Cemetery. Services at the grave will be conducted by the Silver Spring Masonic Lodge.

Mr. Turton was repairing the roof of his home Monday when he slipped and fell a distance of about 50 feet to the ground. He died about an hour later. He was 70 years old and was a native of Washington. He had been a resident of Silver Spring since 1918.

The Montgomery County Commissioners yesterday approved the contract with Delos H. Smith and Thomas Edwards, architects, entered into by the Montgomery County general courthouse building committee. Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, counsel to the commissioners, had declared the contract legal in an opinion handed to the commissioners yesterday. The contract was given with the understanding that it would not be binding unless approved by the counsel.

The architects have been instructed to proceed with detailed plans, some of which have been tentatively approved. Work is progressing satisfactorily on the demolition of the structures on the square west of the present courthouse at Rockville, which is to be the site of the new courthouse building. Capt. Cissel also approved the contract with H. L. England for the clearing of this square.

The commissioners adopted the final resolutions confirming the sale of $250,000 in certificates of indebtedness to Gillet & Co. The funds are to be used for the construction of streets and sidewalks in the suburban area and will be paid off by front-foot benefit assessments, payable in five equal annual installments.

A plan and deed to the road leading from Colesville pike to the old Bladensburg road was accepted. The road connects Seven Oaks with Clifton Park and other adjacent subdivisions recently developed.

The county police court collected $792 fines and costs in criminal cases and $90.25 costs in civil cases, the report of John Culver, clerk of the police court, for February shows. The sum of $406 represents motor vehicle violation fines and is to be forwarded to the commissioner of motor vehicles in Baltimore.

The quarterly report of J. Forest Walker, county treasurer, was filed yesterday with the clerk to the county commissioners and recorded in the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court.

Work on the recreation center for Takoma Park, which has been given over to the jurisdiction of the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission for development, will begin early next week, according to Irving C. Root, chief engineer of the planning commission.

The Takoma Park Town Council at a meeting Monday night adopted a resolution authorizing the relinquishment of jurisdiction by the town and the assumption of authority by the planning commission. The formal presentation of the deed to the property probably will be made at this week's meeting of the park and planning commission.

The town council also adopted as a town ordinance the building regulations promulgated by the planning commission for the metropolitan area of Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties, in both of which there are portions of the town.

William Buckley Dies; Author of History Book

Staunton, Va., March 11.—William Buckley, 88, died this morning at his home near Raphine. He had been ill for several weeks. He was the author of "Buckley's History of the Great Reunion of the North and South," which was published here in 1923. During most of his life he was a farmer.

Mr. Buckley was a native of New York State, where he was born on April 6, 1841. He came to Virginia in 1879 and had since made his home in this section, first at Churchville, then at Raphine. On May 26, 1887, he married Miss Virginia McCormick, who survives.

Funeral services will be held at Old Providence Presbyterian Church on Wednesday at 3 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. Joseph L. Grier. Burial will be in the adjoining cemetery.

Indicted in Rum Case Pastor Forfeits Bond

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., March 11.—The Rev. Edward Auvil, of Farnum, former pastor of the Church of God, at Richwood, who was indicted for operating a moonshine still in an abandoned coal mine in Farnum, has left the country, according to action taken today by the Harrison County criminal court.

Forfeiture of the minister's bond was noted and the judge ordered a capias issued for his arrest. Elmer Phillips and R. E. Bush, indicted in the same case, were released on recognizances until he can be found.

PIERCE IS ELECTED TO SEAT IN COUNCIL

312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Carroll Pierce, president of the Citizens National Bank, was yesterday elected a member of the city council, by the members of the council, to succeed Mayor William Albert Smoot, whose resignation was tendered to the council last Thursday.

When the meeting yesterday was called to order, Councilman Timberman announced that, much to the regret of the members of the council, there appeared to be nothing else to do but to accept the resignation of Mr. Smoot as a member of the body, and moved that the resignation be accepted, and that a letter, expressing the regret of the council at the necessity for accepting it, be addressed to the mayor, which should embody the appreciation of the members for his services as mayor. This letter was then drafted and ordered sent:

"It is with extreme regret that council complies with your wish, as expressed in your letter of March 6, to this body. We are sorry that you deem this course necessary and we wish to express to you our great appreciation of your unselfish services as mayor of our city, and the pleasure your associates in council have experienced during the years of association with you as a member of this body."

Councilman Ticer then moved the election of Carroll Pierce to be a member of the council for the unexpired term of Mr. Smoot, or to serve until September 1, 1930, the election being unanimous. Mr. Pierce then entered the council chamber and a few minutes later Judge William P. Woolls, of the corporation court, appeared and administered the oath of office.

Mr. Ticer then moved the election of Councilman Robert S. Jones as chairman of the council, which carries with it the office of mayor. This was also made unanimous.

Mr. Jones made a short speech of thanks, and facetiously stated that in his new office it would "afford him great pleasure to buck his old friend, Carroll Pierce."

On motion of Councilman Fannon, Councilman Edmund F. Ticer was then elected vice mayor, suceeding to the position made vacant by the promotion of Mr. Jones.

The election of Mr. Pierce to membership had been rumored for the last two days. In addition to being prominent in the banking world, he is a past president of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, and has long been active in civic affairs. He has been a resident of Alexandria for more than 25 years.

As an aftermath of the Washington's Birthday parade, the local Kiwanis Club will have as guests of honor at their luncheon at the George Mason Hotel today, Maj. Gen. Fred W. Sladen, commanding officer of the Third Corps Area in Baltimore, and Charles H. Callahan, father of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Temple project. Col. H. H. Dodge, superintendent of Mount Vernon, and James B. Rouse, chief engineer at Mount Vernon, will be the speakers, and the program will be in charge of J. William May, past president of the George Washington Birthday Association. "Bob" Carter, president of the Kiwanis, will occupy the head of the table.

James W. Jackson Council, No. 55, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, will hold its regular meeting at Eagles Hall, 413 King street, at 7:30 o'clock this evening, when a class of candidates will be initiated.

Arrangements will be made for attending the get-together meeting of the District, which will be held in Quantico April 2. The degree team of James W. Jackson Council will confer the degrees upon a large class of candidates from the various councils of Northern Virginia. All members of the degree team have been requested to attend the meeting tonight, as new uniforms and equipment will be issued to the team.

Funeral services for Mrs. Martha E. Baier, who died Sunday, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the residence, 207 South Alfred street and will be conducted by the Rev. Carl J. Goette, pastor of Immanuel Lutheran Church. Interment will be in Bethel Cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. John U. Schwarzmann, who died Monday, will be held from St. Mary's Catholic Church at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, the Rev. Hugh McFadden, assistant pastor, officiating. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Doctors Seek Cure For Queer Malady

Tennessee Officials Combine Forces as Disease Spreads to 4th County.

Johnson City, Tenn., March 11 (A. P.).—Health officers of four east Tennessee counties and two specialists from the State Board of Health today combined their efforts in search for the cause of a mysterious form of paralysis that has afflicted 107 persons in this section of the State.

With those afflicted in Washington, Carter, Sullivan and Unicoi Counties under quarantine, both public health officials and private physicians combined their efforts in laboratories to find the cause of and a treatment to which the disease will respond.

So far there have been no fatalities, but development of the disease at Kingsport, in Sullivan County, was reported today. The laboratories of the Soldiers Home and the East Tennessee State Teachers College were placed at th disposal of the physicians engaged in seeking a treatment for the strange malady.

VIRGINIA IS WINNER OF FARM CONTEST

EARNINGS ARE HIGHER

Richmond, Va., March 11 (A.P.).—Winning by Virginia of first place in the Southern regional contest of vocational agriculture workers for last year, conducted by the Federal Board for Vocational Education, was announced here today by Walter S. Newman, State supervisor of agricultural education.

Eleven other States competed in a program based on the excellence of results obtained by teachers of vocational agriculture, Georgia placing second. The other States were North and South Carolina, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

First place for Virginia in the competition marked the peak of a steady rise in the last five years, at the beginning of which the State ranked seventh in the region. During that time the enrollment of farm boys and farmers increased with expansion of agricultural workers' efforts to include outlying schools and adults in evening classes, reaching a total of 6,800 in the State last year.

Thirty-six Factors Considered.

Thirty-six factors were considered by the Federal board in judging the States, among them being the average labor income of all pupils, percentage of teachers conducting varying kinds of work, per capita cost of instruction, percentage of students completng supervised farm work, percentage of increase in all types of instruction over the previous year and the average enrollment per teacher.

All students enrolling in vocational agriculture must parallel their school courses with actual farming, and their "average labor income" is based on the results of this work. All-day, part-time, day unit and evening classes are the divisions of teacher activities. In the part-time classification farm boys who have passed school age are taught, while day unit classes are conducted in outlying schools and evening classes are held in the different communities for adult farmers.

Supervised home farming of boys in the State last year embraced the cultivation of approximately 7,000 acres of crops, the young agriculturists also raising between 4,000 and 5,000 head of live stock and 100,000 head of fowls. The total income from their enterprises was $460,000.

Increased Earnings Estimated.

Farmers in adult classes were asked to estimate their increased earnings from improved practices learned in the evening classwork, and fixed a figure of $75,000 for the year.

"There are now 130 teachers in the high schools in 78 counties in Virginia carrying on this work," said Mr. Newman.

"They are on the job twelve months in the year, and the boys put into practice at home what they learn at school. Regular visits are paid by the teachers to supervise their work at home."

Virginia vocational agricultural forces also were awarded last year first place, carrying with it a $500 cash prize for the best chapter in the country in the "future farmers of America" organization, the winning chapter being located at Holland in Nansemond County.

BUDGET OF $614,500 SOUGHT BY SCHOOLS

TWO HURT IN AUTO CRASH

The school levy for Prince Georges County was set at $471,500 in the annual budget estimate presented to the Prince Georges County commissioners yesterday by the county board of education. The total school expenditure for the year 1930-31 will be $614,500, of which amount $143,000 will be realized from the State and other sources.

The budget was completed and approved by the education board yesterday and presented to the county commissioners, who now will make a detailed study of the items of the budget before giving their final approval.

Current expenses will equal $596,680, which is approximately $24,500 more than last year's budget. This is accounted for by the fact that $8,000 is provided for an addition to the Beltsville School and $14,000 for additional teachers and supplies, which will be made necessary by the expected increase of 400 pupils next year. It also includes $3,500 for new bus lines authorized by the board.

General control, which includes the salaries of the superintendents and clerical workers of the school system and the routine expenses of the board of education office, will total $18,840; instructional service, which includes the salaries and expenses of teachers, will amount to $458,960 and is the largest item in the budget. Operation of the school plant will cost $49,700, and maintenance of the school plant will amount to $38,980, while auxiliary agencies, such as school libraries, health service, transportation and like expenditures, will total $27,700.

Capital outlay will amount to $12,000 and debts service to $5,820, the budget shows.

Albert E. Gantt, trustee of the Bowie High School, appeared before the board yesterday to ask that an addition costing $20,000 be added to the school budget. As this was impossible without legislative authority, the board was forced to disapprove the request but agreed to try and provide temporary facilities for the elementary school children now housed in the high school building.

Two men were injured yesterday when an automobile driven by Constable L. M. Walden, of Hyattsville, overturned near Upper Marlboro. Constable Walden and Albert Bloom, 53, of Hyattsville, a passenger, were brought to Providence Hospital by George Porter of Washington.

Mr. Bloom's ear was nearly torn off and he is at the hospital under treatment for shock. Constable Walden was treated for numerous bruises and cuts on the body and allowed to go home. The car overturned when the wheels on the right side sank into soft dirt at the side of the road.

The Rev. Dr. Franklin J. Bohanan, rector of St. Paul's Rock Creek Parish Episcopal Church, will officiate.

Mrs. Simpson was the widow of Dr. James C. Simpson, who died two years ago. She was a lifelong resident of the District. For many years she was a member of the board of lady managers of the Children's Hospital.

Woman Who Slew Cousin Defends Act

Amherst, Va., March 11 (A.P.). — A crowd which taxed the capacity of the Amherst County Circuit Court room here today heard the conflicting testimony of State and defense witnesses at the trial of Mrs. Glennie Lou Tomlin, 25 years old, for murder in connection with the fatal wounding, January 26, of her distant relative, Mrs. Bessie Tomlin. Both sides rested this afternoon and the case is expected to reach the jury by midday tomorrow.

Commonwealth's witnesses told of alleged threats made by Glennie Tomlin against her kinswoman before Bessie Tomlin was found bleeding to death in a roadway near both their homes, while Glennie Tomlin and witnesses in her defense asserted on the stand that the other woman had not only made threats but had severely beaten the defendant. Glennie Tomlin said she used the knife as the last resort in defending herself against her alleged assailant, and did not know until later that she had administered such serious injuries.

The families live in the mountainous hollows on the north fork of Buffalo River in Amherst County.

Blaze Destroys Home Of Winchester Family

Winchester, Va., March 11.—Mack De Haven and his wife and two children narrowly escaped death last night in a fire which leveled their home at Gainesboro, Frederick County. They were sitting in the living room reading when suddenly the noise of falling timbers overhead attracted their attention, and a moment later the ceiling crashed. They fled just in time to escape.

Neighbors of the village assisted in carrying household effects from the other rooms of the dwelling. A brisk wind blowing at the time threatened to carry flames to other structures in the village, but Winchester firemen arrived in time to bring the fire under control before it had reached other buildings.
